Republic to Follow—Constantine and Consort to Be Asked to Leave Greece

Revolutionists Want Zaimis for Premier and Politis Minister of Foreign Affairs

PARIS, Sept. 29.—An Athens despatch to the Havas Agency says political circles in the Greek capital are of the opinion that King George's reign will not be long and that a republic will be established.

The new king, took the oath as George II yesterday afternoon and Athens was illuminated at night in honor of the occasion. The city was calm, following the bloodless revolution and even the theatres continued to operate.

The despatch says Alexandre Garbanos, former minister of foreign affairs, is likely to head the new cabinet. Many royalist officers and reaction-

Frederick W. Brady, Meter Inspector, Shot and Fatally Wounded By Wife in City Hall Corridor

Family Troubles Believed to Have Led to Crisis—Tragedy Occurs Just Outside Door of City Auditor's Office—Wife Admits Shooting But Will Not Tell Where She Obtained Revolver

Frederick W. Brady, 33, meter inspector for the Lowell water works, was shot and fatally wounded by his wife, Gertrude, on the first floor corridor of city hall shortly after 9:30 o'clock this morning. Brady died at the Lowell Corporation hospital at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Family troubles are said to have been a contributing cause.

To the police, Mrs. Brady admits going to city hall at 9 o'clock and waiting in the corridor until her husband came in. She says she intended to ask him for money. They were seen talking quietly together before the shooting. Brady had not drawn his weekly pay at the time, nor had he been in the office of the water department. It is believed he entered the building by the Merrimack street door and was going towards the treasurer's office when he met his wife.

As far as can be learned no person was a witness to the shooting, although the corridor was filled with people as the echo of the shot rang through the building. The first person to reach the spot, which was just at the head of the staircase that leads to the basement floor and almost directly opposite the elevator shaft, was Patrolman John Murphy, in plain clothes, who was standing at the paying teller's window in the office of the treasurer when he heard the report.

As he ran into the corridor he saw Brady lying on the floor, with blood streaming from a wound in his head, and with his wife, with a gun in her right hand, standing near him.

"Call the police," were her first words and then she added, "I shot him, I shot him."

Officer Murphy grabbed her and asked for the gun. She refused to give it up. He told her he was a police officer and demanded the gun. She then gave it to him and when he told her that it was his duty to take her to police headquarters, she assented willingly and repeated, "I shot him and I am not crazy."

The municipal building was thrown into the utmost confusion and it was some time before anyone was able to give any impression of the tragedy.

City Auditor Daniel B. Martin was standing in the doorway of his office and although he did not see the shot fired, he saw Brady fall. Mrs. Sarah McDermott, one of the city charwomen, was only a yard or two from the spot, but with her back turned. She was stooping over and believes that if she had been standing she would have been in direct line with the course of the bullet.

Brady was taken to the dispensary of the board of health and before the arrival of an ambulance was given all aid possible by Dr. Francis A. Finnegan and Dr. James Y. Hodger, assisted by several of the department nurses. He was taken to the Lowell Corporation hospital, where it was said that the bullet, one of 38 caliber, entered the right side of the head, passed through the brain and came out at the left temple.

Mrs. Brady at the police station was interviewed at length by Superintendent Thomas H. Atkinson and Captain David Patrio. To them she admitted the shooting and said that she and her husband had not been living together. She said she had been discharged from the Lowell Corporation hospital only last night after undergoing an operation.

She gave her age as 28 years and her address as 210 Colburn street. Before her marriage, which was eight years ago, her name was Gertrude Long. Her mother and father live in Ireland. Her only relative in this city is an aunt. She has two children, a boy aged 6 years, and a girl aged 7 years. She said the boy had been living with his father and the girl with her, although during her stay at the hospital, she had placed her with a neighbor.

Whatever she might have said to the police regarding her married life was not divulged, nor could it be ascertained what words passed between husband and wife just before the shooting.

Superintendent Atkinson said that their married life had not been particularly happy, although he did not care to go into details.

Brady is the son of Patrick Brady of Chapel street, former superintendent of streets. The late Peter J. Brady was his uncle.

It was with difficulty the city hall clerks resumed their work after the tragedy. Particularly affected were the attaches of the water department, who, of course, knew Brady more intimately. He was appointed a meter inspector in 1912 by the late Charles J. Morse, then commissioner of fire and

STILLMAN IS DENIED DIVORCE

Baby Guy Also Declared Legitimate in Findings of Judge Gleason

Referee's Decision a Complete and Sweeping Victory for Mrs. Stillman

CARMEL, N. Y., Sept. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—James A. Stillman, former president of the National City bank of New York, was denied a decree in his suit for absolute divorce against his wife, Anna U. Stillman, and Baby Guy Stillman was declared legitimate in the findings of Judge Gleason, referee in the case, which were filed here today.

The referee's decision was a complete and sweeping victory for Mrs. Stillman. Not only was her defense upheld but the referee also confirmed her charges that Mr. Stillman had miscondacted himself with Florence H. Leeds, former Broadway show girl, and that Mrs. Leeds had borne two children.

In regard to Mrs. Stillman's charges that her banker husband had also miscondacted himself with two other women, identifying only as "Helen" and "Clara," Judge Gleason decided that the evidence was not sufficient to prove the allegations of adultery.

"While there is evidence," the referee wrote, "that the plaintiff occupied a stateroom on his yacht with one 'Helen' no proof has been offered that the said 'Helen' was not the adult daughter of the plaintiff."

One Man in Hospital and Other Battered Appears in Court

Appearing in district court today with his head swathed in bandages, Frank A. Dooley pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness but not guilty to one of assault and battery upon Special Officer Clifton A. Lawrence. As William Mercer, said to have been with Dooley, is also charged with drunkenness, and is in St. John's hospital said to be suffering from wounds received while battling police officers, the case was continued to October 6 for trial.

The details of the case have not yet been fully uncovered by the police and inspectors are working on the matter today. According to stories told, Special Officer Lawrence came across Mercer, Dooley, and another man who escaped and attempted to place them under arrest about 3 o'clock this morning. A fight followed in which all but Mercer got away. He was arrested by Special Officer George E. Buxton and taken to the hospital when it was found he was injured. Dooley was arrested later by Patrolman Charles J. Barry. The other

PARTIAL VIEW OF EXHIBITION IN LIBERTY HALL.

Success beyond all bounds of anticipation has crowned the exhibit of the Middlesex North Agricultural Society, which is being held in Liberty hall at the Memorial Auditorium. Yesterday afternoon and evening the hall itself and the gallery were filled with people who were eager to inspect the different displays furnished by farmers in this vicinity.

Apples, grapes, peaches, beets, carrots, cabbages, peaches, squash, pumpkins, potatoes and tomatoes, the very best of each farmer's crop, has been brought to the hall and placed on display. Included in the exhibition is a wonderful display of dahlias and other flowers, bread and preserves.

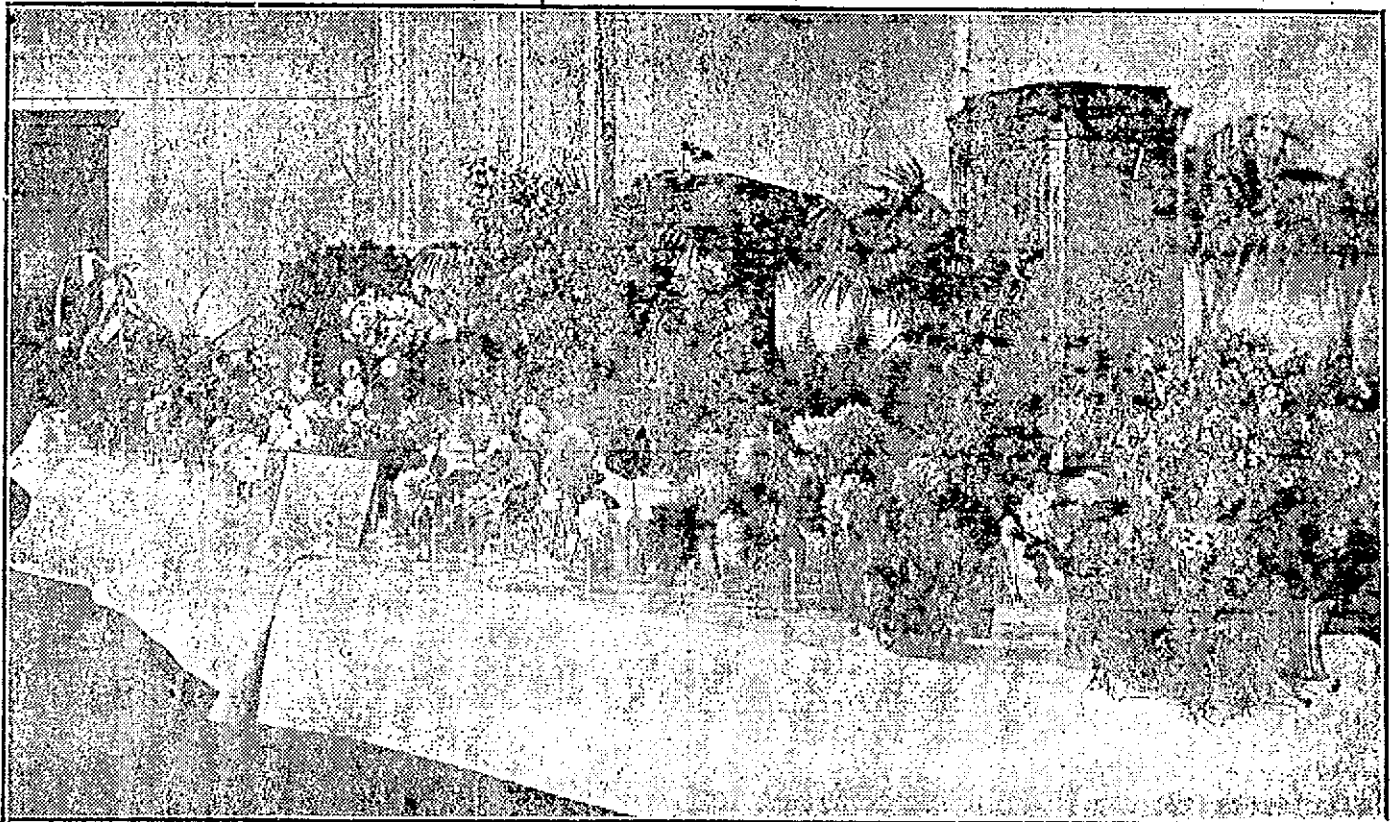

Everything on display has been donated by farmers of the soil in the neighborhood of Lowell and at the close of the exhibition tonight the display will be distributed to the various charitable institutions of the city.

Visiting farmers have been astonished by the quantity and quality of the goods on display and have warmly commended the officials of the society for the wonderful exhibition. One of the largest farmers in this section said last night that it was the greatest show the Middlesex North had displayed for the last 25 years. He further stated that he could not understand how the members obtained so many displays as at other shows it was necessary to offer premiums to induce farmers to put their products on display and even then the number which responded could not compare with that of the present exhibition.

The display has been a revelation to the people of Lowell in that it has given them an inkling of the wonderful agricultural work that is being accomplished in the immediate vicinity. Products of the soil that they never dreamed could be raised in this part of the country are on display in Liberty hall, such as peanuts and alfalfa. Perhaps the exhibition that attracted the greatest amount of attention is that of the dahlias from the gardens of Will Rounds. The flowers of every color and color are found here, and their beauty is so rich that one is drawn to this display as if by a magnet. Dahlias that resemble a sunburst, an American Beauty rose, a snowball, an orchid or a daisy, past side by side and vie with one another in appealing most to the observers. Visitors to Liberty hall have been loud in their praise of the Middlesex North Agricultural society for sponsoring this display and expressed the wish that it might be a yearly occurrence. The general impression is that it is an enlightening exhibition and one that will interest the people living in the city.

WOMEN GOLFERS IN SEMI-FINAL ROUND

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Sept. 28.—The pairings today for the semi-final round of the national women's golf championship tournament here bring together Miss Glenna Collett, Providence, R. I., and Miss Edith Cummings Onwentsia, the two young stars who already have met twice in tournament play this season, and Mrs. A. H. Jackson, Greenwich, and Mrs. William A. Oavin, England's lone survivor in the tourney. While in both of their previous clashes this year, at Buffalo and New London, Miss Cummings has come out victorious, the brilliant game which Mrs. Collett continued to put up yesterday in defeating Mrs. R. C. Lott, Jr., Chicago, 3 up and 2 to play, left few willing to risk a prediction as to how the tide of battle would run today.

MISS VENUE HONORED
At the close of business yesterday, about 10 employees of the new H. S. Kresge Co. gathered to pay their respects to Miss Bertha Venue, who is soon to become the bride of Rudolph Penula of Rosindale. A mock marriage, with Gwendolyn Aokles as the bride, Frank Boudreau, the groom, Arline O'Hagan, the bridesmaid, Louis Cardinal, the best man, and Edouard Barry, the minister, was held. Miss Venue was showered with confetti following the "ceremonies" and received many useful gifts. Among those present at the affair were J. A. Drury, manager of the store; Mrs. Louis Cardinal, Mrs. Edouard Barry, Mrs. Leach and Miss Dorothy Leach.

could and the whole of the Balkans would be drawn into the struggle. It is declared emphatically that such a crossing will not be contemplated.

The issue of war or peace still hangs by a thread this morning and there was no relief from the tension existing yesterday.

Deep Anxiety Everywhere

The cabinet went into session again this morning and probably will continue in conference throughout the day, with only necessary interruptions. Deep anxiety is manifest everywhere and in some quarters there is an insistent demand that parliament be summoned without delay in order to elicit a full statement from the government and give the opportunity for endorsement or rejection of its policy.

The main danger is still regarded as centering in the Channel zone on the southern shore of the Dardanelles into which Turkish Nationalist troops continue to move freely in defiance of the British decree.

"Cavalry detachments in the bands of 100 or 200 continue to filter in," says the Morning Post's Constantinople correspondent. "They ride under a white flag or with rifles reversed whenever they are near our troops. They show no aggression, but make the British situation militarily most difficult and their movements naturally furnish an excellent method of reconnaissance."

Such reports as the foregoing keep alive the dread lest some local clash start fighting on a big scale before Mustapha Kemal Pasha's reply to the allied peace proposals is received and negotiations for an armistice can begin.

Fear is also expressed lest the Kemalist sympathizers in Constantinople start an uprising within the capital.

Sultan Abdicates

Apparently authentic reports from Constantinople indicate that Sultan Mohammed VI has abdicated in favor of the heir apparent, Prince Abdul Medjid Effendi, his cousin. It is assumed that this was under pressure from Mustapha Kemal, who recently appointed a "governor" for Constantinople and who is quoted as delivering diatribes against the sultan.

Some of the morning papers report that the British government is steadily increasing its preparations for war. The movement of warships and troops to the Levant continues, the latest being the departure from Aldershot of two mountain batteries.

The opinion is expressed that Kemal is trying to provoke the British to fire on the Turks so that he can turn to the Mohammedan world and claim he has been attacked by the Christians. Should such a thing occur it would naturally raise a grave issue for Great Britain in India, Egypt and Mesopotamia.

HARRINGTON GOES TO MEET TURK LEADER

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 28.—(By the Associated Press) Brigadier General Sir Charles Harrington, commander-in-chief of the British forces in the Dardanelles area, plans to leave this afternoon for a conference with Mustapha Kemal Pasha, probably at Mudania, on the Sea of Marmara.

The British are confident that if the next 24 hours pass without the firing of shots at Chanak or other points along the Dardanelles, all immediate danger of hostilities will have been avoided. This is the period of time estimated to be required for General Harrington's journey and interview with Mustapha Kemal.

The allied high commissioners have decided to despatch a commission composed of British, French and Italian officers to Rodosto, Luleburgaz and Adrianople, in Thrace, in order to exercise a pacifying influence there.

According to the Exchange Telegraph, part of the French troops which were withdrawn from Chalidk, and which have since been in Constantinople, will be used for the defense of the European shore of the Bosphorus. Thus far, although penetrating the neutral area the Turks have carried white flags and along their rifle up-side down when near the British lines, their commanders assuring the British officers they have no intention of aggression.

Defiance of Ultimatum

The British forces in Chanak now look on three sides upon the forces of Mustapha Kemal Pasha. By their recent incursions, the Turks have completed their occupation of the neutral zone, in defiance of Great Britain's ultimatum.

General Pella, French high commissioner, has despatched an energetic note to Smyrna telling Mustapha Kemal that the British sincerely desire to avoid a conflict but France will not be able to restrain them if they are attacked.

The British are confident they can hold their line against any Kemalist attack as their flank at Chanak are protected by a powerful fleet of warships, the long range guns of which can sweep the area around the town for a distance of 20 miles, while the Turks at present are equipped only with machine guns in this sector. Among the British naval units are the super-dreadnoughts, Revenge and Resolution, the most powerful men-of-war afloat.

Search Ships for War Munitions

The British naval authorities are holding up all Greek and Turkish craft in the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles, making minute searches for materials of war.

The Greek battleship Averoff, which was taken from Constantinople by her mutinous crew is proceeding through the straits unmolested by the Turkish land batteries.

Crowds continue to storm all the consulates and passport offices in the capital and some have been forced to close their doors or appeal to the police for protection. There is an unending stream of Greeks and Armenians outside the American consulate, the line forming each day before dawn.

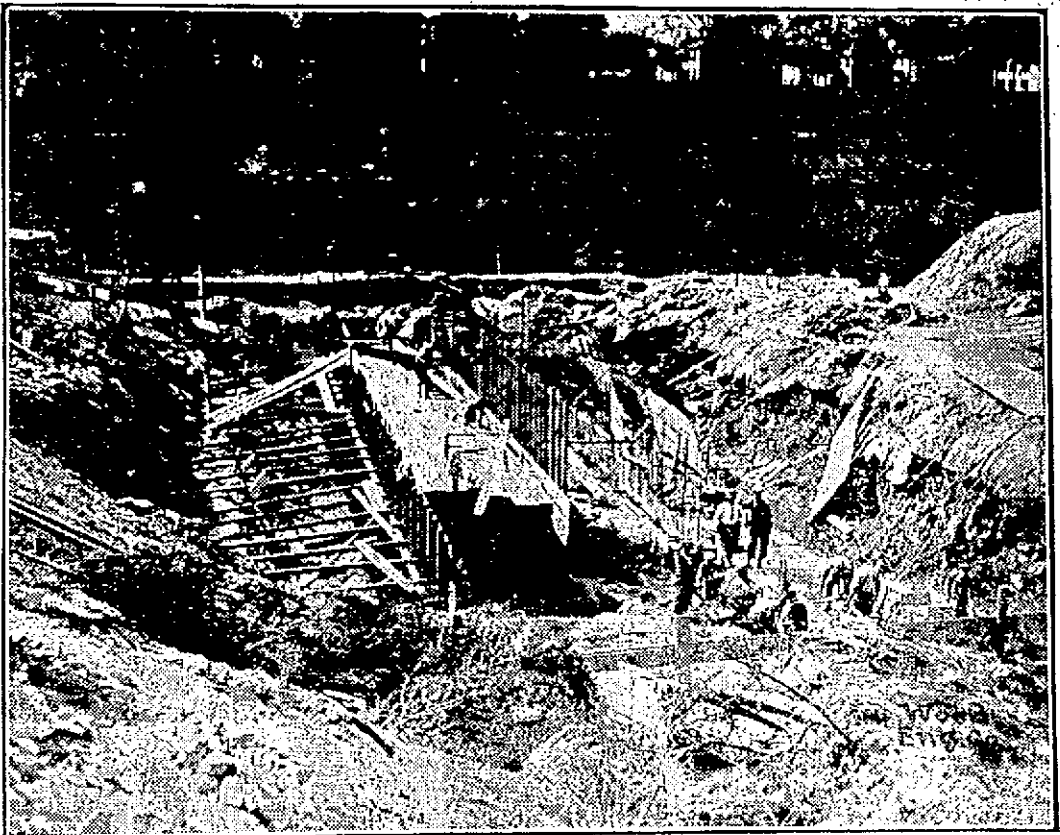

Several British armored cars of the most modern type rolled through the streets yesterday afternoon, giving the capital a vivid touch of war realism. The Bosphorus also took on a martial aspect when a giant battleship carrier and several additional units of the Atlantic fleet, together with three troop transports, passed into the Golden Horn.

U. S. DESTROYERS PREPARE FOR TRIP

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 29.—The 12 destroyers ordered with the supply ship Bridge to proceed to Constantinople probably will complete loading by tonight, it was said today by officers at the Hampton Roads naval base where the vessels are being prepared for the trip.

All the facilities at the base were called into play to outfit the boats. Great quantities of medicine are being put aboard, and all other available space is being packed with food.

Big Construction Job On New Lawrence Boulevard

One of the largest road construction jobs undertaken in this city for some time is being rapidly pushed by Henry Bros. on the new First street boulevard location, with the idea of completion early in November. When finished, the splendid roadway of boulevard appearance, will follow the sweep of the river from First street and flank up with the present state road at the Draught line.

Although it is hoped that the job will be completed in November, there is just one stumbling block, the culvert of bridge construction that will be thrown over the city water mains that cross the river at one point in the so-called oval section of the road. It is here that the contractors are working against time and the time of completion.

"Our cellar smell has gone for good"

"Some cellars never seem to smell just right, no matter how much they are cleaned. I know ours didn't for years. I am so fussy about things like that. I made Frank's life miserable about it."

"Of course, he did everything—sprayed around with horrid-smelling powders and messy mixtures. He even had a man come in and whitewash the walls again. But that indescribable, damp, musty odor refused to budge."

"Then, one day, Janice Colt told me of the wonderful things Sylpho-Nathol had done in her house."

"She was enthusiastic because it was so easy to use. 'Think of it, my dear, just a teaspoonful in a quart of warm water! It makes the cleanest-smelling, pearly-gray solution ready for instant use.'"

"Sylpho-Nathol is 4½ times stronger than carbolic acid—so you can imagine what it does to germs. It is safe to have about, too—the druggist says it is no more dangerous than a cake of scouring soap. And it doesn't roughen or hurt your skin one bit. You'll like its faint, pleasant odor, I know. Just buy a bottle and see for yourself."

"It's a pleasure to go into our cellar now. Sylpho-Nathol has made it so sweet and clean and healthy. But the cellar isn't the only place we use it."

"I use it every day—in the mop water, because it destroys the germs that are in dust and dirt. I pour it down the sink drains—because it keeps such places free from the slightest trace of odors. It has made me forget that there is such a thing as a garbage can."

"Of course, I use it regularly around the bathroom tiling, and toilet fixtures and as a flush for the closet bowl."

Sylpho-Nathol comes in four handy sizes, 1½, 3½, 6½, and 12½. Most good grocers and druggists have it. If yours hasn't, he can get it. Just ask for it by the name—"Sylpho-Nathol."

PAINTINGS DESTROYED

Pettigrew Studio in Flames

After Explosion—Loss

Estimated at $100,000

CONCORD, Sept. 29.—(Ingrossed) The task of touching up the head of Christ, the subject of one of his many religious paintings, in his private art gallery, located on Lexington road of this town, R. R. Pettigrew, prominent artist of Acton, allowed a swinging extension lamp to drop from his hand into a pall of lacquer, resulting in an explosion which was followed by a blaze that destroyed building and contents within 30 minutes.

Mr. Pettigrew's private art gallery was filled with many valuable paintings, most of which were of a religious nature, their value being estimated at $100,000. So quickly did the flames spread that Mr. Pettigrew did not have time to save any of his works of art, and barely escaped with his life.

At the time of the fire, Mr. Pettigrew was busily engaged in preparing for his winter exhibition and the art gallery was filled with many canvases and quite a store of oil paints and artist's materials. The inflammable nature of the contents of the building aided by the dripping studio rooms caused the fire to spread in record time, and for a time it was thought that many of the adjoining buildings would fall a prey to the flames.

A call was sent in for the Concord fire department nearly two miles away, but upon the arrival of the firemen it was seen that the building was doomed, and the firemen devoted their efforts to saving neighborhood buildings.

Mr. Pettigrew carried no insurance on the building, but had his paintings insured for $100,000, which amount, it is said, will hardly cover the loss.

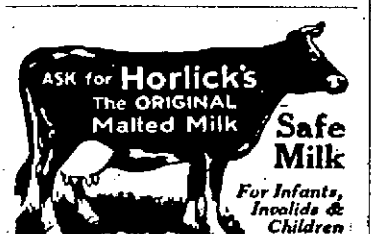

JAPAN'S TREASURY SHOWS BALANCE

TOKIO, Sept. 29.—What may be regarded as the state's balance sheet for the fiscal year 1921 is published by the finance department. According to the publication, the gross revenue amounted to 2,655,799,763 yen and the total expenditure to 1,459,836,278 yen, thereby leaving a balance of 575,000,000 yen.

Compared with the estimated budget for the same fiscal year the actual expenditure fell short approximately 24,000,000 yen, while the revenue exceeded the estimate by 430,000,000 yen. Compared with the actual revenue and expenditure for the preceding fiscal year, the former indicates an increase of 55,000,000 yen and the latter an increase of 120,000,000 yen. Of the revenue, the greatest part was from taxes which amounted to 785,851,000 yen, followed by the government property proceeds with 223,782,000 yen.

The navy and communications departments head the list in the amount of expenditure, the former recording 483,851,000 yen and the latter 245,000,000 yen. The surplus funds available for the next fiscal year amount to 154,323,000 yen.

Patagonia produced 1,500,000 barrels of oil last year.

A $1000 MESSAGE TO MEN

READ IT—FINE POINTS AND ALL. TO MANY IT WILL PROVE MORE INTERESTING READING THAN THE LEADING NEWS ARTICLES ON THE FIRST PAGE OF TODAY'S PAPER.

Why I Am Spending $1000 to Advertise This Event

I am spending this amount in newspaper advertising because by so doing I can sell better clothes for less money than if I did not advertise. Instead of making 20 to 30 garments a week at a profit of $10 to $15 a garment, as do some of the non-advertising tailors, I will sell five times this amount. The more I sell, the greater my buying power, my overhead is less, my growth is faster. I am establishing a clientele and good will that are worth real money. If I spend $1000 for advertising and at the same time save you from $7.50 to $12 on a suit of clothes or overcoat and also make a small profit on each garment I sell, is it not good logic to spend the money in that way? If you have any doubt as to my ability to save you money, then do this: Come in and get a sample of woollens. See how well I am making the clothes, then ask any tailor to duplicate in quality and workmanship what I offer you. This test will convince you that it pays to respond to any announcements, and it pays me to tell you about my offer.

Signed, MITCHELL.

IT IS A MESSAGE TO MEN—BUT IT ALSO IS OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

By a fortunate deal I have become the owner of more than 3000 yards of fine quality woollens including imported Carr's Melton overcoatings. These were bought from one of the largest woolen houses in New England—a firm that specializes in quality goods such as are featured by the high-priced tailors. At regular prices in unbroken bolts I would have had to pay not less than $10,500 for what I bought. Because they were not full bolts and because I was one of the few tailors in New England that could and would use the quantity offered, I bought this brand new stock of fall woollens at a ridiculously low price. THIS IS MY FOURTEENTH WINTER IN LOWELL and as you know I make men's clothes only, yet I do want the women, wives, mothers and sweethearts to come in and see what I have to offer. Most women know more about cloth than men do. They will back me up in the assertion that quality is woven into every inch of the warp and filling of every piece. The more you know about woollens the greater will be your astonishment that I can and will make a made to order suit or overcoat from such materials for as low as $25.00.

MADE TO ORDER SUITS AND OVERCOATS

More than 300 all wool and worsted patterns to choose from, including silk and wool chevots, serges, homespuns, tweeds, tartan plaids, club checks, pencil stripes and mixtures, including eighteen styles of the famous Gilbertville overcoatings, plaid backs, for dress or auto wear. None but the best trimmings will be used. Hand button-holes with pure silk thread on all except trousers.

You Run No Risks—I Do Not Even Ask for a Deposit

Recently at a New York Hotel there was a meeting of men interested in staging an industrial exposition. The principal speaker, a man of more than ordinary sagacity, said (in effect) "If a community, firm or individual wishes to get back to normalcy within a reasonable length of time it is necessary that the ordinary ways of doing things be supplanted by extraordinary methods, to wake people to action (and action is what is most needed right now.) It is necessary that unusual means be used."

In this sale I am doing two most unusual things. First, I am selling Suits and Overcoats at $25.00, made of identically the same quality materials that are used in the making of garments selling at from $32.50 up to $37.50. Second, I will take orders and make them up without a deposit whether you are a man out of a job or a retired millionaire. You can order a garment without putting a dollar for a deposit. If the suit is not satisfactory, after it is made, simply say so and I will keep it. I assume all risk of loss. Such is my confidence in the clothes I make and the people I deal with.

Signed, MITCHELL.

Orders Now Being Booked for October and November Delivery

Besides the above, I am offering several hundred patterns of the very finest woollens, including several imported patterns at from $30.00 to $35.00. I am also continuing my sale of U. S. Army Blue Melton overcoating. A $30.00 value. Made to your measure for $19.75

The Fame of This Event Has Spread Through Middlesex County

The announcement of this sale appeared for the first time last Friday. The response was gratifying and many of the orders booked were from men who for years have been spending from $40.00 to $50.00 for a suit of clothes. Many business men of Lowell and surrounding towns took advantage of this most unusual offer. Among those of this city who left their measure were men in all walks of life, including the wage earner and the salaried man, as well as the big fellow who sits on a swivel chair before a mahogany desk and controls large industries in our city. Place your order now for later delivery.

Signed, MITCHELL.

$5000 WORTH OF FURS STOLEN AT SALEM

SALEM, Sept. 28.—The Shawmut Fur store on Central and Essex streets, was burglarized during the night and $5000 worth of furs taken. Entrance was effected by cutting a hole in the floor of a room above the workroom, through which, by means of a rope ladder, descent was made to the workroom and thence to the main store. Notwithstanding that two 100 candle-power lights were burning in the store, two coats valued at $1700 were taken from the window and others from the racks directly beneath one of the lights, without the burglars being seen by the police on the beat. Judging from the quantity of furs taken, an automobile must have been required to carry them off. The store was burglarized three years ago. The latest job is similar to one in Haverhill recently, where a rope ladder was used.

Voters to Accept or Reject Plan B

even more interest has developed since that time, as the election commission-ers deemed it a wiser policy to do their work in the utmost privacy, giving out no word until their job was finished.
The members of the commission, Hugh J. McQuinn, chairman; Omer J. Allard, Thomas H. Braden and Joseph H. Maguire, worked steadily on the petition from Monday afternoon until about 4 o'clock yesterday, when they announced the result.
When Mr. Desmond filed the petition he announced that the names it carried had been checked up with the 1922 voting list and he was satisfied that there was a generous sufficiency. The commission's checking substantiated this, for out of 3510 names presented only 287 were thrown out. This is a loss of only 8 per cent, an exceedingly low amount for such a large petition.

Lowell's Charter Troubles

Lowell's charter troubles have been going on for some time. If Plan B is accepted on Nov. 7, it will be the third instrument of government to be adopted by the city in 10 years. In 1912 the city changed from the old aldermanic and common council plan to the commission form. The commission form ruled the municipal destinies until last year when a radical change was accepted, which is the charter now in vogue. This is an instrument specially designed by a charter commission of 15 men appointed by Hon. Perry D. Thompson, then mayor, under authority of a legislative act. It is not one of the standard forms, although not unlike Plan B which is just in the offing. The present charter will not have been in vogue a year when a vote upon a new one will be registered.

Most Radical Change
The most radical change embodied in Plan B is the reduction in the personnel of the school committee to six members, all chosen at-large, instead of 14 annually. This would mean that a mayor would be elected every year and of course, would serve a one-year term.

Plan B provides for the majority vote and gives the city council the right to override it if it desires by a two-thirds vote of all its members. Of great interest is that section of Plan B which deals with the appointment of heads of departments and members of municipal boards and commissions. Officials now serving a definite term of office complete that tenure before being subjected to change or re-election. All department heads and members of such boards and commissions, however, as their term of office shall expire, shall be appointed by the mayor, subject to confirmation by the council. The one exception is the city solicitor, who is a direct appointee of the mayor without confirmation.

This is a change from the present charter form, which calls for the election of a city clerk, a city treasurer and a city auditor by the council, without mayoral approval. The board of election commissioners, now appointed by the mayor without confirmation, must go through the council under Plan B after nomination by the mayor.

As soon as the election commissioners had completed their work yesterday they certified to City Clerk Stephen Flynn the number of valid signatures they had checked and deposited the petition with him. A formal declaration by the clerk to the city council will follow and then it will be the duty of that body to instruct the clerk to make whatever arrangements are necessary to place the question upon the ballot at the next election.

If Plan B is accepted by a majority of Lowell voters on Nov. 7, the charter will become operative on the first Monday in January, 1923, and must remain in effect for at least four years. This is an absolute provision of the legislative act creating the four standard charters and applies to each of the four.

If accepted, a city primary election would follow some time in November and the final election on the third Tuesday in December. If the new form is not accepted in the polls, the present charter remains in force and officials now in the service will serve out their two-year term.

Several Contradictory Sections
From a careful study of the text of Plan B and the preceding sections that are applicable to all four charter plans, it would seem that more than one conflict will arise.

For instance, in evident contradiction to that section of the charter text which provides that all heads of departments and members of boards and commissions, except the school committee and city solicitor, shall be nominated by the mayor and confirmed by the city council, in Part 3 of Sec. 13, which says:

"The council shall, by a majority vote, elect a city clerk to hold office for the term of three years."

Again, in Sec. 47 of the act, the last section immediately preceding Part 2, which contains the texts of the four plans, the following is said:

"The council shall, by a majority vote, elect a city clerk to hold office for the term of three years."

will make Tuesday, Nov. 28, primary day in Lowell. If the new charter is accepted, with election day falling on Tuesday, Dec. 19.

Size of School Committee
In Sec. 31 of the general act, which applies to charter forms A, B, C, and D, is found the provision for a school committee of seven members. It reads as follows:

"The school committee shall consist of the mayor, who shall be the chairman, and six members who shall be elected at large. At the first annual city election held in any city after its adoption of one of the plans of government provided for in this act, there shall be elected two members to serve for one year, two for two years and two for three years, and annually thereafter there shall be elected two members to serve for the term of three years."

Sec. 32 provides that the school committee annually shall elect a superintendent of schools and shall appoint one of its members as vice chairman, whose duty it shall be to preside at all meetings of the committee at which the mayor is not present.

THE FULL TEXT OF PLAN B CHARTER

Plan B charter in its entirety follows:

Sec. 1.—The method of city government provided for in this part shall be known as Plan B.

Sec. 2.—Upon the adoption of Plan B by a city in the manner prescribed by this act, such plan shall become operative as provided in Part 1 hereof; and its powers of government shall be exercised as is prescribed herein and in Part 1.

Sec. 3.—There shall be a mayor, elected by and from the qualified voters of the city, who shall be the chief executive officer of the city. He shall hold office for the term of two years from the first Monday in January following his election and until his successor is elected and qualified.

Sec. 4.—The legislative powers of the city shall be vested in a city council, one of its members shall be elected by the council annually as its president. In cities having more than seven wards, the city council shall be composed of 15 members, one of whom shall be elected from each ward by and from the qualified voters of that ward, and the remaining members shall be elected by and from the qualified voters of the city. (Then follows explanation of election in cities having seven or less wards.) At the first election held in a city after its adoption of Plan B, the council members elected from each ward shall be elected to serve for one year and those elected at large shall be elected to serve for two years, from the first Monday in January following their election, and until their successors are elected and qualified; and at each annual city election thereafter the council members elected to fill vacancies caused by the expiration of the terms of council members shall be elected to serve for two years.

Sec. 5.—All heads of departments and members of municipal boards, as their present terms of office expire, but excluding the school committee, officials appointed by the governor and assessors where they are elected by vote of the people, shall be appointed by the mayor, subject to confirmation by the city council; but the city solicitor shall be appointed by the mayor without confirmation by the city council.

Sec. 6.—The mayor may, with the approval of a majority of the members of the city council, remove any head of a department or member of a board before the expiration of his term of office, except members of the school committee, officials appointed by the governor and assessors, where they are elected by vote of the people. The person so removed shall receive a copy of the reasons for his removal and he may, if he desires, contest the same before the city council. He shall have the right to be represented by counsel at such hearing.

Sec. 7.—The mayor shall receive for his services such salary as the city council by ordinance shall determine, not exceeding $5000 a year, and he shall receive no other compensation from the city. His salary shall not be increased or diminished during the term for which he is elected.

The council may, by a two-thirds vote of all its members, taken by roll of the yeas and nays, establish a salary for its members not exceeding five hundred dollars each a year. Such salary may be reduced, but no increase therein shall be made to take effect during the year in which the increase is voted.

Sec. 8.—Every order, ordinance, resolution and vote relative to the affairs of the city, adopted or passed by the city council, shall be presented to the mayor for his approval. If he approves it he shall sign it; if he disapproves it he shall return it, with his objections in writing, to the city council, which shall enter his objections at large on its records and again consider it. If the city council, notwithstanding such disapproval of the mayor, shall again pass such order, ordinance, resolution or vote by a two-thirds vote of all the members of the city council, it shall then be in force, but such vote shall not be taken for seven days after its return to the city council. Every such order, ordinance, resolution and vote shall be in force if it is not returned by the mayor within ten days after it has been presented to him. Nothing in this section contained shall be construed as superseding or in any way affecting any provision of chapter 719 of the acts of the year 1913.

Just Drop In a Quarter

THIS MAY SOON BE A COMMON SCENE IN MOST ANY HOTEL. TEA-ROOM, LATEST REPORTS INDICATE. MISS HARRIET BERGWOLD AND MISS MILDRED ANDERSON, BROOKLYN, ARE SIPPING A COLD DRINK WHILE ENJOYING A RADIO CONCERT.

By NEA Service

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Wireless apparatus will be the newest convenience added to modern hotels in the not distant future, according to latest reports from hotel managers. As an accessory to hotel interests its possibilities are said to be almost without limit. Improvements in radio communication are coming so rapidly that hotel men say they cannot reach longer do without it. Numerous hotels in various parts of the United States have already instituted radio service for their patrons. Others are falling in line.

The wireless is expected to play an important part in the entertainment of hotel guests. Plans and systems are already being evolved whereby guests may secure such entertainment as desired.

Like Arcade Machine

One of these plans is for receiving sets that operate only on deposit of a quarter—"two bits." A New York concern making such sets announces it has already received orders for 25,000 of them. The orders come chiefly from hotels and hospitals. During radio entertainment, the hotel guest or hospital patient goes through much the same performance he would to get gum, matches or what-not from an arcade machine. He merely drops in a quarter and the set does the rest.

Thus far "two bits" he gets everything that comes over the "wire" for the next 12 hours. He gets concerts, jazz, baseball scores, latest news reports, weather reports and everything.

Say It Is Practical

While no definite description of this receiving set is given out, those speaking for it, say it is practical. Tuning is a matter that has to be considered.

Cost of installation is borne equally by the manufacturing company and hotel or institution where installation occurs. Likewise the profits and losses are equally divided.

More definite word on the workability of this new contraption is being awaited by the public. While most folk are ready to believe most anything as to the possibilities in radio development, yet they want to see the new ideas worked out.

WILLIS TO BOX JOHNSON

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Harry Willis, negro challenger for Jack Dempsey's heavyweight title, will box Clem Johnson, also a negro, in a 16 round contest tonight at Madison Square Garden.

The New York state athletic commission sanctioned the contest after officials watched Johnson box several opponents at a specially arranged try-out.

Most Human Ills Originate In The Stomach

SCIENTISTS agree that the stomach is responsible for at least 80% of all human ills.

Indigestion is a direct result of a disordered stomach.

PARIS, Sept. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—The necessity of a hastily summoned meeting of the allied ministers in Paris to consider the serious developments in the Near East, was foreseen in official circles today, following reports from Chanak, that the British and Turks were nearer a clash than at any previous time. The reported determination of the new Greek government to defend eastern Thrace is also a critical factor in the situation and steps for its execution would require allied consultation on what measures the powers would be called upon to take.

THE GIRLS' DEPARTMENT OF THE LOWELL VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

Director and Her Assistants With New Accommodations Provided by City in High School Annex—Evening Classes for Women Will Open Monday

Perhaps no important branch of Lowell's school educational system has reaped more actual and direct benefits from the numerous changes that have been recorded with the opening of the school year on the Monday after Labor day, than the girls' department of the Lowell Vocational school.

This school aims to prepare the girls of Lowell and surrounding towns for life's activities and duties; to give them a training in the branches of knowledge and the trades that are most useful in the home and in gaining a livelihood.

To meet these requirements the Vocational school system became a part of Lowell's educational system 13 years ago. In the year 1912 Miss Esther M. Downing, a young woman well equipped by education and special training for directing such a school was chosen. Today she still leads the wonderful work for the young women of Lowell. Her leadership has proved ideal in every respect, and the evidence of her efficiency is always to be found in the results attained in the departments under her control.

Until the new high school annex was opened, the girls' department of the Lowell Vocational school occupied the Merrill school building on Common street, fronting on the North common. It was free to all pupils living in the state of Massachusetts, to use the phrase adopted on the announcements of the school's program of work.

With the enlargement of the high school accommodations, those school departments that had been occupying quarters in the so-called "annex" were of course transferred to the main tro line, which is the train trip connecting with the Boston train arriving at 6:42, will be so timed that there will be no delay caused by a wait for the train. Now the 6:35 car from the square is obliged to wait at the depot for this train and as a result the running time of the outboard trip is held considerably. Under the new schedule there will be a car leave the square at 6:40 that will make connections with this train without delay.

The new schedule: Cars will leave Merrimack Square for Chelmsford Centre on 10 minutes of and 25 minutes past the hour.

Additional 15 minute trips will be made to Jamaica street turn-out between the hours of 5 and 6 p. m.

The Jamaica street car, known as the "short trip car," will leave Merrimack Square at 10 and 40 minutes past the hour, giving 15 minute service as far as the turn-out.

On the return trip, cars will leave the Centre at 5 minutes of and 25 minutes past the hour.

BUSINESS AND SALE ANNIVERSARIES

When the Gagnon Co. opened its doors this morning it marked the anniversary of its fourth year in business in this city. At the same time it opened an anniversary sale which will continue through today, tomorrow and Monday.

This store, during the three years of its life, has been among the more progressive ones of the city. Advantage has been taken at every opportunity for expansion and improvement.

Today, the new millinery department, which has replaced the old shoe department on the right hand side of the main floor marks another step towards the perfection of a system that will meet the needs of all. This new department has been carefully planned so that shopping will be facilitated to the highest degree and will give the utmost convenience to the customers of the store. The section is finished throughout in mahogany, cases, tables and fixtures all being in accordance with this finish.

The boys' clothing section in the basement has been enlarged to double its former size. The upstairs women's and children's shoe department has been moved down stairs, and is now conveniently located near the other shoe department. A new lighting system has been installed, and these departments are reached by a wide easy staircase.

AT THE CHARLES W. MOREY SCHOOL

The opening meeting of the Parent-Teachers' association of the Charles W. Morey school will be held in the school, Tuesday, Oct. 3, at 4 p. m. Miss Josephine Chute, inspector of drawing and practical art at the Lowell Normal school, will speak to members and friends of the association on the subject of "Interior Decorating." Light refreshments will be served.

BUSINESS GOOD WITH IRENE HAT SHOP

Harry C. Koch, manager of the Irene Hat shop, that recently opened at 101 Central street, is very much pleased with the success that has attended his short stay in this city.

Mr. Koch was formerly with Ellens and Glicks of Boston, and is well known in the trade centres of Boston, and New York. It is his policy in conducting the Irene Hat shop to take very frequent trips to New York in search of the very latest and newest styles. In this way his Central street store will have the advantage of a continually fresh stock, and the women of Lowell can feel sure that the hats they are selecting are the very latest word in style and smartness.

Several competent and experienced milliners are in attendance at the Irene Hat shop and they will be glad to give all possible help to shoppers.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies Are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the loss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance. —Adv.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Stephen Herschel Scribner and Miss Marjorie Stover were married last evening at 7 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Livingston Stover, 209 South street, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Appleton Granits of St. Anne's church. The bride was given away by her father and was attended by her sister, Miss Peggy Stover, who acted as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were as follows: Misses Lucia Hyland and Barbara Brown of this city, Martha Lambert of New York, Rachel Trowbridge of New Haven, Katherine Gilchrist of Laurel, Miss. and Josephine Livingood of Cincinnati. Donovan—Breen

One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place Wednesday afternoon at St. Mary's church, Collinsville, when Miss Helen G. Breen of Braintree became the bride of Mr. William H. Donovan of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. M. C. Gilbride. The bride was attired in a blue traveling suit with picture hat of silver, and carried a bridal bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Ruth Cavanaugh, a niece of the bride, wore a gown of blue satin, with picture hat to match, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The flower girl, Miss Madeline Frazier, wore a gown of blue canton crepe, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas and lilies of the valley. Mr. Edward J. Donovan, a brother of the groom, acted as best man. After the ceremony a reception was held at the summer home of the bride and many relatives and friends from this and other cities were present. After an extended honeymoon the young couple will be at home to their friends at 163 Morrismack street.

BENEFIT DANCE FOR CARSHOP STRIKERS

Over 500 people attended the benefit dance, which was conducted at Associated hall last evening for the strikers of the Boston and Maine carshops. The event was one of the most enjoyable and successful of its kind conducted under the auspices of the Federated Crafts of the carshops, and the committee in charge of arrangements were warmly congratulated for the manner in which the program was carried out. In the early part of the evening concert numbers were given by the orchestra and this was followed by general dancing. During intermission a pretty exhibition of fancy dancing was given by Jimmie Bray and Mae Sheridan. The committee in charge consisted of Walter H. Chandler, chairman; Herman Guilford, Merton Vaughan, David Gilchrist and Bernard Gilbo.

SUNDAY AT THE STRAND

Drake's "Shuffle Along" Jazz band will be the chief vaudeville attraction at the Strand for Sunday. This organization played this theater last night and made such a pronounced hit that a return engagement was arranged for. There will be other good vaudeville, while the picture program will be featured with the opening of the big super-special, "Rich Men's Wives," which is to have a four days' run in Lowell.

"Doctor, I Want Teeth I Can Eat With"

A man came into this office some time ago and made the above statement. He said he had two sets of teeth and could not eat with either of them. I made him a set and he came in the office later and said they were the only ones he could keep in his mouth while eating. In fact he could chew peanuts and eat apples without the least trouble.

The reason for this is my particular method of taking impressions, study of the shape and relation of the jaws, and correct articulation of the teeth.

Now, I can make you a set of teeth just as good as his. If your plate drops or rocks come in for I make a specialty of difficult cases and will examine your teeth and give you advice free of charge.

The price for sets of teeth is 18 up. Gold crowns 15. Fillings, 50c up.

Teeth extracted painlessly free, when plates are ordered.

THE LAST MESSAGE OF ENTOMBED MINERS

This picture, obtained exclusively by The Sun and NEA Service, shows the only message sent to the outside world by the buried men, "3 o'clock. Gas getting strong—Fessie"; and the unfinished messages: "3:20" and "1 o'clock." Note the scratched-on message below Fessie's name—"1/2 knocked out."

The last desperate effort of the entombed miners to escape death by poison gas was a hastily erected bulkhead, the crevices stuffed with the miners' clothing. The picture, obtained exclusively by The Sun and NEA Service, shows this bulkhead with two of the rescue party examining it. It was here that 46 bodies were found.

AVIATORS DYING AT SEA ABANDONED BY BRIG

LONDON, Sept. 29.—"Below us were sharks," near the land crocodiles. Would we float long enough to ground our inverted top hamper and signal some one ashore, or sink swimming for it? Then our hopes were shattered, for an undercurrent caught our submerged planes and fuselage, and faster than we could see the land, we were pulled away from it. Quickly it faded and our hopes sank. We were utterly helpless and at the mercy of the wind and the tide.

The above sentences are taken from the long and thrilling narrative which records the terrible experiences of Capt. Norman Macmillan and Captain Matillias while aloft for 60 hours on a wrecked seaplane in the Bay of Bengal. They were engaged in a round-the-world flight organized by the Daily News.

"Suddenly we noticed an alteration in the trim of our craft," continues the narrative. "Round and round we plunged, water pouring over us, hanging on tooth and nail, and soaked by the repeated wash that broke completely over us. Evidently we were in a tide whirl."

Perhaps the most impressive thing in the story is Captain Macmillan's account of their abandonment by a native brig which passed them when they were almost spent. "Matillias could hear beautiful instrumental music," writes Macmillan, "and I the sound of the pipes playing laments in the distance. We did not mention this to each other at the time. We were each afraid of that."

"Suddenly we saw a sail away down south. Was it coming up? Yes, slowly. A windjammer. Soon its yards appeared. Gradually it came along. Standing up we could see the hull. It was all we could do to remain upright."

"We waved our distress flag, signaling the International S.O.S. The brig was coming straight for us. She must almost run us down. She could not fail to see us."

"Was she changing her course? Surely not, but she was."

"She turned off not half a mile away, and steadily passed us within half a mile, with two men looking at us from the poop."

"Good, what humanity! Surely it could not be."

"Matillias frantically waving, slipped and fell half-overboard, cursing at his hurt, cursing the brig and her crew, and writhing."

"Standing on our rocking float, I waved and hailed and fired pistol shots."

"But steadily she went past, a native brig. Two men on the poop ran forward as she was abreast of us. They saw us, undoubtedly, and were possibly terrified of ghosts and visions."

"But in mercy let them never know what we felt like."

The two aviators were rescued some hours later by a steam launch sent out in search of them.

PREDICTS WIDE USE OF DIRIGIBLES

BELLEVILLE, Ill., Sept. 29.—One third of the population of the United States will be flying in dirigibles in the near future, according to a prediction of A. Leo Stevens, chief instructor of aeronautics for the United States army at Scott field, near here. Mr. Stevens, in 1902, made the first dirigible flight in this country.

The dirigibles, Mr. Stevens said, will range in size from the small "vent pocket" type to mammoth machines carrying from 10 to 20 motors.

"The dirigibles of the future will have pontons," he asserted, "and the water will be helpful for landing places. The machines of the future will carry from ten to twenty motors, who compartments in the large airships will be equipped with safety berths. The touching of a button by the commander will cause every passenger to descend towards earth at the same time. Each berth will have all necessary equipment for landing and floating its passengers to safety."

"The army of the future will travel through the air and it will be nothing to see a thousand or more men transported at one time in one machine. I believe it is only a matter of a short time when one-third of the population of this country will be flying all sorts of aerial contrivances, and we will have a 'vest-pocket' size dirigible for those who don't care to own a large craft."

PRIZES FOR DRY ESSAYS

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Cash prizes totaling $150 are being offered students in the United States and Canada in an essay contest on "The World Movement Against Alcoholism."

The contest, which opened July 1 and will continue until November 1, is being conducted by the International Prohibition association. The prizes will be given to winners at the association conference to be held in Toronto, November 24 to 29.

Rules require that the essays deal with some aspect of the alcohol problem or with some proposed method of solution of this problem. The writer is given the opportunity to treat the subject from any viewpoint.

The essays will be graded independently by three judges appointed by the general secretary of the association.

SIX CANDIDATES ON WET PLATFORM

DALLAS, Texas, Sept. 28.—Six of the thirty-six candidates for congress in the eighteen districts of Texas are avowedly wet, according to officials of the Texas Anti-Saloon league.

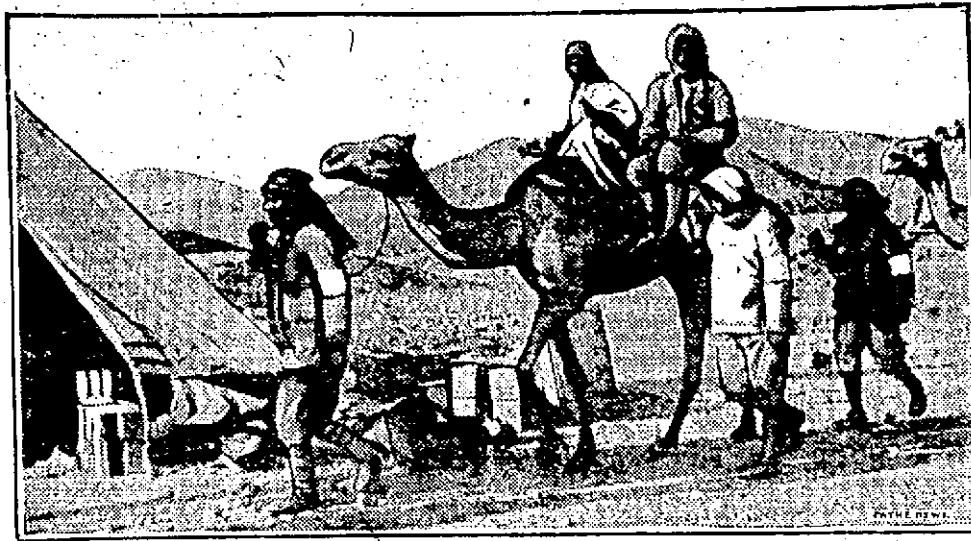

Harry Hertzberg, fourteenth district, is the only democratic candidate definitely taking a wet stand, according to league records. The republican candidates opposing prohibition are W. W. Wilson, ninth district; W. J. Kretzschmar, tenth district; R. A. Hendrick, eleventh; Joseph Kingsbury, Jr., twelfth; and Harry Wurzbach, fourteenth.

Of the remaining democratic candidates all have taken definite dry positions with the exception of J. J. Mansfield, ninth district; J. P. Buchanan, tenth district; and John H. Garner, eleventh.

In the republican ranks the candidates falling to state definite views on the question are J. T. Bartlett, first district; C. A. Gray, fourth; Frank S. Chappin, seventh; J. E. Schmidt, twelfth; and M. O. Ward, eighteenth.

Only in the eleventh and twelfth districts are wet and dry candidates opposing each other for office on "announced issues."

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By the Theatre's Own Press Agents.

THE CRISP INTERPLAY OF CONVERSATION

In "Lives and Loves," which Marion Murray & Co. is producing at the P. Keith theatre this week is enjoyed hugely by audiences. Edwin Burke wrote the sketch for Miss Murray, and he surely put in a lot of clever characterization. Crafts & Hays in snappy dialogue, and Ben Smith, singer and monologist, are among the other headliners of the week. Other acts are Redmond & Wells, in "The Gypsy Princess," Indian singer, Anderson & Yvel, skaters, and Berold's dog and monkey actors.

"MANSLAUGHTER" COMING

There were no photographers to record the dress and customs of the day when the barbarians overthrew ancient Rome. Nevertheless Cecil B. De Mille has produced an historically faithful reproduction of this episode in history for his latest Paramount production, "Manslaughter," which opens at the Merrimack Square theatre for a three-day engagement. The other feature of an excellent program is "The Siren Call," with Dorothy Dalton.

THE STRAND

Tom Mix and Marie Prevost, two of the most popular screen stars of the present day, are filling engagements at the Strand during the week-end. Mix is seen in "The Fighting Streak," a characteristic western thriller, and Marie Prevost is seen in "The Mariel Flapper," a story that deals with that new brand of femininity that is so much talked of and so much misunderstood. See both and enjoy a high grade picture entertainment. There were other good features that round out a great bill.

TRIAL TO THEATRE

"The Better Man," a Snowy Baker series, with Snowy Baker in the lead role, is the feature attraction of the trial to the theatre for the week-end, beginning this afternoon. It is a production of rare merit and is bound to please widely. On the same program is Episode four of "The Jungle God," also a Rural comedy, entitled "A Hickville Romance." The trial news and the review completes the bill.

Crowded houses were the rule at the Merrimack Square theatre yesterday afternoon and last evening when Charles Ray in "R.S.V.P." opened a

Grief-Torn, Yet She Is "Happiest Woman"

MRS. TANAKI MIURA

BY JOHN O'DONNELL
NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—She says she is the happiest woman in the world and then tells a story of grief and domestic trouble that would give another woman cause for perpetual self-pity.

In her native land she is socially ostracized. Her family has witnessed her world-wide success without enthusiasm. Her husband's family bitterly condemns her. Her husband whom she left in Tokyo, made an unsuccessful attempt to prevent her from continuing her stage career.

Speaking slowly, as if fumbling over a pile of unfamiliar nouns and verbs, Mrs. Tanaki Miura, Japanese prima donna told how she struggled through the unhappiness of an opposition dreamed of by an American girl until she could truthfully say, "I am the happiest woman in Japan, in the whole Orient, in the wide world."

Seis Precedent

Mrs. Miura's struggle gives Japanese women a precedent. By shattering the tradition that it is a disgrace for a woman to sing anywhere except in her own home and for a husband's entertainment, she has opened a new future for her countrywomen.

And now the plump little temptress from the Orient is happy. "When I sing in the United States, in Europe, in South America—there is a fresh happiness—something I feel when I see my audiences. If I do not have this happiness I die. I cannot have this happiness if I stay in Japan for my audiences."

and there sing only in my own house."

She cupped her two small hands. "It is in this they wanted to put me. Shut up in a little box. My husband and my husband's family all say it is a dishonor to sing before the audiences. I must come back to Tokyo, they tell me. But you know, I can't, I really can't."

Mrs. Miura has been married for ten years, her marriage taking place two years before she made her debut in London at the farewell concert of Adeline Patry in 1914.

"What about your husband?" "He has been very difficult. He knows how I love to sing and I told him I would come back to Japan every year. But he insists to his mother and father who believe it is a dishonor to be on the stage and so he wants me to stay at home."

"But when I made my debut I knew I could never live without the happiness of singing before an audience. That night in London I sang before the king and queen. First I sang from Rigoletto and then two Japanese songs. Mme. Patti kissed me after the concert."

"It was the first kiss I had ever received in my life. We do not kiss in Japan. My husband would be angry if I tried to kiss him."

"My mind is changing from Japanese to American. I like to live in America—she placed her hand over her heart. I can't go back to Tokyo. It would kill me to do without my one great joy in life—my happiness in singing before my audiences."

WILL USE CYRUS W. IRISH AUDITORIUM

High school freshmen will be allowed the privilege of the new Cyrus W. Irish Auditorium for the first time next Monday when assembly will be held. On this occasion the sophomores will assemble in Ceburn hall for the exercises of the day. It is probably the election of a cheer leader will be held at this meeting.

Evening high school registration will close tonight. The enrollment thus far has been about equal to that of last year. Regular classes will be resumed next Monday and will continue four nights a week until Christmas and three nights a week thereafter. Academic pupils will occupy the same rooms as last year, commercial pupils will transfer from the annex to the new building, while mechanical drawing pupils will have to go back and forth because of the fact that the implements of that trade are located in the annex. The Kirk street entrances will be used by all students until the Lucy Larcom park walk is completed.

France Nearer Bankruptcy Than Germany—People in Ireland Favor Free State

BOSTON, Sept. 28.—Germany humming with industry and obtaining all the raw materials it needs through Holland, its government by no means as near bankruptcy as is generally supposed. France actually nearer bankruptcy than Germany and dreading what may happen if the government finds itself unable to meet the interest on its internal debt; England indignant over the attempt to embroil her in war at the Dardanelles and about ready to repudiate Lloyd George; Ireland, his native country, hungry for peace and bitter against the so-called irregular republicans.

This is a synopsis of the impressions gathered by Charles J. O'Malley, Boston advertising man, who with his family has just returned from a three months' tour of Europe, during which they visited 18 different countries.

Mr. O'Malley and family had glimpses of Ireland, England, Scotland, Holland, Belgium, France, Germany, Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia, Austria, Italy, Switzerland and Bulgaria.

Met German Propaganda Head
With Dr. Fenlon, president of the Catholic university at Washington, he started for Constantinople early in August, but even then trouble was anticipated at the Dardanelles, and Mr. O'Malley was advised that, though he might sail down the Danube, he might have difficulty in getting back.

Even then, he said, it was common talk in every European capital that France was backing the Turk and England the Greeks, and that trouble was certain to ensue.

"There is a prevalent theory," said Mr. O'Malley, "that Germany is drifting toward bankruptcy. My investigations there led me to believe that the idea is false. I met one of the most brilliant German leaders, Director Miller of the government propaganda department, and discussed the situation with him.

"Dr. Miller, by the way, was educated at Harvard, and during his student days lived at Concord.

"While Mr. Miller would not go into detail about the plans of the German government, he expressed the greatest optimism as regards Germany's rapid economic recovery. 'We are going to pay our reparations some time,' he said. 'If they would give us a five-year moratorium we would pay every dollar, because in that time we shall have the commercial world at our feet.'

"Every factory in Germany is running full blast. Holland is Germany's open door. That country is practically owned by Germans. Raw materials from all the world are flowing into Holland, and Germany is taking them and turning them into manufactured goods on a basis of brotherly barter. Meanwhile, with the low value of the mark, the Germans can undersell the world in foreign markets and establish foreign credits."

Mr. O'Malley exhibited a pocket instrument which he brought from Germany. On one side was a combination barometer and altimeter. He said its barometrical readings were absolutely accurate when compared with the ship's barometer crossing the Atlantic. He tested the altimeter going through the Simpson Pass and on the Jungfrau in Switzerland and found this also to be accurate. On the other side of the instrument was a combination thermometer and compass. In Switzerland he met a British naval officer who controls all purchases of scientific instruments for the British navy. The officer told him he had just placed an order for $5,000,000 worth of these instruments in Germany. The Germans, he said, were the only people who knew how to make them.

"The steady industrial advancement of Germany will save her from bankruptcy," said Mr. O'Malley. "In my mind and in the opinion of those with whom I talked in France and England, Germany is laughing at the world. If she ever pays, it will be in her own good time."

French Borrowing Vast Sums
"It seemed to me that France was in worse condition. The government has issued to her citizens many millions of notes of 100, 500 and 1000 denominations. They are much like our Liberty bonds. But they pass for currency. In June, France was able to pay 4 1/2 percent interest on these internal loans."

"But when I was in Paris, Sept. 1, I talked with a prominent American economist at the French capital, and he told me that in his opinion the French government is nearer bankruptcy than the German. He predicted that the government will soon be unable to meet the interest on its internal debt, and when repudiation occurs there will be a revolution in France. He was most emphatic in his fears."

"I found public opinion in England engaged entirely by the Dardanelles situation. I could hardly find an Englishman who did not condemn the war propaganda. It seemed to me that everybody in England was bitterly opposed to another war."

"I met several members of parliament, and they told me that they didn't care what the Turks did to the Greeks or the Greeks to the Turks; they are sick and tired of war. There is a good deal of unemployment, poverty and unrest in England."

"I don't believe there is a man in England who could raise 300,000 volunteers; I doubt if anyone could raise 20,000. The English people wouldn't stand for it."

"It might be interesting to note that one of the wisest of the house of commons told me the other day that Winston Churchill will be the next premier, and that Lloyd George will hardly survive the present crisis. He's a great opportunist, but I believe Churchill is a greater one."

Insurgents Fleeing From Ireland
"On the way home we stopped at Queenstown (Cobh), where quite a number of young men who had been fighting in the Irish irregular Republican army came aboard the Pittsburgh and embarked for America. These young men landed in Boston. I talked with several of them on the way over, and they admitted that the insurgent movement against the Free State is practically dead. They also told me they were leaving Ireland for their own good as well as their country's."

"It was my second glimpse of Ireland on this trip. I landed in Ireland at the very outset, before a visiting England and the Continent."

"We landed then at Cork and went up to Dublin, touring through Cork, Kerry, Limerick, Clare, Galway, Mayo, Roscommon, Leitrim, Meath, West Meath, Kildare and arriving in Dublin the day after the Four Courts were blown up."

"I was born in Mayo, and have always been a republican. My sentiments have always been thoroughly in favor of a republic in Ireland. But after I had visited Ireland I was ready to qualify my views. If I were a leader of the republican irregular forces in Ireland today, I would strenuously advocate a policy of giving the Free State a chance to function."

"I would enter their councils in a friendly way and oppose any policy that I considered antagonistic to the people of Ireland. If that course were followed, I believe in time Ireland would attain a greater degree of independence than is offered to the Free State. I think such a policy would bring in the North of Ireland, make friends with England, and make Ireland free, prosperous and happy."

"Many of the Free State leaders are friends of mine. They have a broad outlook on life. They are men of experience and honesty. I think they ought to be given a chance. I believe the common-sense of Ireland will assert itself in the near future."

Talked With Collins
"From my own personal experience I am sure that 90 per cent of the people of Ireland want peace, and are in favor of trying out the existing government. 'I think that I must have been about the last American who saw poor Collins alive. I met him in Leicester House in Dublin and had a half hour's interview with him just before his departure on that fatal trip to the south."

"He told me he was going south to save the irregulars from themselves. His intention was to take the guns away from those boys, and let them go free, freeing these in jail also. He told me he was overwhelmed by the thought of Irishmen killing Irishmen. He said that in the words of Lincoln he believed in 'malice towards none, charity for all.'"

"To my way of thinking, he was one of the greatest of the Irish race."

ARRESTED FOR THE FITCHBURG POLICE

Three Lowell men were last night arrested in connection with the theft and burning of an auto stolen from Fitchburg recently and a day or two later destroyed in Westford. They are Mathias Nicopolous, Charles Pappas and Nicholas Spourous. They were booked on charges of larceny and taken to Fitchburg early this morning.

Quite a bit of credit is due the local force for the manner in which it rounded up the three men. An inspector from the Fitchburg force came here yesterday morning with but a faint clue as to the identity of one of the men. Capt. Petrie, Sergt. Kennedy and Officers Moore and Noonan worked on the case all day and it was not until early this morning they made the arrests.

It is thought the destroying of the car was part of a scheme to defraud a Fitchburg insurance company. The car was found off the Concord road in Westford completely stripped of all its movable parts.

FEDERATION APPROVES DECISION TO SIKI

PARIS, Sept. 28. (By the Associated Press).—The French boxing federation last night, in settling the controversy over the outcome of the bout between Battling Siki and Georges Carpentier, simply approved the judges' decision, awarding the fight to Siki because Carpentier was "hors de combat."

The earnest plea of Francois Descamps, manager of Carpentier for the addition of the phrase "through injury" was denied to avoid placing the defeat on record as being due simply to Siki putting away his man in the customary manner.

The committee listened for three hours to oratory that at times became heated and which ended with the question of what he had signed but the federation ruled he would have to stand by it.

man, as to why Victor Breyer, organizer of the fight; Harry Bernstein, one of the fight; Harry Bernstein, one of the fight; Harry Bernstein, one of the fight.

Descamps voiced a reconsidered view, saying he had no protest to make, and admitting that Carpentier was beaten, and thoroughly beaten, by Siki. He said it was absolutely untrue that Carpentier did not try to win in the first and second rounds. He tried but could not. He added that Georges broke his left thumb in the second round on Siki's head. Others, however, reminded the manager that both he and Carpentier had previously asserted Georges did not do his best.

Bernstein, as the referee, attempted to have his signature withdrawn from the fight decision, saying he did not know what he had signed but the federation ruled he would have to stand by it.

THE BUILDING CODE REVISION COMMITTEE

The Building Code Revision committee of the chamber of commerce has practically completed its work and will meet in the near future to present its recommendations to the directors of the chamber. As Fred C. Church, chairman of the fire prevention division, is out of town at present, the report of that sub-committee is not yet completed. The directors will submit the committee's recommendations to the city council at a future meeting of that body.

The chamber of commerce monthly bulletin will probably be out tomorrow. This month's pamphlet contains some very interesting reading and, as in the past, will prove enlightening to the several members.

Stillman Denied Divorce

feudant herein (Mrs. Stillman) and I find the charge of adultery as to the said Helen and Clara not proved."

Two of the banker's attorneys, Col. William Rand and Outbridge Horsey, waiting to hear the decision in Mr. Gleason's office at Poughkeepsie, declined to say whether they intended to appeal from the referee's findings.

The referee held that Mr. Stillman had failed to overcome the presumption of legitimacy, which is one of the strongest known to the law and which "cannot be overturned except by evidence which is strong."

On the other hand, the report found the proof of Mrs. Stillman's receding charges that her husband had supported and maintained Florence H. Leeds as his wife and that she had given birth to two children "recognized by him," had been "so overwhelming and convincing that plaintiff's attorneys frankly stated to the referee that no denial would be made of these charges."

The referee wrote that the testimony adduced by Mr. Stillman in support of his charges that Mrs. Stillman mis-conducted herself with Fred Beaumont, an Indian guide, offered by the banker to be the father of little Guy Stillman, "uncontradicted and unexplained," was sufficient to justify him (Stillman) in believing Mrs. Stillman guilty of the charges made against her.

"A careful examination, however, of all the testimony," said his report, "has shaken my faith and belief in the testimony of the witnesses called in the plaintiff's behalf."

Mrs. Stillman, the referee held, not only offered evidence tending to establish the truth and falsity of the evidence of misconduct by her and Beaumont, but also presented evidence tending to show that agents of Mr. Stillman offered inducements of money and position to witnesses who would testify that his wife had misbehaved with the Indian guide.

In conclusion, it was recommended that the plaintiff's complaint should be dismissed.

The referee's report, upon motion by either side, will go to Supreme Court Justice Morschauer for confirmation or rejection. It is expected that Justice Morschauer will uphold the findings of Mr. Gleason.

Through his mother's victory, Guy Stillman retains his rights as an heir with his two brothers and his sister to the $6,000,000 trust fund created for them by their grandfather, the late James Stillman.

Counsel Refuses to Talk

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Cornelius J. Sullivan, counsel for James A. Stillman, declined today to comment on the report of Referee Gleason filed in Carmel, recommending denial of his suit for divorce from Mrs. Anne U. Stillman until he had seen a copy of the referee's report. He would not say whether or not an appeal would be taken from the decision, which also declared baby Guy Stillman legitimate.

He said Mr. Stillman was in New York city but asserted he was sure Mr. Stillman would have nothing to say at this time.

First Street Construction

portion hinges entirely upon this particular part of the work.

One hundred or more feet below the grade of the road, gangs of men now are at work pouring the culvert foundations. It is a precarious and slow work, however, for it is below water level and pumps are worked continuously to carry off seepage. Heavy protection boxes of wood have been built at the bottom of the gulch and into these the foundations are being set.

Considerable filling also will be necessary to bring this section of the road up to grade and at the present time a steam shovel is dropping tons of gravel into the hole. Once the culvert is out of the way, the builders will have easy sailing to First street where the connection will be made about opposite Reed street.

The lower end of the road is practically completed. The link with the state road already has been established about opposite the old car barn and a smooth highway, 27 feet wide, of bituminous macadam follows the river bank to a point where the oval property begins. In fact, the completed road is only a short distance from the culvert and will be up to it within a few days.

Of particular interest in the culvert part of the job is the dam of bags of sand that has been thrown up for a distance of 50 feet at the river's edge to keep the water from pouring into the gully where the culvert is being built.

This culvert, by the way, has caused no little discussion. When the idea of a new road first was considered, the question of proper covering and protection for the city water mains was subjected to a great deal of controversy. It was the contention of some that a culvert was needed, while others said it was not needed and would be only a waste of money. The idea of a culvert prevailed, however, and one is being built.

One cannot walk over the job now and fail to be impressed by the possibilities for the future. Between the new road and First street there is a high and steep banking, now the property of the city park department. Its development will be watched with interest, for it embraces countless opportunities for embellishment. Probably no attempt would be made to transform it into a spic and span park area, but without a great deal of work it could be transformed into a park reservation, semi-rural in aspect.

MILLINERY CLASS

Middlesex county bureau officials in charge of Home Economics instruction schools throughout the state, were in Chelmsford all day yesterday conducting a millinery class for the women of the town at the town hall. Miss Henry, county agent, was in charge and instruction was given by Mrs. Draper and Miss Paterson.

The work was interesting from beginning to end, the leaders bringing small pattern hats in various styles and shapes, used as models for the work. A basket luncheon was served at noon. Fifteen women completed hats before the day was over.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 10, when a permanent organization may be made.

LOWELL MAN WINS

PACKARD CAR

Roderick Cavanaugh of 665 Broadway and employed at Daly's market in Broadway, was agitatedly surprised when he received word that he had won the Packard touring car, which was drawn under the auspices of the Brockton council of the Knights of Columbus last Tuesday night.

Mr. Cavanaugh had purchased a 25-cent ticket in the drawing contest, the ticket bearing the number 18175 Lot B, but at that time he never thought that his ticket would be the winner. The contest was brought to a close in the rooms of the Brockton council and it was a three-year-old tot who drew out the lucky ticket. Mr. Cavanaugh is receiving the congratulations of his many friends.

ART TREASURES OF RUSSIA GUARDED

PETROGRAD, Sept. 28.—The Hermitage, one of the greatest art galleries in the world, exists today in all its pre-war magnificence as a visible refutation not only of rumors that Russia's finest paintings had been destroyed or stolen during the revolution, but of those adventures who occasionally have peddled in New York and Paris supposed original paintings from its collections.

Small groups of school children, piloted through the galleries by teachers, a few art students, occasional proletarian enthusiasts, and now and then a foreigner who strays into Petrograd are about the only visitors to the galleries, and they seem lost in its spacious rooms. But the great paintings still are on the splendid walls; the rare porcelains and Greek vases of priceless antiquity are still in their cabinets; the masterpieces brought from the ends of the earth still stand on their pedestals; the unrivaled collections of old coins, Egyptian scarabs and countless other art objects are still in their carefully numbered trays, and the mummies still lie in their sarcophagi, grim and grinning despite the latest revolution that has passed over their heads.

The Winter palace, adjoining the Hermitage, still bears marks of the shelling and machine-gunning it suffered during the early days of the Bolshevik coup d'état, but the building housing the valuable art collections has been spared even these marks of battle. Its exterior walls are red and smooth, the ten gigantic Atlantes in Plinthis marble huge naked Herakles 20 feet tall and each carved from a single block of granite—hold up its portico in lieu of pillars and are as smooth and pleasing as the day they were placed there in 1552. Although the square that fronts them has been the scene of much hard fighting.

Immediately after the Bolsheviks won the control, special guards were placed about the Hermitage and it was saved from looting. The already priceless collections are being augmented today by the most valuable of the objects of art confiscated by the government from private persons during the early days of the revolution.

In fitting the Hermitage ranks with the Louvre in Paris and the famous galleries of Spain and Italy. The Dutch and Flemish pictures are more numerous and more valuable than are the collections in Holland or Belgium.

In all there are more than 2000 paintings, each of which is worth a small fortune, and there are besides 200,000 engravings and 12,000 drawings, each so valuable that it merits careful preservation for posterity.

Most of Petrograd's other famous art galleries and museums which also are again being opened to the public, prove, like the Hermitage, to be intact. The same is true of Moscow and other principal Russian cities, where the Soviet government, like the regime of the czar, has zealously guarded collections of art.

PROPOSED STEEL MERGER IS CALLED OFF

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—The proposed merger of the Inland Steel company, the Midvale Steel and Ordnance company and the Republic Iron and Steel company will not be effected, it was announced yesterday. The situation arising from the action of the federal trade commission in declaring that such a merger would be illegal was declared responsible for the decision.

The following statement was issued last night by W. E. Corey, chairman of the board of the Midvale Steel and Ordnance company; John A. Topping, chairman of the board of the Republic Iron and Steel company, and L. E. Block, chairman of the board of the Inland Steel company.

"At a meeting held today the entire situation arising from the action of the federal trade commission was reviewed and the conclusion was reached that under existing circumstances it is not possible to proceed with the proposed merger of these three companies. "While all of the eminent counsel who have been consulted agree that the proposed merger would be legal in every respect, and while the consummation of which we have not have restrained, but have intensified competition, the final determination of the questions involved would delay carrying out of the plans to such an extent that the parties to interest do not deem it advisable to proceed. "Pending such final determination of questions involved, the financing of the proposed merger would not be possible, and it is not feasible to proceed with the merger without such financing."

PORTLAND MERCHANT
COMMITTS SUICIDE

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 28.—Everett G. Bonner, 48, yesterday committed suicide by firing three revolver bullets into his head in the stock room of a wholesale millinery store, 243 Middle street, of which he was part owner. He guided the revolver by gazing into a mirror, the police say. Death was almost instantaneous, in the opinion of Medical Examiner Hamel.

Worried over inability to attend to business because of a broken leg and possible business troubles, account for his act, police claim. He had been in business here 20 years. He is survived by his wife, mother and two brothers.

PRICE OF MILK

It is very probable that a decision in regard to the October milk price here in Lowell will be made very shortly. The retail price of a quart of milk in the stores here is 12 cents, one cent less than the Boston price. It is believed that the Boston price will advance to 14 cents. October and Lowell is said to be always one cent less in price than the Hub. The market committee held a meeting, a few nights ago and discussed the matter, but at that time there was no decision. The question was put over until news of Boston's course of action was received. If Boston advances the price Lowell will do likewise.

The aims of this Vocational school in its new home are high, and yet they are contributing to the very simplest and common modes of general living. Take the household science branch, for instance. Space will not permit detailed descriptions of the work outlined for the new year, but, briefly, the aims of this department may be said to give the girls a foundation for the intelligent and economic performance of housework. The principles of heating and types of heaters and care of them are shown, principles of electricity as applied to electrical devices used in the home, bringing in the irons, toasters, hot water heaters, the vacuum cleaner and washing machines. The use of gas appliances, the methods of efficient lighting, the employment of baking powders, showing their composition, action and explaining about the substitute powders; the soaps—how made, their action on grease and effect on hard water, etc.

The Hygiene Department

The hygiene department, just to give another concrete example of the range of this vocational training, aims to have the girls see the importance of good health for themselves, their families and the public. Such topics as the following are studied: 1. How incorrect posture injures the body. 2. The foot and the proper shoe. 3. Why tight clothing is injurious to health. 4. How to care for the eyes and why. 5. The value of good teeth—how to care for them. The housekeeping course includes everything that makes and keeps a home in good condition to live in. It reaches the buyer to get a hundred cents' worth out of every dollar spent for food and clothes. It includes cooking, household management, laundry work, table service, marketing and home nursing. In the cooking branch, economy and management of the kitchen study comes first, with plans for cooking, study of food values, simple menus, serving, marketing and practical application in the home. Repetition develops responsibility and assurance in the cooking and serving of meals. This practical experience is gained in the lunch room of the State Normal school, now under the management of the Vocational school. The laundry course includes practice in removal of stains, washing and ironing. Continued on Page Eighteen Valentino Kissed Her, But She Didn't Fall for Him!

ARTIST R. J. SCOTT'S CONCEPTION OF NITA NALDI. SKETCH FROM LIFE.

By JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—"Fall for Valentino? I should say not!" This is from a girl who has been held in tight embrace by him, whose lips have met his, whose arms have been flung about his neck.

"Why should I fall for him?" she asked. "Down in 'Little Italy' when I was a kid I knew a hundred boys who were better looking than Ruddy is. You can find plenty of them today on the corners of Bleecker street who have better features than Ruddy."

The girl is Nita Naldi. The embraces and kisses were for "Blood and Sand," but they were not ordinary acting emotions.

"Valentino is the most sincere actor I know," Nita told me. "He lives his part, even in the love scenes. More than once Fred Niblo, the director, would call 'That's far enough, Ruddy! Don't get too rough!' And she didn't fall for that sort of love-making by a man in whose arms countless thousands of fair movie fans have visioned themselves.

Nita Naldi calls a spade a spade. Her frankness is refreshing. Here are just a few of the things that she told me about herself in a casual conversation:

She's 23.

She never wears corsets.

She tells casting directors she's five feet five, but she's really five feet eight and a half.

She was a show girl in the Follies and in "Sally."

She once was introduced to a prominent producer who wanted her to play vamp parts. She laughed in his face when she saw he combed his hair from the back to the front to hide his baldness. She didn't get the job.

She has refused a number of offers to play in the films because she would have to go to California and she doesn't like California. "They only talk about two things in California," she says, "pictures and the climate. And most of the men are egotistical and uninteresting."

She wouldn't stay in Hollywood when she worked in "Blood and Sand" because the life there wasn't wild enough for her. It's a dead hole.

Valentino's wife would rather have her play with Ruddy than any other actress because she is not afraid that Nita will fall in love with him.

About Valentino, Miss Naldi says: "He is most generous. No matter what his income he would spend it on others. He is very grateful, adding in great degree people who were friendly to him in his prosperous days. His reward to them is much greater than the service rendered him."

He loves to entertain.

He masters details of a production so thoroughly that he usually knows what costume to put on and what sequence is to be filmed before the ones whose business it is to know those particulars.

He speaks very good English when he is among close acquaintances. Among strangers he speaks with a decided foreign accent, yet that does not seem the part of affectation.

No head waiter has manners so courteous as Valentino at social functions. He clicks his heels together and bows low in greeting.

My observations of Nita: Eyes: Eyes that predominate her entire personality. Long, horizontal slants with wide white spaces. When they look straight into your eye for a prolonged moment they make you dizzy, literally.

An olive skin that requires no make-up for daylight photography completes the Oriental effect.

Her hair without a wave, curl or crinkle in it. Drawn tight around the scalp.

She collapses herself in a chair, like an accordion. That, so the length of her arms and legs is not so evident.

And when she unfolds, in sections, and stands, she carries herself like a queen.

Short, Nita Naldi possesses the most exotic, magnetic personality of any actress I have seen off or on the screen.

ADAMS HARDWARE CO. HOLDS ANNUAL OUTING

The second annual outing of the men and women employees of the Adams Hardware Co. was held at Golden Cove park yesterday afternoon.

It was a joyous success from start to finish. Transportation facilities were adequate for the several dozen members and invited guests. The park plenty grounds and athletic field were in excellent condition for the interesting programs of sports, contests of strength and exciting field day events.

Of course everybody who has anything to do with the Adams concern was there, bright and early, and remained until the sun went down.

President George H. Hunsels, with Mrs. Hunsels of course, led the procession to the Cove. Mr. and Mrs. John Dyson, the former in charge of the hardware department of the big store, were right behind the Hunsels transportation car and Roger Gage, chairman of about everything entertaining in the way of amusements, was in the procession, eager to sponsor the sports program and look after all comers who might lose their way getting to the race track park.

The outing fans of both sexes enjoyed the track racing on the famous Cove half-mile. "Turkey" was a merry jog carded with Jockey Lewis Clark of the roll top desk and hard pipe schedules leading the way with 11-year-old Sembah against Arnold Ryan and his nine-year-old traveler, Mary V. Clark won the first heat in four time, Ryan losing in for the second. The third went to Clark again but only after a mad scramble that made the outing fans cheer lustily.

An old-time chicken dinner, Maryland style, and all the fixings, started the main program, with Harvey W. Wives took charge of the proceedings about this time of course, and the boys of the Middlesex sales department had to clean up everything set before them, which they did, according to custom.

The three-legged race (mixed, so-called) was won by "Samson Sam" Colby and Mrs. Ann Morkle. Mrs. Morkle won the cracker tournament and Mrs. Roth easily captured the newspaper contest. A stirring pillow fight, with honors nearly even for ten minutes, was finally won by Prof. Alex. Hattenborg, Ph. D., C., and D.T. Alex had the punch that won.

Three prizes were awarded to the winners of each event. Clark got a bag of oats for his jogging old Sembah in front of the Ryan tidbit.

The baseball game of 15 innings went Morkle's way with the score 25 to Morkle's 21. "Uncle" Rock, daddy of the reaping machine, ball-tossing, disappeared shortly before the close of the eleventh

In His 31st Year as Football Coach

JOHN W. HILSMAN

College football coaches are much like major league baseball managers. They come and go, and pass out forever.

Head Coach John W. Hilsman of the University of Pennsylvania football team is a notable exception so far as the pass out part of the program is concerned. Hilsman unquestionably holds the world's record for professional longevity. This season at Penn will mark his 31st year as a football mentor.

This record is unique. Penn Warner, now coaching at Pittsburgh, Alonzo Stagg at Chicago and Dr. Williams, formerly at Minnesota, are Hilsman's closest rivals. All of them have coached 25 years or more.

Hls College Career

Hilsman got his first experience as a college player at Brown university, and later entered the University of Pennsylvania. He played left tackle on the Pennsylvania team of 1920 and left end on the 1921 eleven, one of the greatest teams Penn ever turned out.

Hilsman's first experience as a coach was in Oberlin college, in Ohio. That was in 1922. His team won eight straight games, including a victory over the University of Michigan, which they came and go, and pass out forever.

Work in the South

It was in the south, however, that Hilsman achieved his greatest success. He coached four years at Clemson college and put this institution on the football map. In 1922 he won the southern championship for Clemson. In four years his teams lost only three games.

His Work at Clemson

Hilsman went to Georgia Tech in 1921 and remained there 16 years as head football coach.

They Took Notice

In 1917 the Georgia Tech eleven defeated Pennsylvania, 41 to 0. That game caused Penn officials to take notice of Tech's coaching work.

Hilsman came to Penn in 1920. He has met with little success in his first two years, but with the good material on hand he hopes to put Penn ahead in football with a vengeance. Penn is waiting to be shown.

Courage, makes the American player the outstanding figure of the tennis world.

"Then there is another thing about the American player that makes him hard to beat," continued Alonzo, "he is constantly hitting his style of play, which naturally bewilders his opponent."

"In Europe, especially in England, the baseline game is the popular one. It is the old-fashioned style, not spectacular, yet highly scientific. The French players are more like the Americans."

"If the American player is not doing as well with a certain style of play he shifts. He is always on the offensive, and no chance in too difficult for him to take. That is a hard combination to beat."

Another thing that amazes me about American tennis is the abundance of good players," the Spaniard went on. "I venture to say that any one of the first 20 ranking players could go to Europe and make things decidedly interesting for the crack players there."

"Tilden is one of the most remarkable players I have ever seen," Alonzo concluded. "I have studied his style carefully and have not been able to discern a single weakness. As you say in America, as a tennis player he has everything."

A crown was won has been known in out forty-four saloons in one day.

WHAT LOSS OF PLAYER MISPLAYS DECIDED LAST YEAR'S SERIES MAY MEAN IN SERIES

This is the sixth of seven articles written for The Sun by Eddie Collins—of the Chicago White Sox. Collins has played in more world series games than any other major league player.

By EDDIE COLLINS

World's greatest Second Baseman While trying to figure out the dope on the chances of the Giants or Yankees being the 1922 world series champions, the thought occurred to me, how much of an upset in the calculations would the loss through injury of a man like Kelly from the Giants, or Plump from the Yankees' lineup mean? It is hard to tell, but fact notwithstanding, that just previous to a great, many world series, some member of one of the contending teams has been rendered hors de combat.

As far back as 1905, Rube Waddell was incapacitated as far as baseball was concerned, by a friendly rough-and-tumble straw hat breaking affair.

Rossman took a forced leave of absence from one of the Detroit-Cub affairs, in 1907 or '08. In 1909, Johnny Evers broke a leg just previous to the 1910 Cub-Athletics series. In 1911, Red Smith, Jack Barry, the late Ray Chapman and Babe Ruth are other notables I recall offhand who were forced out of whole or part of world series because of injuries. And in the majority of cases the absentees were members of the losing team.

Teamwork Counts

What of it? Just this: The success of every championship team, I believe, is due primarily to teamwork. There are lots of good ball teams where teamwork is not so obvious, but very few championships are won without it.

I know that the absolute harmonious co-operation of the Athletics was the secret of their success from 1909 to 1914.

A good ball team might be likened to a well-oiled piece of machinery. The various players represent the cogs. Failure to handle, train, or otherwise not putting forth one's best efforts to win, is apt to throw the whole machine out of gear, and spoil the game. Just so, take out one of the important cogs, and the effectiveness of your machine is impaired. It happens occasionally but not often that the substitute wheels even better than the regular. One instance, George Roche, White Sox, who substituted for Lee Tannehill, was the series star in 1908.

The loss of one of the regulars from the lineup of a world series contending team is not only an actual loss, but is very apt to have an important psychological effect as well.

Doubt Arises

Confidence has a big part in a team's success. Shake this confidence by the removal of one of the tried members and the thought arises: "Will he be able to fill his shoes?" There is no existing doubt, and as this doubt continues, confidence ebbs with the one team, and grows with the opponents.

The threat that a man like Ruth must always carry for the opposition cannot be made as formidable by any substitute. No one realized that more than the Giants in these last three games last fall.

Considering the fact that he was a pitcher, George's performance was creditable at first base for Fred Merkle in a part of the 1913 Giant-Athletics series. But he was not nearly as formidable at bat and that is where the Giants suffered and the Athletics gained.

Janvrin displaced Barry in the Red Sox-Brooklyn series and did very well. As far as substitutes go this year, if any are necessary, the Giants appear to be the best fortified. Johnny Rawlings, an all-around infield position most acceptably. For pinch hitters the Yankees present a likely lot, including Baker, Elmer Smith and Hoffman.

WHAT LOSS OF PLAYER MISPLAYS DECIDED LAST YEAR'S SERIES

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Baseball fans expect a better brand of playing in the World's Series than is displayed throughout the season and as a general rule their anticipations are realized, excepting the freak incidents that develop a few marvelous plays and a few incredible misplays.

Airtight pitching is expected of the pitchers. They are supposed to give few bases on balls, to have absolute control of the ball, and to pitch a masterful, "heady" game. The hitting is supposed in advance to be sharp and devastating when a battery of swatters opens up—but above all the fielding is expected to be flawless.

Last year there was an average of only one and three-eighths errors a game—five-eighths for the New York Nationals, who won, and three-fourths for one error a game for the Yankees, who lost—which is very close to perfect baseball. Yet the series was decided by misplays on the defense; the Giants won the last two games on errors.

The Giants offended in only three games and the Yankees in five of the eight, three players on each team accounting for all the errors. Frank Frisch, the Giant second baseman, made the majority of the Nationals' misplays—three out of the five, and Earl Smith, a catcher, and Arthur Nehf, a pitcher, each made one of the other two. Frisch's errors were distributed over three days.

Mike McNally, Yankee third baseman, made as many errors as Frisch, though as the series was summed up both were put down for their teams. Like the Giant second-baseman his three misplays were spread over three days. Aaron Ward, the Yankee second baseman made two errors in two days and Roger Peckinbaugh, who played shortstop, accounted for the other.

The third was the only game of the series in which neither side was credited with an error. Ward made a fatal misplay for the Yankees in the crucial seventh game after both teams had won three games each. It was in the fourth inning when the score was tied and the world's championship was still reposing in the palm of the gods. The play was not credited as an official error, but the chance for an assist and putting out was so palpably easy that virtually every description of the game classified the play as Ward's failure.

Frisch, the first man up, was out easily at first. Young hit a hard ball toward right field. It appeared that the play would be an easy one for Ward but he juggled the ball, permitted it to roll about his arm, and Young was safely stealing second at the moment later. Kelly fanned but Emil "Irish" Meusel came through with the hit that meant a run.

It was a similar incident that finally decided the championship in the next game, which was won and lost in the first half of the first inning. The first 15 minutes of play, Burns, lead-off man of the Giants, was easy picking, but Bancroft and Young were walked, the latter against the protest of Hoyt who claimed the last ball he pitched was a strike—and many agreed with him.

At any rate Kelly sent an easy grounder to Roger Peckinbaugh, the Yankee shortstop, and captain, who permitted the ball to wriggle through his legs and then became so concerned by his own error that he did not go after the ball quickly and the fleet-footed Bancroft scored. Young nearly scored from first.

LETTERS READ AT TRIAL HAT FORCIBLY REMOVED

Love Notes From Miss Lavoy, Slain Teacher, to Cressy Introduced

MINEOLA, N. Y., Sept. 28.—Letters written by Miss Edith Lavoy, slain school teacher, to William M. Cressy, her alleged murderer, in which she said: "This sure has been some romance," and "Life just seems empty without you," were among the 70 introduced at Cressy's trial today by Henry A. Uterhart, the accused man's lawyer. Uterhart announced that he would offer 100 more similar letters. The defense contends Miss Lavoy committed suicide last June in despair because Cressy broke off the romance. The prosecution is seeking to prove Cressy shot her when she flitted him. "The next time we meet, I want to see you off, for such is far from being the case, little dear. I hope you will be able to come again real soon. For life just seems empty without you. I have so many friends, but only one sweetheart."

The request for the appointment of the alienists was made by District Attorney Thomas C. O'Brien.

BISHOP FLAYS DIVORCE AND BIRTH CONTROL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Divorce, birth control and a "Godforsaken" system of education were pointed to as paths leading to national disintegration by Bishop Schwemer of Wichita, Kan., in an opening sermon today before the National Council of Catholic Men. Describing the home, the school and the church as the three supports of civilization, Bishop Schwemer said divorce and birth control weakened both the school and the home. The bishop, who said, had been forbidden in the schools of the nation for two generations with the result, he added, that statistics showed 80 per cent of the people professed no religion.

Athens Despatch Predicts King George Will Soon Follow Constantine

Republic to Follow—Constantine and Consort to Be Asked to Leave Greece

Revolutionists Want Zaimis for Premier and Politis Minister of Foreign Affairs

PARIS, Sept. 29.—An Athens despatch to the Havas Agency says political circles in the Greek capital are of the opinion that King George's reign will not be long and that a republic will be established.

The new king took the oath as George II yesterday afternoon, and Athens was illuminated at night in honor of the occasion. The city was calm, following the bloodless revolution and even the theatres continued to operate.

The despatch says Alexandre Garapades, former minister of foreign affairs, is likely to head the new cabinet. Many royalist officers and reaction-

Frederick W. Brady, Meter Inspector, Shot and Fatally Wounded By Wife in City Hall Corridor

Family Troubles Believed to Have Led to Crisis—Tragedy Occurred Just Outside Door of City Auditor's Office—Wife Admits Shooting But Will Not Tell Where She Obtained Revolver—Was Arraigned at 2.50 This Afternoon on Charge of Murder

Grim tragedy stalked through the corridors of city hall today and while an early forenoon sun was just beginning to send its shafts of light into the building, a young man was shot down by a bullet from a gun held in the right hand of his wife.

Frederick W. Brady, aged 33, a meter inspector for the Lowell water works, was the victim; his wife, Gertrude Long Brady, aged 28 years, was his assailant. The shooting occurred shortly after 9.30 o'clock and Brady died at the Lowell Corporation hospital at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Mrs. Brady was arraigned before Judge Enright in the district court this afternoon at 2.50 o'clock and pleaded not guilty to the charge of murder. Her attorney, Edward J. Tierney, requested a continuance until Oct. 10. This was granted and the defendant was remanded to the county jail in East Cambridge.

If there were words that led up to the shooting no one heard them, although the couple were seen in conversation on the first floor corridor, directly opposite the elevator shaft, just prior to the shooting. This was about 9.30 o'clock. Just a few minutes later the echo of a pistol shot rang through the building and a heavy, pungent odor of burned powder drifted away from the scene. Brady fell where he was standing, while scarcely a yard from him, looking down at his body as it lay at the top of the flight of stairs that lead to the basement, stood his wife, a handbag over one arm and a revolver in her right hand. Only one shot had been fired. She did not stoop to fire again. Although probably untrained, her aim had been deadly and the bullet pierced the right side of the head, coursed through the brain and came out at the left temple.

The corridor quickly filled with people, horror-stricken and numbed by the consciousness that a man had been shot down by his wife. While Brady was carried to the city dispensary in the basement and an ambulance was called, his wife was arrested by Patrolman John Murphy, who was at the paying teller's window in the treasurer's office when the shot was fired.

Mrs. Brady did not flinch or show signs of great emotion. "I shot him," she repeated and spoke one or two other short sentences that no one seemed to remember after the excitement had died down. She refused to give up the gun at first, but when Officer Murphy told her he was a policeman, she immediately let it fall into his hand and when he told her that she must accompany him to the police station she readily assented.

As he took her arm she said, "You are hurting me," and the officer then flung his right arm in her left and took her out of the building.

Meanwhile, downstairs, while Drs. Francis A. Finnegan and James Y. Redger attempted to stop the blood which flowed from the wounds in his head, Brady hung between life and death. A priest was sent for and Rev. Thomas J. McDonough of St. Patrick's came to administer the last rites of the church.

The municipal building was thrown into the utmost confusion and it was some time before anyone was able to give any impression of the tragedy.

City Auditor Daniel E. Martin was standing in the doorway of his office

STILLMAN IS DENIED DIVORCE

Baby Guy Also Declared Legitimate in Findings of Judge Gleason

Referee's Decision a Complete and Sweeping Victory for Mrs. Stillman

CARMEL, N. Y., Sept. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—James A. Stillman, former president of the National City bank of New York, was denied a decree in his suit for absolute divorce against his wife, Anne U. Stillman, and Baby Guy Stillman was declared legitimate in the findings of Judge Gleason, referee in the case, which were filed here today.

The referee's decision was a complete and sweeping victory for Mrs. Stillman. Not only was her defense upheld but the referee also confirmed her charges that Mr. Stillman had miscondemned himself with Florence H. Leeds, former Broadway show girl, and that Mrs. Leeds had borne two children.

In regard to Mrs. Stillman's charges that her banker husband had also miscondemned himself with two other women, identified only as "Helen" and "Clara," Referee Gleason decided that the evidence was not sufficient to prove the allegations of adultery.

"While there is evidence," the referee wrote, "that the plaintiff occupied a stateroom on his yacht with one 'Helen' no proof has been offered that the said 'Helen' was not the adult daughter of the plaintiff."

One Man in Hospital and Other Battered Appears in Court

Appearing in district court today with his head swathed in bandages, Frank A. Dooley pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness but not guilty to one of assault and battery upon Special Officer, Clifton A. Lawrence, as William Mercer, said to have been with Dooley, is also charged with drunkenness, and is in St. John's hospital said to be suffering from wounds he received while battling police officers. The case was continued to October 5 for trial.

The details of the case have not yet been fully uncovered by the police and inspectors are working on the matter today. According to stories told, Special Officer Lawrence came across Mercer, Dooley and another man who cuffed, and attempted to place them under arrest about 2 o'clock this morning. A fight followed in which all but Mercer got away. He was arrested by Special Officer George B. Duxton and taken to the hospital when it was found he was injured.

Dooley was arrested later by Patrolman Charles J. Barry. The other

Fair Under Auspices of the Middlesex North Agricultural Society

PARTIAL VIEW OF EXHIBITION IN LIBERTY HALL

Success beyond all bounds of anticipation has crowned the exhibit of the Middlesex North Agricultural Society, which is being held in Liberty hall at the Memorial Auditorium. Yesterday afternoon and evening the hall itself and the gallery were filled with people who were eager to inspect the different displays furnished by farmers in this vicinity.

Apples, grapes, peaches, beets, carrots, cabbages, peanuts, squash, pumpkins, potatoes and tomatoes, the very best of each farmer's crop, has been brought to the hall and placed on display. Included in the exhibition is a wonderful display of dahlias and other flowers, bread and preserves.

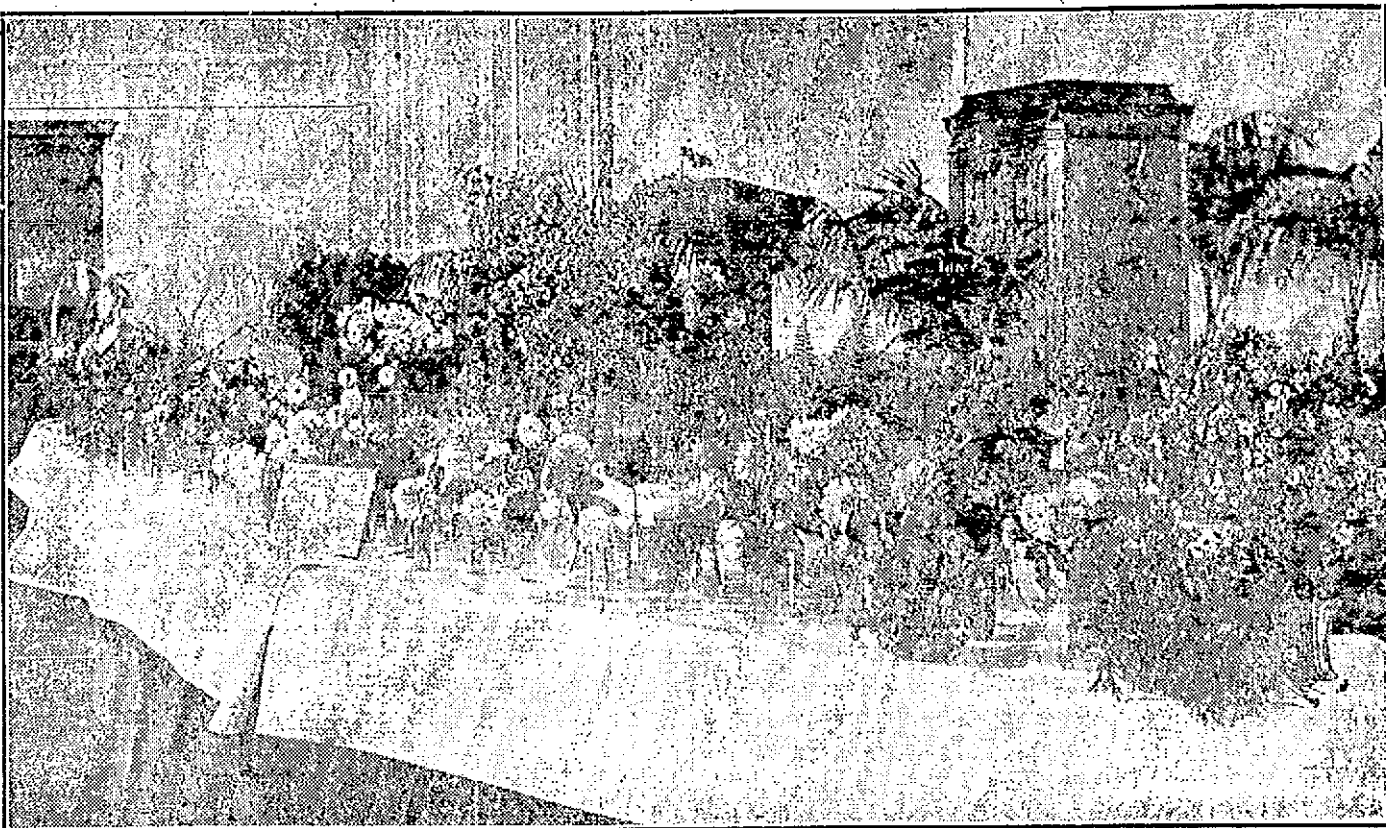

Everything on display has been donated by titlers of the soil in the neighborhood of Lowell and at the close of the exhibition tonight the edibles will be distributed to the various charitable institutions of the city.

Visiting farmers have been astonished by the quantity and quality of the goods on display and have warmly commended the officials of the society for the wonderful exhibition. One of the largest farmers in this section said last night that it was the greatest show the Middlesex North had displayed for the last 25 years. He further stated that he could not understand how the members obtained so many displays as at other shows it was necessary to offer premiums to induce farmers to put their products on display and even then the number which responded could not compare with that of the present exhibition.

The display has been a revelation to the people of Lowell in that it has given them an inkling of the wonderful agricultural work that is being accomplished in the immediate vicinity. Products of the soil that they never dreamed could be raised in this part of the country are on display in Liberty hall, such as peanuts and alfalfa. Perhaps the exhibition that attracted the greatest amount of attention is that of the dahlias from the gardens of Will Rounds. Blossoms of every color and color are found here, and their beauty is so rich that one is drawn to this display as if by a magnet. Dahlias that resemble a sunburst, an American Beauty rose, a snowball, an orchid, or a daisy, rest side by side and vie with one another in appealing most to the observers. Visitors to Liberty hall have been loud in their praise of the Middlesex North Agricultural society for sponsoring this display and expressed the wish that it might be a yearly occurrence. The general impression is that it is an enlightening exhibition and one that will interest the people living in the city.

WOMEN GOLFERS IN SEMI-FINAL ROUND

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Sept. 29.—The pairings today for the semi-final round of the national women's golf championship tournament here bring together Miss Glenna Collett, Providence, R. I., and Miss Faith Cummings, Orono, Me., the two young stars who already have met twice in tournament play this season, and Mrs. A. H. Jackson, Greenwich, and Mrs. William A. Oavin, England's lone survivor in the tourney.

While in both of their previous clashes this year, at Buffalo and New London, Miss Cummings has come out victorious, the brilliant game which Miss Collett continued to put up yesterday in defeating Mrs. R. C. Lott, Jr., Chicago, 3 up and 2 to play, left few willing to risk a prediction as to how the tide of battle would run today.

MISS VENUE HONOURED

At the close of business yesterday, about 40 employees of the new S. S. Kresge Co. gathered to pay their respects to Miss Bertie Venne, who is soon to become the bride of Rudolph Bonini of Rosindale. A mock marriage, with Glendolys Ackles as the bride, Frank Bonini, the groom, Arthur O'Hagan, the bridegroom, Louis Cardinal, the best man, and Edward Barry, the minister, was held. Mrs. Venne was showered with confetti following the "ceremonies" and received many useful gifts. Among those present at the affair were J. A. Prury, manager of the store; Mrs. Louis Cardinal, Mrs. Edward Barry, Mrs. Leach and Miss Dorothy Leach.

occur and the whole of the Balkans would be drawn into the struggle. It is declared emphatically that such a crossing will not be countenanced.

The issue of war or peace still hangs by a thread this morning and there was no relief from the tension existing yesterday.

Deep Anxiety Everywhere

The cabinet went into session again this morning and probably will continue in conference throughout the day, with only necessary interruptions. Deep anxiety is manifest everywhere and in some quarters there is an insistent demand that parliament be summoned without delay in order to elicit a full statement from the government and give the opportunity for endorsement or rejection of its policy.

The main anxiety is still regarded as centering in the Chanak zone on the southern shore of the Dardanelles into which Turkish Nationalist troops continue to move freely in defiance of the British decree.

"Cavalry detachments in the hands of 100 or 200 men," says the Morning Post's Constantinople correspondent, "they ride under a white flag or with rifles reversed whenever they are near our troops. They show no aggression, but make the British situation militarily most difficult and their movements naturally furnish an excellent method of reconnaissance."

Such reports as the foregoing keep alive the dread lest some local clash start fighting on a big scale before Mustafa Kemal Pasha's reply to the allied peace proposals is received and negotiations for an armistice can begin.

Fear is also expressed lest the Kemalists sympathizers in Constantinople start an uprising within the capital.

Sultan Abdicates

Apparently authentic reports from Constantinople indicate that Sultan Mohammed VI has abdicated in favor of the heir apparent, Prince Abdul Mejid Effendi, his cousin. It is assumed that this was under pressure from Mustafa Kemal, who recently appointed a "governor" for Constantinople and who is quoted as delivering diatribes against the sultan.

Some of the morning papers report that the British government is steadily increasing its preparations for war. The movement of warships and troops to the Levant continues, the latest being the departure from Aden of two mountain batteries.

The opinion is expressed that Kemal is trying to provoke the British to fire on the Turks so that he can turn to the Mohammedan world and claim he has been attacked by the Christians. Should such a thing occur it would naturally raise a grave issue for Great Britain in India, Egypt and Mesopotamia.

HARINGTON GOES TO MEET TURK LEADER

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 29.—(By the Associated Press) Brigadier General Sir Charles Harington, commander-in-chief of the British forces in the Dardanelles area, plans to leave this afternoon for a conference with Mustafa Kemal Pasha, probably at Mudania, on the Sea of Marmora.

The British are confident that if the next 24 hours pass without the firing of shots at Chanak or other points along the Dardanelles, all immediate danger of hostilities will have been avoided. This is the period of time estimated to be required for General Harington's journey and interview with Mustafa Kemal.

The allied high commissioners have decided to despatch a commission composed of British, French and Italian officers to Rodosto, Luleburgaz and Adrianople, in Thrace, in order to exercise a pacifying influence there.

According to the Exchange Telegraph, part of the French troops which were withdrawn from Chataldja, and which have since been in Constantinople, will be used for the defense of the European shore of the Bosphorus.

Thus far, although penetrating the neutral area the Turks have carried white flags and slung their rifles upside down when near the British lines, their commanders assuring the British officers they have no intention of aggression.

Defiance of Ultimatum
The British forces in Chanak now look on three sides upon the forces of Mustafa Kemal Pasha. By their recent incursions, the Turks have completed their occupation of the neutral zone, in defiance of Great Britain's ultimatum.

General Pello, French high commissioner, has despatched an energetic note to Smyrna telling Mustafa Kemal that the British sincerely desire to avoid a conflict but France will not be able to restrain them if they are attacked.

The British are confident they can hold their line against any Kemalist attack as their flanks at Chanak are protected by a powerful fleet of warships, the long range guns of which can sweep the area around the town for a distance of 20 miles, while the Turks at present are equipped only with machine guns in this sector.

Among the British naval units are the super-dreadnoughts, Revenge and Resolution, the most powerful men-of-war afloat.

Search Ships for War Materials
The British naval authorities are holding up all Greek and Turkish craft in the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles, making minute searches for materials of war.

The Greek battleship Averoff, which was taken from Constantinople by her mutinous crew in proceeding through the straits unmolested by the Turkish land batteries.

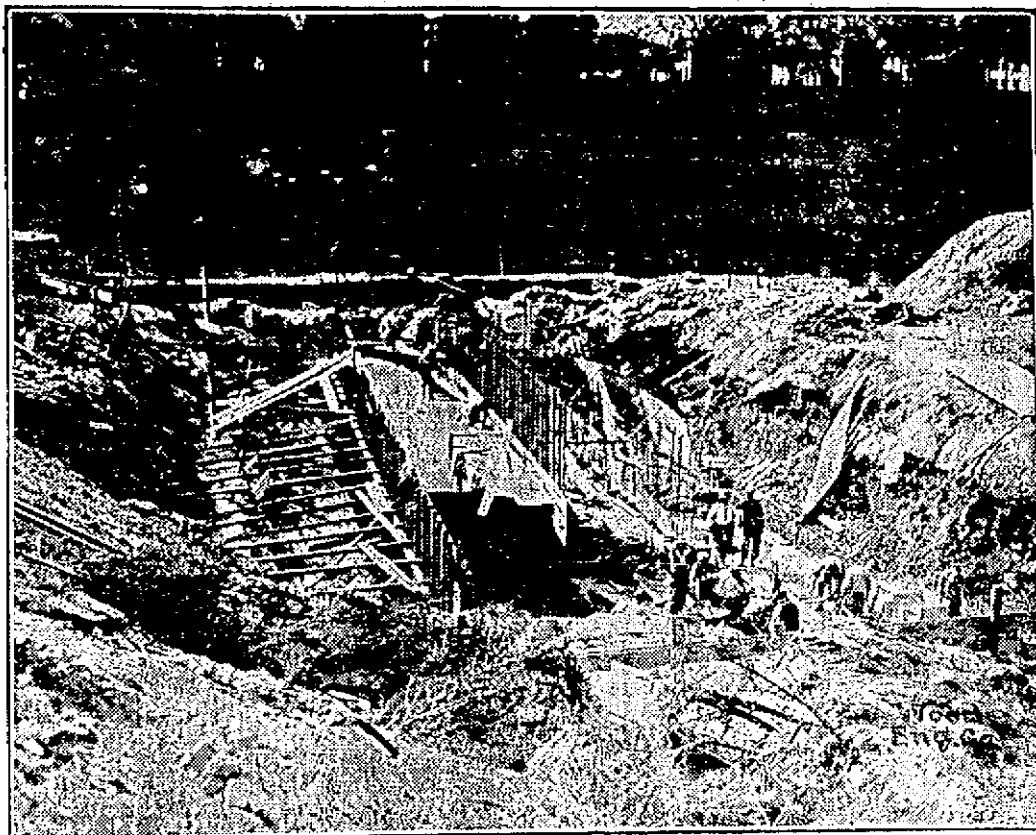

Crowds continue to storm all the consulates and passport offices in the capital and some have been forced to close their doors or appeal to the police for protection. There is an unending stream of Greeks and Armenians outside the American consulate, the line forming each day before dawn.

Several British armoured cars of the most modern type rolled through the streets yesterday afternoon, giving the capital a vivid touch of war realism. The Bosphorus also took on a martial aspect when a giant ship carrier and several additional units of the Allied fleet, together with three troop transports, passed into the Golden Horn.

U. S. DESTROYERS PREPARE FOR TRIP
NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 29.—The 12 destroyers ordered with the supply ship Bridge to proceed to Constantinople probably will complete loading by tonight. It was said today by officers at the Hampton Roads naval base where the vessels are being prepared for the trip.

All the facilities at the base were called into play to outfit the boats. Great quantities of medicine are being put aboard, and all other available space is being packed with food.

Big Construction Job On New Lawrence Boulevard

One of the largest road construction jobs undertaken in this city for some time is being rapidly pushed by Powers Bros. on the new First street boulevard location, with the idea of completion early in November. When finished, the splendid roadway of boulevard appearance will follow the sweep of the river from First street and link up with the present state road at the so-called oval section of the road. It is here that the contractors are working against time and the time of coming.

"Our cellar smell has gone for good"

"Some cellars never seem to smell just right, no matter how much they are cleaned. I know ours didn't for years. I am so fussy about things like that. I made Frank's life miserable about it."

"Of course, he did everything—sprayed around with horrid-smelling powders and messy mixtures. He even had a man come in and whitewash the walls again. But that indescribable, damp, musty odor refused to budge."

"Then, one day, Janice Colt told me of the wonderful things Sylpho-Nathol had done in her house."

"She was enthusiastic because it was so easy to use. 'Think of it, my dear, just a teaspoonful in a quart of warm water! It makes the cleanest-smelling, pearly-gray solution ready for instant use.'"

"Sylpho-Nathol is 4 1/2 times stronger than carbolic acid—so you can imagine what it does to germs. It is safe to have about, too—the druggist says it is no more dangerous than a cake of scouring soap. And it doesn't roughen or hurt your skin one bit. You'll like its faint, pleasant odor, I know. Just buy a bottle and see for yourself."

"It's a pleasure to go into our cellar now. Sylpho-Nathol has made it so sweet and clean and healthy. But the cellar isn't the only place we use it."

"I use it every day—in the mop water, because it destroys the germs that are in dust and dirt. I pour it down the sink drains—because it keeps such places free from the slightest trace of odors. It has made me forget that there is such a thing as a garbage can."

"Of course, I use it regularly around the bathroom tilting, and toilet fixtures and as a flush for the closet bowl."

Sylpho-Nathol comes in four handy sizes, 1 lb., 35c, 65c, $1.25. Most good grocers and druggists have it. If yours hasn't, he can get it. Just ask for it by the name—"Sylpho-Nathol."

PAINTINGS DESTROYED

Pettigrew Studio in Flames
After Explosion—Loss
Estimated at $100,000

CONCORD, Sept. 29.—Engrossed the task of touching up the head of Christ, the subject of one of his many religious paintings, in his private art gallery, located on Lexington road of this town, B. R. Pettigrew, prominent artist of Acron, allowed a swinging extension lamp to drop from his hand into a pail of lacquer, resulting in an explosion, which was followed by a blaze that destroyed building and contents within 30 minutes.

Mr. Pettigrew's private art gallery was filled with many valuable paintings, most of which were of a religious nature, their value being estimated at $100,000. So quickly did the flames spread that Mr. Pettigrew did not have time to save any of his works of art, and barely escaped with his life.

At the time of the fire, Mr. Pettigrew was busily engaged in preparing for his winter exhibition and the art gallery was filled with many canvasses and quite a store of oil paints and art materials. The inflammable nature of the contents of the building aided by wide draughty studio rooms caused the fire to spread in many directions, and for a time it was thought that many of the adjoining buildings would fall a prey to the flames.

A call was sent in for the Concord fire department nearly two miles away, but upon the arrival of the firemen it was seen that the building was doomed, and the firemen devoted their efforts to saving neighboring buildings.

Mr. Pettigrew carried no insurance on the building, but had his paintings insured for $100,000, which amount, it is said, will hardly cover the loss.

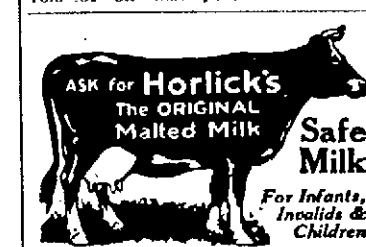

JAPAN'S TREASURY SHOWS BALANCE

TOKIO, Sept. 29.—What may be regarded as the state's balance sheet for the fiscal year 1921 is published by the finance department. According to the publication, the gross revenue amounted to 2,905,799,763 yen and the total expenditure to 1,459,836,278 yen, thereby leaving a balance of 1,445,963,485 yen.

Compared with the estimated budget for the same fiscal year the actual expenditure fell short approximately 94,000,000 yen, while the revenue exceeded the estimate by 480,000,000 yen. Compared with the actual revenue and expenditure for the preceding fiscal year, the former indicates an increase of 65,000,000 yen and the latter an increase of 180,000,000 yen. Of the revenue, the greatest part was from taxes which amounted to 755,851,000 yen, followed by the government property proceeds with 273,732,000 yen.

The navy and communications departments head the list in the amount of expenditure, the former recording 483,881,000 yen and the latter 245,000,000 yen. The surplus funds available for the next fiscal year amount to 154,323,000 yen.

Patagonia produced 1,500,000 barrels of oil last year.

A $1000 MESSAGE TO MEN

READ IT—FINE POINTS AND ALL. TO MANY IT WILL PROVE MORE INTERESTING READING THAN THE LEADING NEWS ARTICLES ON THE FIRST PAGE OF TODAY'S PAPER.

Why I Am Spending $1000 to Advertise This Event

I am spending this amount in newspaper advertising because by so doing I can sell better clothes for less money than if I did not advertise. Instead of making 20 to 30 garments a week at a profit of $10 to $15 a garment, as do some of the non-advertising tailors, I will sell five times this amount. The more I sell, the greater my buying power, my overhead is less, my growth is faster. I am establishing a clientele and good will that are worth real money. If I spend $1000 for advertising and at the same time save you from $7.50 to $12 on a suit of clothes or overcoat and also make a small profit on each garment I sell, is it not good logic to spend the money in that way? If you have any doubt as to my ability to save you money, then do this: Come in and get a sample of woollens. See how well I am making the clothes, then ask any tailor to duplicate in quality and workmanship what I offer you. This test will convince you that it pays to respond to any announcements, and it pays me to tell you about my offer.

Signed, MITCHELL.

IT IS A MESSAGE TO MEN—BUT IT ALSO IS OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

By a fortunate deal I have become the owner of more than 3000 yards of fine quality woollens including imported Carr's Melton overcoatings. These were bought from one of the largest woolen houses in New England—a firm that specializes in quality goods such as are featured by the high-priced tailors. At regular prices in unbroken bolts I would have had to pay not less than $10,500 for what I bought. Because they were not full bolts and because I was one of the few tailors in New England that could and would use the quantity offered, I bought this brand new stock of fall woollens at a ridiculously low price. THIS IS MY FOURTEENTH WINTER IN LOWELL and as you know I make men's clothes only, yet I do want the women, wives, mothers and sweethearts to come in and see what I have to offer. Most women know more about cloth than men do. They will back me up in the assertion that quality is woven into every inch of the warp and filling of every piece. The more you know about woollens the greater will be your astonishment that I can and will make a made to order suit or overcoat from such materials for as low as $25.00.

MADE TO ORDER SUITS AND OVERCOATS

More than 300 all wool and worsted patterns to choose from, including silk and wool chevots, serges, homespuns, tweeds, tartan plaids, club checks, pencil stripes and mixtures, including eighteen styles of the famous Gilbertville overcoatings, plaid backs, for dress or auto wear. None but the best trimmings will be used. Hand button-holes with pure silk thread on all except trousers.

You Run No Risks—I Do Not Even Ask for a Deposit

Recently at a New York Hotel there was a meeting of men interested in staging an industrial exposition. The principal speaker, a man of more than ordinary sagacity, said (in effect) "If a community, firm or individual wishes to get back to normalcy within a reasonable length of time it is necessary that the ordinary ways of doing things be supplanted by extraordinary methods, to wake people to action (and action is what is most needed right now.) It is necessary that unusual means be used."

In this sale I am doing two most unusual things. First, I am selling Suits and Overcoats at $25.00, made of identically the same quality materials that are used in the making of garments selling at from $32.50 up to $37.50. Second, I will take orders and make them up without a deposit whether you are a man out of a job or a retired millionaire. You can order a garment without putting a dollar for a deposit. If the suit is not satisfactory, after it is made, simply say so and I will keep it. I assume all risk of loss. Such is my confidence in the clothes I make and the people I deal with.

Signed, MITCHELL.

Orders Now Being Booked for October and November Delivery

Besides the above, I am offering several hundred patterns of the very finest woollens, including several imported patterns at from $30.00 to $35.00. I am also continuing my sale of U. S. Army Blue Melton overcoating. A $30.00 value. Made to your measure for $19.75

The Fame of This Event Has Spread Through Middlesex County

The announcement of this sale appeared for the first time last Friday. The response was gratifying and many of the orders booked were from men who for years have been spending from $40.00 to $50.00 for a suit of clothes. Many business men of Lowell and surrounding towns took advantage of this most unusual offer. Among those of this city who left their measure were men in all walks of life, including the wage earner and the salaried man, as well as the big fellow who sits on a swivel chair before a mahogany desk and controls large industries in our city. Place your order now for later delivery.

Signed, MITCHELL.

$5000 WORTH OF FURS STOLEN AT SALEM

SALEM, Sept. 29.—The Shawmut Fur store on Central and Essex streets, was burglarized during the night and $5000 worth of furs taken. Entrance was effected by cutting a hole in the floor of a room above the workroom, through which, by means of a rope ladder, descent was made to the workroom and thence to the main store. Notwithstanding that two 100 candle-power lights were burning in the store, two coats valued at $1700 were taken from the window and others from the racks directly beneath one of the lights, without the burglar being seen by the police on the beat. Judging from the quantity of furs taken, an automobile must have been required to carry them off. The store was burglarized three years ago. The latest job is similar to one in Haverhill recently, where a rope ladder was used.

even more interest has developed since that time, as the election commission deemed it a wiser policy to do their work in the utmost privacy, giving out no word until their job was finished.

The members of the commission, Hugh J. McConker, chairman; Omer J. Allard, Thomas H. Braden and Joseph H. Maguire, worked steadily on the petition from Monday afternoon until about 4 o'clock yesterday, when they announced the result.

When Mr. Desmond filed the petition he announced that the names it carried had been checked up with the 1922 voting list and he was satisfied that there was a generous sufficiency. The commission's checking substantiated this, for out of 3510 names presented only 267 were thrown out. This is a loss of only 8 per cent, an exceedingly low amount for such a large petition.

Lowell's Charter Troubles

Lowell's charter troubles have been many. If Plan B is accepted on Nov. 7 it will be the third instrument of government to be adopted by the city council. It is the first of the standard forms, although not unlike Plan A which is just in the offing. The present charter will not have been in vogue a year when a vote upon a new one will be registered.

While Plan B resembles the present charter, it nevertheless differs in many respects. It calls for a mayor and a city council of 15 members, as does the present one, but it leaves it with the council to set the mayor's salary by ordinance, only specifying that it shall not exceed $5000, which is the present amount. The council also sets the salary of its members, not to exceed $500. At present a councillor's pay is $300 per year.

Most Radical Change

The most radical change embodied in Plan B is the reduction in the personnel of the school committee to six members, all chosen at-large, but with the provision that the mayor shall be a member of the board and serve as its chairman.

The men who have filed the Plan B petition have specified, as was their right, that elections under the new instrument shall come annually, instead of biennially. This would mean that a mayor would be elected every year and, of course, would serve a one-year term.

Plan B provides for the mayor's veto and gives the city council the right to override it if it desires by a two-thirds vote of all of its members. Of great interest is that section of Plan B which deals with the appointment of heads of departments and members of municipal boards and commissions. Officials now serving a definite term of office complete that term before being subjected to change or re-election. All department heads and members of such boards and commissions, however, as their term of office shall expire, shall be appointed by the mayor, subject to confirmation by the council. The one exception is the city solicitor, who is a direct appointee of the mayor without confirmation.

This is a change from the present charter form, which calls for the election of a city clerk, a city treasurer and city auditor by the council, without majority approval. The board of election commissioners, now appointed by the mayor without confirmation, must go through the council under Plan B after nomination by the mayor.

Petitions With City Clerk

As soon as the election commission had completed their work yesterday they certified to City Clerk Stephen Flynn the number of valid signatures they had checked and deposited the petitions with him. A formal declaration by the clerk to the city council will follow and then it will be the duty of that body to instruct the clerk to make whatever arrangements are necessary to place the question upon the state election ballot in this city.

If Plan B is accepted by a majority of Lowell voters on Nov. 7, the charter will become operative on the first Monday in January, 1923, and must remain in effect for at least four years. This is an absolute provision of the legislative act creating the four standard charters and applies to each of the four.

If accepted, a city primary election would fall some time in November and the final election on the third Tuesday in December. If the new form is not accepted at the polls, the present charter remains in force and officials now in the service will serve out their two-year terms.

Several Contradictory Sections

From a careful study of the text of Plan B and the preceding sections that are applicable to all four charter plans, it would seem that more than one conflict will arise.

For instance, in evident contradiction to that section of the charter text which provides that all heads of departments and members of boards and commissions, except the school committee and city solicitor, shall be nominated by the mayor and confirmed by the city council, is Part 2 of Sec. 13, which says:

"The council shall, by a majority vote, elect a city clerk to hold office for the term of three years."

Again, in Sec. 47 of the act, the last section immediately preceding Part 2, which contains the texts of the four plans, the following is said:

"The provisions of any city act or of the plans of government hereinafter set forth, apply to the plan so adopted, except as is otherwise provided in such plan."

Does this mean that the provision for the election of a city clerk by the city council does not hold in fact of the language of the Plan B text, which says that all department heads shall be nominated by the mayor, subject to council confirmation?

Provision For a Primary

An originally passed by the 1915 legislature the charter act did not provide for primary elections. In fact, it specified in Sec. 16 that no primary or caucus for municipal officers shall be held, but chapter 282 of the acts of 1922 amends so as to provide for the nomination at preliminary elections of candidates for elective municipal office in cities governed under one of the four standard forms of charter.

It sets the date for such a primary election on the third Tuesday preceding a regular or special election, which would make Tuesday, Nov. 28, primary day in Lowell. If the new charter is accepted, with election day falling on Tuesday, Dec. 19.

Size of School Committee

In Sec. 31 of the general act, which applies to charter forms A, B, C, and D, is found the provision for a school committee of seven members. It reads as follows:

"The school committee shall consist of the mayor, who shall be the chairman, and six members who shall be elected at large. At the first annual city election held in any city after its adoption of one of the plans of government provided for in this act, there shall be elected two members to serve for one year, two for two years and two for three years, and annually thereafter there shall be elected two members to serve for the term of three years."

Sec. 32 provides that the school committee annually shall elect a superintendent of schools and shall appoint one of its members as vice chairman, whose duty it shall be to preside at all meetings of the committee at which the mayor is not present.

THE FULL TEXT OF PLAN B CHARTER

Plan B charter in its entirety follows:

Sec. 1—The method of city government provided for in this part shall be known as Plan B.

Sec. 2—Upon the adoption of Plan B by a city in the manner prescribed by this act, such plan shall become operative as provided in Part I hereof; and a powers of government shall be exercised as is prescribed herein and in Part 3.

Sec. 3—There shall be a mayor, elected by and from the qualified voters of the city, who shall be the chief executive officer of the city. He shall hold office for a term of two years following his election and until his successor is elected and qualified.

Sec. 4—The legislative powers of the city shall be vested in a city council. One of its members shall be elected by the council annually as its president. In cities having more than seven wards, the city council shall be composed of 15 members, one of whom shall be elected from each ward by and from the qualified voters of that ward, and the remaining members shall be elected by and from the qualified voters of the city. (When follows explanation of election in cities having seven wards or less). At the first election held in a city after its adoption of Plan B, the councillors elected from each ward shall be elected to serve for one year and those elected at large shall be elected to serve for two years, from the first Monday in January following their election and until their successors are elected and qualified; and at each annual city election thereafter the councillors elected to fill vacancies caused by the expiration of the terms of councillors shall be elected to serve for two years.

Sec. 5—All heads of departments and members of municipal boards, as their present terms of office expire, but excluding the school committee, officials appointed by the governor and judges where they are elected by vote of the people, shall be appointed by the mayor, subject to confirmation by the city council; but the city solicitor shall be appointed by the mayor without confirmation by the city council.

Sec. 6—The mayor may, with the approval of a majority of the members of the city council, remove any head of a department or member of a board before the expiration of his term of office, except members of the school committee, officials appointed by the governor and assessors, where they are elected by vote of the people. The person so removed shall receive a copy of the reasons for his removal and he may, if he desires, contest the same before the city council. He shall have the right to be represented by counsel at such hearing.

Sec. 7—The mayor shall receive for his services such salary as the city council by ordinance shall determine, not exceeding $5000 a year, and he shall receive no other compensation from the city. His salary shall not be increased or diminished during the term for which he is elected.

The council may be a two-thirds vote of all its members, taken by call of the yeas and nays, establish a salary for its members not exceeding five hundred dollars each a year. Such salary may be reduced, but no increase therein shall be made and no effect during the year in which the increase is voted.

Sec. 8—Every order, ordinance, resolution and vote relative to the affairs of the city, adopted or passed by the city council, shall be presented to the mayor for his approval. If he approves it he shall sign it; if he disapproves it he shall return it, with his objections in writing, to the city council, which shall enter his objections at large on its records and again consider it. If the city council, notwithstanding such disapproval of the ordinance, resolution or vote shall by a two-thirds vote of all the members of the city council, it shall then be in force, but such vote shall not be taken for seven days after its return to the city council. Every such order, ordinance, resolution and vote shall be in force if it is not returned by the mayor within ten days after it has been presented to him. Nothing in this section contained shall be construed as superseding or in any way affecting any provision of chapter 719 of the acts of the year 1913.

Sec. 9—As a cure for rheumatism, are having quite a vogue.

Sec. 10—The council may, by a two-thirds vote of all its members, take by call of the yeas and nays, establish a salary for its members not exceeding five hundred dollars each a year. Such salary may be reduced, but no increase therein shall be made and no effect during the year in which the increase is voted.

Sec. 11—The council may, by a two-thirds vote of all its members, take by call of the yeas and nays, establish a salary for its members not exceeding five hundred dollars each a year. Such salary may be reduced, but no increase therein shall be made and no effect during the year in which the increase is voted.

Sec. 12—The council may, by a two-thirds vote of all its members, take by call of the yeas and nays, establish a salary for its members not exceeding five hundred dollars each a year. Such salary may be reduced, but no increase therein shall be made and no effect during the year in which the increase is voted.

Sec. 13—The council may, by a two-thirds vote of all its members, take by call of the yeas and nays, establish a salary for its members not exceeding five hundred dollars each a year. Such salary may be reduced, but no increase therein shall be made and no effect during the year in which the increase is voted.

Sec. 14—The council may, by a two-thirds vote of all its members, take by call of the yeas and nays, establish a salary for its members not exceeding five hundred dollars each a year. Such salary may be reduced, but no increase therein shall be made and no effect during the year in which the increase is voted.

Just Drop In a Quarter

THIS MAY SOON BE A COMMON SCENE IN MOST ANY HOTEL TEA-ROOM. LATEST REPORTS INDICATE MISS HARRIET BERG-WOLD AND MISS ALBERTA ANDERSON, BROOKLYN, ARE SIPPING A GOLD DRINK WHILE ENJOYING A RADIO CONCERT.

By NEA Service
NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Wireless apparatus will be the newest convenience added to modern hotels in the not distant future, according to latest reports from hotel managers. As an accessory to hotel interests its possibilities are said to be almost without limit. Improvements in radio communication are coming so rapidly that hotel men say they cannot much longer do without it. Numerous hotels in various parts of the United States have already instituted radio service for their patrons. Others are falling in line.

The wireless is expected to play an important part in the entertainment of hotel guests. Plans and systems are already being evolved whereby guests may secure such entertainment as desired.

Like Arcade Machine
One of these plans is for receiving sets that operate only on deposit of a quarter—"two bits." A New York concern making such sets announces it has already received orders for 25,000 of them. The orders came chiefly from hotels and hospitals.

Desiring radio entertainment, the hotel guest or hospital patient goes through much the same performance he would get from an arcade machine. He merely drops in a quarter and the set does the rest. This for "two bits" he gets everything that comes over the "wire" for the next 12 hours. He gets concerts, jazz, baseball scores, latest news reports, weather reports and everything.

Say It Is Practical
While no definite description of this receiving set is given out, those speaking for it say it is practical. Tuning in is a matter that has to be considered.

Cost of installation is borne equally by the manufacturing company and hotel or institution where installation occurs. Likewise the profits and losses are equally divided.

More definite word on the workability of this new contraption is being awaited by the public. While most folk are ready to believe most anything as to the possibilities in radio development, yet they want to see the new ideas worked out.

WILLS TO BOX JOHNSON
NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Harry Wills, negro challenger for Jack Dempsey's heavyweight title, will box Clem Johnson, also a negro, in a 15 round contest tonight at Madison Square Garden. The New York state athletic commission sanctioned the contest after officials watched Johnson box several opponents at a specially arranged try-out.

Most Human Ills Originate In The Stomach

SCIENTISTS agree that the stomach is responsible for at least 80% of all human ills.

Indigestion is a direct result of a disordered stomach.

A torpid liver, palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, dizzy spells, back-ache, nervousness, headache, constipation, rheumatism and that tired-out, run-down, worn-out feeling are also in most cases caused by stomach troubles.

Tanlac, the world's greatest medicine, is designed to tone up the stomach so you will eat better, sleep better, feel better and work better.

That Tanlac does this is proven beyond question by the statement of hundreds of thousands who have taken it. Go to your nearest druggist.

PARIS, Sept. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—The necessity of a hastily summoned meeting of the allied ministers in Paris to consider the serious developments in the Near East, was foreseen in official circles today, following reports from Channak, that the British and Turks were nearer a clash than at any previous time. The reported determination of the new Greek government to defend eastern Thrace is also a critical factor in the situation and steps for its execution would require allied consultation on what measures the powers would be called upon to take.

THE GIRLS' DEPARTMENT OF THE LOWELL VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

Director and Her Assistants With New Accommodations Provided by City in High School Annex—Evening Classes for Women Will Open Monday

Perhaps no important branch of Lowell's school educational system has reaped more actual and direct benefits from the numerous changes that have been recorded with the opening of the school year on the Monday after Labor day, than the girls' department of the Lowell Vocational school.

This school aims to prepare the girls of Lowell and surrounding towns for life's activities and duties; to give them a training in the branches of knowledge and the trades that are most useful in the home and in gaining a livelihood.

To meet these requirements, the Vocational school system became a part of Lowell's educational system 11 years ago. In the year 1912 Miss Esther M. Downing, a young woman well equipped by education and special training for directing such a school was chosen. Today she still leads this wonderful work for the young women of tomorrow. Her leadership has provided them in every respect, and the evidence of her efficiency is always to be found in the results attained in the departments under her control.

Until the new high school annex was opened, the girls' department of the Lowell Vocational school occupied the Merritt school building on Common street, fronting on the North common. It was free to all pupils living in the state of Massachusetts, to use the phrase adopted on the announcements of the school's program of work.

With the enlargement of the high school accommodations, those school departments that had been occupying quarters in the so-called "annex" were of course transferred to the main

BUSINESS AND SALE ANNIVERSARIES

When the Gagnon Co. opened its doors this morning it marked the anniversary of its fourth year in business in this city. At the same time it opened an anniversary sale which will continue through today, tomorrow and Monday.

This store, during the three years of its life, has been among the more progressive ones of the city. Advantage has been taken of every opportunity for expansion and improvement.

Today, the new millinery department, which has replaced the old shoe department on the right hand side of the main floor marks another step towards the perfection of a system that will meet the needs of all. This new department has been carefully planned so that shopping will be facilitated to the highest degree and will give the utmost convenience to the customers of the store. The section is finished throughout in mahogany, cases, tables and fixtures all being in accordance with this finish.

The boys' clothing section in the basement has been enlarged to double its former size. The upstairs women's and children's shoe department has been moved down stairs, and is now conveniently located near the other shoe department. A new lighting system has been installed, and these departments are reached by a wide easy staircase.

AT THE CHARLES W. MOREY SCHOOL

Light refreshments will be served.

BUSINESS GOOD WITH IRENE HAT SHOP

Harry C. Koch, manager of the Irene Hat shop that recently opened at 161 Central street, is very much pleased with the success that has attended his short stay in this city.

Mr. Koch was formerly with Filene's and Ollchrich's of Boston, and is well known in the trade centres of Boston and New York. It is his policy in conducting the Irene Hat shop to take very frequent trips to New York in search of the very latest and newest styles. In this way his Central street store will have the advantage of a continually fresh stock, and the women of Lowell can feel sure that the hats they are selecting are the very latest word in style and smartness.

Several competent and experienced milliners are in attendance at the Irene Hat shop and they will be glad to give all possible help to shoppers.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies Are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful and thousands of women and men who value that even color that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe. Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance. MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Stephen Herschel Scribner and Miss Marjorie Stover were married last evening at 7 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Livingston Stover, 209 North street, the ceremony being performed by Rev. DONOVAN—Breen

One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place Wednesday afternoon at St. Mary's church, Collingsville, when Miss Helen G. Breen of Braintree became the bride of Mr. William H. Donovan of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. M. C. Gilchrist. The bride was attired in a blue traveling suit with picture hat of silver, and carried a bridal bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Ruth Cavanaugh, a niece of the bride, wore a gown of blue satin, with picture hat to match, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. The flower girl, Miss Madeline Frazier, wore a gown of blue canteen crepe, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas and lilies of the valley. Mr. Edward J. Donovan, a brother of the groom, acted as best man. After the ceremony a reception was held at the summer home of the bride and many relatives and friends from this and other cities were present. After an extended honeymoon the young couple will be at home to their friends at 159 Merchants street.

BENEFIT DANCE FOR CARSHOP STRIKERS

Over 500 people attended the benefit dance, which was conducted at Associate hall last evening for the strikers of the Boston and Maine carshops. The event was one of the most enjoyable and successful of the kind conducted under the auspices of the Federated Crafts of the carshops, and the committee in charge of arrangements were warmly congratulated for the manner in which the program was carried out. In the early part of the evening concert numbers were given by the orchestra and this was followed by general dancing. During intermission a pretty exhibition of fancy dancing was given by Jimmie Gray and Mae Sherman. The committee in charge consisted of Walter H. Chandler, chairman; Herman Guinan, Morton Vaughan, David Gilchrist and Bernard Gilbo.

SUNDAY AT THE STRAND

Drake's "Shut Up" Jazz band will be the chief vaudeville attraction at the Strand for Sunday. This organization played this theatre recently and made such a pronounced hit that a return engagement was arranged for. There will be other good vaudeville, while the picture program will be featured with the opening of the big super-special, "Rich Men's Wives," which is to have a four days' run in Lowell.

BREAD AND PEACH PUDDING
By BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH
Of Columbia University

6 slices or 12 small pieces of soft, stale bread

1 1/2 cups milk

3 eggs

1/4 cup sugar

1 teaspoon salt

1 teaspoon vanilla

8 fresh or 1 can peaches

Butter a tin mold, as is used for steamed puddings.

Beat eggs slightly, add to milk with sugar, salt and vanilla. Dip bread in the milk and line the mold with these pieces, placing a layer on the bottom of mold.

Over this place peaches, cut in quarters or eighths, adding sugar if peaches are not sweet.

Continue until material is used. Pour over all the remainder of egg and milk. Steam until custard is set.

Turn from mold and serve with any good liquid sauce or with plain or beaten cream.

A man came into this office some time ago and made the above statement. He said he had two sets of teeth and could not eat with either of them. I made him a set and he came in the office later and said they were the only ones he could keep in his mouth while eating. In fact he could chew peanuts and eat apples without the least trouble.

The reason for this is my particular method of taking impressions, study of the shape and relation of the jaws, and correct articulation of the teeth.

Now, I can make you a set of teeth just as good as his. If your plate drops or rocks come in, for I make a specialty of difficult cases and will examine your mouth and give you advice free of charge.

The price for sets of teeth is $5 up. Gold crowns $5. Fillings $20 up.

THE LAST MESSAGE OF ENTOMBED MINERS

This picture, obtained exclusively by The Sun and NEA Service, shows the only message sent to the outside world by the buried men, "3 o'clock. Gas getting strong—Fessel"; and the unfinished messages: "3:20" and "4 o'clock." Note the scratched-on message below Fessel's name—"1/2 knocked out."

The last desperate effort of the entombed miners to escape death by poison gas was a hastily erected bulkhead, the crevices stuffed with the miners' clothing. The picture, obtained exclusively by The Sun and NEA Service, shows this bulkhead with two of the rescue party examining it. It was here that 46 bodies were found.

AVIATORS DYING AT SEA ABANDONED BY BRIG

LONDON, Sept. 29.—"Below us were sharks; near the land, crocodiles. Would we float near enough to ground our inverted top hampers and signal some one ashore, or risk swimming for it? Then our hopes were shattered, for an undercurrent caught our submerged planes and fuselages, and faster than we could reach the land, we were pulled away from it. Quickly it faded and our hopes sank. We were utterly helpless and at the mercy of the wind and the tide."

The above sentences are taken from the long and thrilling narrative which records the terrible experiences of Capt. Norman Macmillan and Captain Phillips while aloft for 60 hours on a wrecked seaplane in the Bay of Bengal. They were engaged in a round-the-world flight organized by the Daily News.

"Suddenly we noticed an alteration in the trim of our craft," continues the narrative. "Round and round we plunged, water pouring over us, hanging on tooth and nail, and soaked by the repeated wash that broke completely over us. Evidently we were in a tight whorl."

Perhaps the most impressive thing in the story is Captain Macmillan's account of their abandonment by a native brig which passed near them when they were almost out of sight. "Macmillan could hear the faint instrumental music," writes Macmillan, "and the sound of the pipes playing laments in the distance. We did not mention this to each other at the time. We were each afraid of that."

"Suddenly we saw a sail away down south. Was it coming up? Yes, slowly."

"A windjammer. Soon its yards appeared. Gradually it came along. Stumbling up we could see the hull. It was all we could do to remain upright."

"We waved our distress flag, signaling the international S.O.S. The brig was coming straight for us. She must almost run us down. She could not fall to see us changing her course? Surely not, but she was."

"She turned off not half a mile away, and steadily passed us within half a mile, with two men looking at us from the poop."

"What! what inhumanity! Surely, it could not be."

"Macmillan frantically waving, slipped and fell half-overboard, cursing at his hurt, cursing the brig and her crew, and writhing."

"Standing on our rocking boat, I waved and hailed and fired pistol shots."

"But steadily she swept past, a native brig. Two men on the poop ran forward as she was abreast of us. They saw us, undoubtedly, and were possibly terrified of ghosts and visions."

"But in mercy let them never know what we felt like."

"The two aviators were rescued some hours later, by a steam launch sent out in search of them."

PREDICTS WIDE USE OF DIRIGIBLES

BELLELEVILLE, Ill., Sept. 29.—One third of the population of the United States will be flying in dirigibles in the near future, according to a prediction of A. Leo Stevens, chief instructor of aeronautics for the United States army at Scott field, near here. Mr. Stevens, in 1902, made the first dirigible flight in this country.

"The dirigibles, Mr. Stevens said, will range in size from the small 'vest pocket' type to mammoth machines carrying from 10 to 20 motors."

"The dirigibles of the future will have porticoes," he asserted, "and the water will be helpful for landing places. The machines of the future will carry from ten to twenty motors. The compartments in the large airships will be equipped with safety berths. The touching of a button by the commander will cause every passenger to descend towards earth at the same time. Each berth will have all necessary equipment for landing and floating its passengers to safety."

"The army of the future will travel through the air and it will be nothing to see a thousand or more men transported at one time in one machine. I believe it is only a matter of a short time when one-third of the population of this country will be flying all sorts of aerial contrivances, and we will have a 'vest pocket' size dirigible for those who don't care to own a large craft."

"PRIZES FOR BRY ESSAYS
CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Cash prizes totalling $150 are being offered students in the United States and Canada in an essay contest on "The World Movement Against Alcoholism."

The contest, which opened July 1 and will continue until November 1, is being conducted by the International Prohibition association. The prizes will be given winners at a conference to be held in Toronto, November 24 to 29.

Rules require that the essays deal with some aspect of the alcohol problem or with some proposed method of solution of this problem. The winner is given the opportunity to treat the subject from any viewpoint.

The essays will be graded independently by three judges, appointed by the general secretary of the association.

SIX CANDIDATES ON WET PLATFORM

DALLAS, Texas, Sept. 29.—Six of the thirty-six candidates for congress in the eighteen districts of Texas, are avowedly wet, according to officials of the Texas Anti-Saloon league.

Harry Hertzberg, fourteenth district, is the only democratic candidate definitely taking a wet stand, according to league records. The republican candidates opposing prohibition are W. W. Wilson, ninth district; W. J. Kveton, tenth district; R. A. Hendrick, eleventh; Joseph Kingsbury, Jr., twelfth, and Harry Warzbach, fourteenth.

Of the remaining democratic candidates all have taken definite dry positions with the exception of J. J. Mansueti, ninth district; J. P. Buchanan, tenth district; and John H. Garner, fifteenth.

In the republican ranks the candidates falling to state definite views on the question are J. T. Bartlett, first district; C. A. Gray, fourth; Frank R. Comper, seventh; J. E. Schmidt, thirteenth, and H. O. Ward, eighteenth.

Only in the eleventh and twelfth districts are wet and dry candidates opposing each other for office on announced issues.

B. F. KELTH'S THEATRE

The crisp interplay of conversation in "Lakes and Dikes," which Marlon Murray & Co. is producing at the B. F. Kelth theatre this week is enjoyed hugely by audiences. Edwin Burke wrote the sketch for Miss Murray, and he surely put in a lot of clever characterization, Crafts & Haley in snappy dialogue, and Ben Smith, Ringier, and monologists, are among the other headliners of the week. Other acts are Redmond & Wells, in "The Guy," Princess Winona, Italian singer, Anderson & Yvel, skaters, and Bertrall's dog and monkey actors.

"MANSLAUGHTER" COMING

There were no photographs to record the dress and customs of the day when the barbarians overthrew ancient Rome. Nevertheless, Cecil B. DeMille has produced an historically faithful reproduction of this episode in history for his latest Paramount photoplay, "Manslaughter," which comes Charles Ray in "R.S.V." to the Merrimack Square theatre for a week's engagement beginning Monday.

With Thomas Meighan and Leatrice Joy in the leading roles and no pains or expense spared to make it one of the most lavish productions in the history of the screen, the picture is due for a royal reception when it opens up Monday afternoon.

RIALTO THEATRE

"The Better Man," a Snowy Baker series, with Snowy Baker in the leading role, is the feature attraction of the Rialto theatre for the week-end, beginning this afternoon. It is a production of rare merit and is bound to please widely. On the same program is Episode four of "The Jungle God," also a Rural comedy, entitled "A Hickville Romance." The Rialto news and the review completes the bill.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Crowded houses were the rule at the Merrimack Square theatre yesterday afternoon and last evening when photoplay, "Manslaughter," which comes Charles Ray in "R.S.V." to the Merrimack Square theatre for a week's engagement beginning Monday.

three-day engagement. The other feature of an excellent program is "The Siren Call," with Dorothy Dalton.

THE STRAND

Tom Mix and Maria Prevost, two of the most popular screen stars of the present day, are filling engagements at the Strand during the week-end. Mix is seen in "The Fighting Scenic," a characterful western thriller, and Maria Prevost is seen in "The Married Flapper," a story that deals with that new brand of femininity that is so much talked of and so much misunderstood. See both and enjoy a high grade picture entertainment. There were other good features that round out a great bill.

Grief-Torn, Yet She Is "Happiest Woman"

MRS. TAMAKI MIURA

BY JOHN O'DONNELL

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—She says she is the happiest woman in the world and then tells a story of grief and domestic trouble that would give another woman cause for perpetual self-pity.

In her native land she is socially ostracized. Her family has witnessed her world-wide success without enthusiasm. Her husband's family bitterly condemns her. Her husband whom she left in Tokyo, made an unsuccessful attempt to prevent her from continuing her singing career.

Speaking slowly, as if fumbling over a pile of unfamiliar nouns and verbs, Mrs. Tamaki Miura, Japanese prima donna told how she struggled through the unhappiness of an opposition undreamed of by an American girl until she could truthfully say, "I am the happiest woman in Japan, in the whole Orient, in the wide world."

Sets Precedent

Mrs. Miura's struggle gives Japanese women a precedent. By shattering the tradition that it is a disgrace for a woman to sing anywhere except in her own home and for a husband's entertainment, she has opened a new future for her countrywomen.

And now the plump little housewife from the Orient is happy.

"When I sing in the United States, in Europe, in South America—there is a fresh happiness—something I feel when I see my audiences. If I do not have this happiness I die. I cannot joy in life—my happiness in singing has this happiness if I stay in Japan for my audiences."

and there sing only in my own house."

She cupped her two small hands.

"It is in this they wanted to put me. Shut up in a little box. My husband and my husband's family all say it is a dishonor to sing before the audiences. I must come back to Tokyo, they tell me. But you know, I can't, I really can't."

Mrs. Miura has been married for ten years, her marriage taking place two years before she made her debut in London at the farewell concert of Adeline Patti in 1914.

"What about your husband?"

"He has been very difficult. He knows how I love to sing and I told him I would come back to Japan every year. But he listens to his mother and father who believe it is a dishonor to be on the stage and so he wants me to stay at home."

"But when I made my debut I knew I could never live without the happiness of singing before an audience. That night in London I sang before the king and queen. First I sang from Bizet's opera and then two Japanese songs. Mrs. Patti kissed me after the concert."

"It was the first kiss I had ever received in my life. We do not kiss in Japan. My husband would be angry if I tried to kiss him."

"My mind is changing from Japanese to American. I like to live in America. I have placed her hand over her heart. I can't go back to Tokyo. It would mean I see my audiences. If I do not have this happiness I die. I cannot joy in life—my happiness in singing has this happiness if I stay in Japan for my audiences."

IRISH AUDITORIUM

High school freshmen will be allowed the privilege of the new Cyrus W. Irish Auditorium for the first time next Monday when assembly will be held. On this occasion the sophomores will assemble in, Coburn hall for the exercises of the day. It is probable the election of a choir leader will be held at this meeting.

Evening high school registration will close tonight. The enrollment thus far has been about equal to that of last year. Regular classes will be resumed next Monday and will continue four nights a week until Christmas and three nights a week thereafter. Academic pupils will occupy the same rooms as last year, commercial pupils will transfer from the annex to the new building, while mechanical drawing pupils will have to go back and forth because of the fact that the implements of that trade are located in the annex. The Kirk street entrances will be used by all students until the Lucy Larcom park walk is completed.

Boston Man, Back From Europe, Says Englishmen Condemn War Propaganda

Declares Winston Churchill Soon to Succeed Lloyd George as Premier

France Nearer Bankruptcy Than Germany—People in Ireland Favor Free State

BOSTON, Sept. 29.—Germany humming with industry and obtaining all the raw materials it needs through Holland, its government by no means as near bankruptcy as is generally supposed. France is actually nearer bankruptcy than Germany and dreading what may happen if the government finds itself unable to meet the interest on its internal debt. England is again at the attempt to embroil her in war at the Dardanelles and about ready to repudiate Lloyd George, Ireland, his native country, hungry for peace and bitter against the so-called irregular republicans.

This is a synopsis of the impressions gathered by Charles J. O'Malley, Boston advertising man, who with his family has just returned from a three months' tour of Europe, during which they visited 15 different countries. Mr. O'Malley and family had glimpses of Ireland, England, Scotland, Holland, Belgium, France, Germany, Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia, Austria, Italy, Switzerland and Bulgaria.

Met German Propaganda Head
With Dr. Fenlon, president of the Catholic university at Washington, he started for Constantinople early in August, but even then trouble was anticipated at the Dardanelles, and Mr. O'Malley was advised that, though he might safely venture down the Danube, he might have difficulty in getting back.

Even then, he said, it was common talk in every European capital that France was backing the Turk and England the Greeks, and that trouble was certain to eventuate.

"There is a prevalent theory," said Mr. O'Malley, "that Germany is drifting toward bankruptcy. My investigations there led me to believe that the idea is false. I met one of the most brilliant German leaders, Director Miller of the government propaganda department, and discussed the situation with him.

"Dr. Miller, by the way, was educated at Harvard, and during his student days lived at Concord."

"While Mr. Miller would not go into detail about the plans of the German government, he expressed the greatest optimism as regards Germany's rapid economic recovery. 'We are going to pay our reparations some time,' he said. 'If they would give us a five-year moratorium we would pay every dollar, because in that time we shall have the commercial world at our feet.'"

"Every factory in Germany is running full blast. Holland is Germany's open door. That country is practically owned by Germans. Raw materials from all the world are flowing into Holland, and Germany is taking them and trading for manufactured goods on a basis of brotherly barter. Meanwhile, with the low value of the mark, the Germans can undersell the world in foreign markets and establish foreign credits."

Mr. O'Malley exhibited a pocket instrument, which he bought in Germany. On one side was a combination barometer and altimeter. He said its barometrical readings were absolutely accurate when compared with the ship's barometer crossing the Atlantic. He tested the altimeter going through the Simplon Pass and on the Jungfrau in Switzerland and found this also to be accurate. On the other side of the instrument was a combination thermometer and compass. In Switzerland he met a British naval officer who controls all purchases of scientific instruments for the British navy. The officer told him he had just placed an order for $5,000 worth of the instrument in Germany. The Germans, he said, were the only people who knew how to make them.

"The steady industrial advancement of Germany will save her from bankruptcy," said Mr. O'Malley. "In my mind and in the opinion of those with whom I talked in France and England, Germany is laughing at the world. If she ever pays, it will be in her own good time."

French Borrowing Vast Sums

"It seemed to me that France was in worse condition. The government has issued to her citizens many millions of notes of 100, 500 and 1000 denominations. They are much like our Liberty bonds. But they pass for currency. In June, France was able to pay 4 percent interest on these internal loans."

"But when I was in Paris, Sept. 1, I talked with a prominent American economist at the French capital, and he told me that in his opinion the French government is nearer bankruptcy than the Germans. He predicted that the government will soon be unable to meet the interest on its internal debt, and when repudiation occurs there will be a revolution in France. He was most emphatic in his fears."

"I found public opinion in England engaged entirely by the Dardanelles situation. I could hardly find an Englishman who did not condemn the war propaganda. It seemed to me that everybody in England was bitterly opposed to another war."

"I met several members of parliament, and they told me that they didn't care what the Turks did to the Greeks or the Greeks to the Turks; they are sick and tired of war. There is a good deal of unemployment, poverty and unrest in England."

"I don't believe there is a man in England who could raise 200,000 volunteers; I doubt if anyone could raise 20,000. The English people wouldn't stand for it."

"It might be interesting to note that one of the wisecracks in the house of commons told me the other day that Winston Churchill will be the next premier, and that Lloyd George will hardly survive the present crisis. He's a great opportunist, but I believe Churchill is a greater one."

Insurgents Fleeing From Ireland
"On the way home we stopped at Queenstown (Cobh), where quite a number of young men who had been fighting in the Irish Republican Republic army came aboard the Pittsburg and embarked for America. These young men landed in Boston. I talked with several of them on the way over, and they admitted that the insurgent movement against the Free State is practically dead. They also told me they were leaving Ireland for their own good as well as their country's."

"It was my second glimpse of Ireland on this trip. I landed in Ireland at the very outset, before visiting England and the Continent.
"We landed then at Cork and went up to Dublin, touring through Cork, Kerry, Limerick, Clare, Galway, Mayo, Roscommon, Leitrim, Meath, West Meath, Kildare and arriving in Dublin the day after the Four Courts were blown up."

"I was born in Mayo, and have always been a republican. My sentiments have always been thoroughly in favor of a republic in Ireland. But after I had visited Ireland I was ready to qualify my views. If I were a leader of the republican irregular forces in Ireland today, I would strenuously advocate a policy of giving the Free State a chance to function."

"I would enter their councils in a friendly way and oppose any theory that I considered antagonistic to the people of Ireland. If that course were followed, I believe in time Ireland would attain a greater degree of independence than is offered to the Free State. I think such a policy would bring in the North of Ireland, make friends with England, and make Ireland free, prosperous and happy."

"Many of the Free State leaders are friends of mine. They have a broad outlook on life. They are men of experience and honest. I think they ought to be given a chance. I believe the common-sense of Ireland will assert itself in the near future."

Talked With Collins
"From my own personal experience I am sure that 90 per cent of the people of Ireland want peace, and are in favor of trying out the existing government. I think that I must have been about the last American who saw poor Collins alive. I met him in Leicester House in Dublin and had a half hour's interview with him just before his departure on that fatal trip to the south."

"He told me he was going south to save the irregulars from themselves. His intention was to take the guns away from those boys, and let them go free, freeing those in jail also. He told me he was overwhelmed by the thought of Irishmen killing Irishmen. He said that in the words of Lincoln he believed in 'malice towards none, charity for all.'"

"To my way of thinking, he was one of the greatest of the Irish race."

ARRESTED FOR THE FITCHBURG POLICE

Three Lowell men were last night arrested in connection with the theft and burning of an auto stolen from Fitchburg recently and a day or two later destroyed in Westford. They are Mathias Nicopolis, Charles Pappas and Nicholas Sporous. They were booked on charges of larceny and taken to Fitchburg early this morning.

Quite a bit of credit is due the local force for the manner in which it rounded up the three men. An inspector from the Fitchburg force came here yesterday morning with but a faint clue as to the identity of one of the men. Capt. Peter Scott, Kennedy and Officers Moore and Noonan worked on the case all day and it was not until early this morning they made the arrests.

It is thought the destroying of the car was part of a scheme to defraud a Fitchburg insurance company. The car was found off the Concord road in Westford completely stripped of all its movable parts.

STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE
Mrs. Aldina Santos, of 59 Court street, was struck by an automobile in Gorham street yesterday and sustained slight injuries, which were treated at the hospital.

FEDERATION APPROVES DECISION TO SIKI

PARIS, Sept. 29. (By the Associated Press).—The French boxing federation last night, in settling the controversy over the outcome of the bout between Battling Siki and Georges Carpentier, simply approved the judges' decision, awarding the fight to Siki because Carpentier was "hors de combat."

The earnest plea of Francois Descamps, manager of Carpentier for the addition of the phrase "through injury" was denied to avoid placing the defeat on record as being due simply to Siki putting away his man in the customary manner. The committee listened for three hours to oratory that at times became heated and which ended with the declaration that he would have to stand man, as to why Victor Drayer, organizer of the fight; Harry Bernstein, one correspondent for Drayer's sporting newspaper, were the officials of the fight. This unanswered question produced an instant chill and the meeting soon adjourned.

Descamps voiced a reconsidered view, saying he had no protest to make and admitting that Carpentier was beaten, and thoroughly beaten, by Siki. He said it was absolutely untrue that Carpentier did not try to win in the first and second rounds. He tried but could not. He added that Georges broke his left thumb in the second round on Siki's head. Others, however, reminded the manager that both he and Carpentier had previously asserted Georges did not do his best. Bernstein, as the referee, attempted to have his signature withdrawn from the fight decision, saying he did not know what he had signed, but the federation ruled he would have to stand by it.

THE BUILDING CODE REVISION COMMITTEE

The Building Code Revision committee of the chamber of commerce has practically completed its work and will meet in the near future to present its recommendations to the directors of the chamber. As Fred C. Church, chairman of the fire prevention division, is out of town at present, the report of that sub-committee is not yet completed. The directors will submit the committee's recommendations to the city council at a future meeting of that body.

The chamber of commerce monthly bulletin will probably be out tomorrow. This month's pamphlet contains some very interesting reading, and, as in the past, will prove enlightening to the several members.

Stillman Denied Divorce

defendant herein (Mrs. Stillman) and find the charge of adultery as to the said 'Helen' and 'Clara' not proved."

Two of the banker's attorneys, Col. William Rand and Outerbridge Horsey, waiting to hear the decision in Mr. Gleason's office at Poughkeepsie, declined to say whether they intended to appeal from the referee's findings.

The referee held that Mr. Stillman had failed to overcome the presumption of legitimacy, which is one of the strongest known to the law and which "cannot be overturned except by evidence which is strong."

On the other hand, the report found the proof of Mrs. Stillman's recriminating charges that her husband had seduced and maintained Florence H. Leeds as his wife and that she had given birth to two children "recognized by him" had been "so overwhelming and convincing that the referee's attorneys frankly stated to the referee that no denial would be made of these charges."

The referee wrote that the testimony adduced by Mr. Stillman in support of his charges that Mrs. Stillman had conducted herself with great dissipation, in part Indian guide, altered by the banker to be the father of little Guy Stillman, "uncontradicted and unexplained," was sufficient to justify him (Stillman) in believing Mrs. Stillman guilty of the charges made against her.

"A careful examination, however, of all the testimony," said his report, "has shaken my faith and belief in the testimony of the witnesses called in the plaintiff's behalf."

Mrs. Stillman, the referee held, not only offered evidence tending to establish the truth and falsity of the evidence of misconduct by her and her sons, but also presented evidence tending to show that, as sons of Mr. Stillman offered inducements of money and position to witnesses who would testify that his wife had misbehaved with the Indian guide.

In conclusion, it was recommended that the plaintiff's complaint should be dismissed.

The referee's report, upon motion by either side, will go to Supreme Court Justice Morschauer for confirmation or rejection. It is expected that Justice Morschauer will uphold the findings of Mr. Gleason.

Through his brother's victory, Guy Stillman retains his rights as an heir with his two brothers and his sister to the $5,000,000 trust fund created for them by their grandfather, the late James Stillman.

Counsel Refuses to Talk

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Cornell J. Sullivan, counsel for James A. Stillman, declined today to comment on the report of Referee Gleason filed in Carmel, recommending denial of his suit for divorce from Mrs. Anne H. Stillman until he had seen a copy of the referee's report. He would not say whether or not an appeal would be taken from the decision, which also declared Baby Guy Stillman legitimate.

He said Mr. Stillman was in New York city but asserted he was sure Mr. Stillman would have nothing to say at this time.

First Street Construction

pletion hinges entirely upon this particular part of the work.

One hundred or more feet below the grade of the road, gangs of men now are at work pouring the culvert foundations. It is a precarious and slow work, however, for it is below water level and pumps are worked continuously to carry off seepage. Huge protection boxes of wood have been built at the bottom of the gulch and into these the foundations are being set.

Considerable filling also will be necessary to bring this section of the road up to grade and at the present time a steam shovel is dropping tons of gravel into the hole. Once the culvert is out of the way, the builders will have easy sailing to First street where the connection will be made about opposite Reed street.

The lower end of the road is practically completed. The link with the state road already has been established about opposite the old car barns and a smooth highway, 27 feet wide, of bituminous macadam follows the riverbank to a point where the oval property begins. In fact, the completed road is only a short distance from the culvert and will be up to it within a few days.

Of particular interest in the culvert part of the job is the dam of bags of sand that has been thrown up for a distance of 50 feet at the river's edge to keep the water from pouring into the gully where the culvert is being built.

This culvert, by the way, has caused no little discussion. When the idea of a new road first was considered the question of proper covering and protection for the city water mains was subjected to a great deal of controversy. It was the contention of some that a culvert was needed, while others said it was not needed and would be only a waste of money. The idea of a culvert prevailed, however, and one is being built.

One cannot walk over the job now and fail to be impressed by the possibilities for the future. Between the new road and First street there is a high and steep banking, now the property of the city park department. Its development will be watched with interest, for it embraces countless opportunities for embellishment. Probably no attempt would be made to transform it into a split and span park area, but without a great deal of work it could be transformed into a park reservation, semi-wild in aspect.

MILLINERY CLASS

Middlesex county bureau officials in charge of Home Economics instruction schools throughout the state were in Chelmsford all day yesterday conducting a millinery class for the women of the town at the town hall. Miss Hendry, county agent, was in charge and instruction was given by Mrs. Draper and Miss Peterson.

The work was interesting from beginning to end, the leaders bringing small pattern hats in various styles and shapes used as models for the work. A basket luncheon was served at noon. Fifteen women completed hats before the day was over.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 10, when a permanent organization may be made.

LOWELL MAN WINS PACKARD CAR

Roderick Cavanaugh of 555 Broadway and employed at Daly's market in Broadway, was agreeably surprised when he received word that he had won the Packard touring car, which was drawn under the auspices of the Brockton council of the Knights of Columbus last Tuesday night.

Mr. Cavanaugh had purchased a 25-cent ticket in the drawing contest, the ticket bearing the number 18176 Lot B, but at that time he never thought that his ticket would be the winner. The contest was brought to a close in the rooms of the Brockton council and it was a three-year-old tot who drew out the lucky ticket. Mr. Cavanaugh is receiving the congratulations of his many friends.

AS TO CITY PLANNING

We have heard considerable within the past few days of city planning, the need of a more systematic arrangement of our public thoroughfares, and a general plan of public improvements. That our streets are irregular and without indication of any original plan is obvious to the most superficial observer; but they are there and we cannot tear them up and reconstruct them except in spots where public convenience and necessity make a change imperative.

Unfortunately, for very many years in the past, the chief aim in laying out a great many of our streets was to give frontage to certain parcels of real estate and thus enhance their value to the owners. That, however, has not been the custom lately, but where real estate operators purchase a tract of land and divide it up into plots for building purposes, they lay out the streets to suit their own taste, and usually quite economically as to width, the aim being to make the abutting land as valuable as possible. In such cases, there are no wide streets and none that have due relation as to symmetry and direction to the older streets in the vicinity. This explains why our streets show no plan and no regularity of direction. Is it any wonder that the majority of our streets are so narrow, that some new connecting and intersecting streets are needed in certain parts of the city to relieve congestion of traffic?

It is not at all strange that anybody who has visited modern and well planned cities should designate our streets as irregular and without system. Other cities are equally open to criticism in this respect and some of them even much more so; but there is practically no remedy except in rare cases as where the construction of a new street might offer a shorter cut to certain points that can now be reached only in a roundabout way. Again, where there is great traffic congestion on any street, the construction of a parallel street with easy connection would furnish relief. We have several cases of this kind in Lowell and yet this is perhaps one of the least important phases of city planning as now under discussion by the Chamber of Commerce and the city council.

Although a planning board has been nominated by the mayor, it has not been confirmed because the ordinance under which it was named was found to be defective. Therefore we have not as yet the luxury of a planning board and whether such a body can accomplish anything is yet problematical. The suggestions given out by one of the gentlemen nominated for the planning board include a great number of improvements, many of which have not yet come within the range of feasibility.

It would be well, however, to have a planning board that would devote itself to the work of laying down a system of public improvements to be developed as the resources of the city will permit. Unfortunately it has often happened that a plan of street work adopted by one city government would be reversed and in part undone by the succeeding government. With the revolution brought by the general use of the automobile, all new public streets and thoroughfares should be laid out on a grand scale as to width and regularity, rather than following the style in vogue, say fifty years ago. Moreover, the auto has become so common at the present time that the need of expansion outward should offer an impetus to annexation so as to afford more room at a reasonable expense. This would help to relieve the housing problem by reducing rents and overcoming congestion around the business centre.

UPRISING IN GREECE

King Constantine of Greece has abdicated in favor of his son, but his wishes in this respect are not likely to have much weight with the Greek people in their present temper. Constantine has been a failure in every respect and he has brought defeat and humiliation on Greece. He was first dethroned in June, 1917, through the influence of the allies. Venizelos was placed in power as premier practically at the dictation of the allies. He was the leading statesman of Greece and had been allowed to remain at the head of the government, Greece would be in a different position today. Although Greece did not take a very active part in the world war, on the side of the allies, yet Venizelos pushed a great bargain at the conference table in behalf of his country and secured vast gains of territory.

It was understood that Greece was to conduct a military campaign in Asia Minor. The people tired of the campaign and when an election came, they voted Venizelos out of office. The king's party then came into control and Constantine was recalled to the throne. The king then proceeded with the war in pursuance of the dream of a Byzantine empire. It need not now be mentioned how utterly he failed in the conflict with the Turks. He has been responsible for the Turks coming back into Europe at a time when the allies are unprepared to meet them with military force.

A revolution is on in Greece and the probability is that a republic will be established with Venizelos at its head.

THE BANK LEAGUERS

Reports from the 31th annual convention of the Massachusetts Co-operative Bank league, which completed a very successful series of business meetings in Fitchburg last Saturday, indicate real prosperity ahead for the leaguers everywhere. The new president, Charles B. Bethune of Lynn, is widely known and his choice was one that pleased the bank league members in every way. Mr. Bethune succeeds James H. Clark of Westfield, who also deserves mention at this time for his splendid service on last year's board.

We are sorry the league was not able to pick Lowell as the site for next year's convention, but how once more to the hustlers down in New Bedford, who "take the prize." Possibly Lowell will be prepared to capture the honor in 1924.

In the meantime, Lowell is now equipped for the reception of large convention delegations as far as halls are concerned, and if reports are true, the hotel question will be settled to the satisfaction of all our citizens and visiting friends in the near future.

NEW LAW FOR WOMEN

The first woman to take advantage of the law just passed by congress, providing that a married woman's citizenship no longer follows that of her husband, but giving her the privilege of becoming naturalized regardless of her husband's status, was in court in the federal building in Boston this week.

The new law gives special relief, according to naturalization experts, to many American women among others, who have become the wives of aliens, thereby losing their own American citizenship. Now a woman in this class may simply file her petition to be naturalized, complying with the usual requirements, but she does not have to make any declaration of intention, and only one year's residence is necessary, either in the United States or in Hawaii, Alaska or Porto Rico.

The law specifies further that women citizens of the United States who marry aliens, after the passage of the act, shall not cease to be citizens, unless they shall make formal renunciation of their citizenship before a court having jurisdiction.

One exception is made, however, to this. Any woman who marries an alien who is himself ineligible to become an American citizen shall cease to be a citizen.

We are informed that the local street railway officials are looking over their storm-battling outfits with the usual foreboding and deep thought. But you must admit that the Lowell traffic men did a heroic job last winter considering the meager equipment and lack of advance storm warnings.

Lowell horsemen are taking a deeper interest in the product, training and tending of good horse flesh, than ever before. Witness those all summer meetings in various parts of New England and New York state, with Lowell horses on many of the leading cards!

The drought killed many boll-woolies, but the red spiders and the blight are now working havoc in many plantation circles, so don't expect the price of cotton goods to come down much until the millennium days some distant away.

The most amazing machine in the collection at the Billerica car shops is called an oxygraph, but that hasn't anything to do with the wage cuts, of course.

Our neighborly city, Lawrence, hosts of a wide-awake girls' organization popularly known as "The Question Club." Do the members pay special attention to popping the question?

While you are figuring up wasted energy statistics, don't overlook the man who attempts to skip his fluster by that Merrimack square traffic officer without permission.

The exhibit of farm produce at Liberty hall was highly interesting and should bring additional trade to the exhibitors.

And to think that only about a year ago we didn't know whether the old coal bin was going to be big enough to hold it all!

The Turks will not force war if they can get what they want without war—and they can.

Why not put Sutton Wilson on the pension list?

We salute you, Captain Reilly!

SEEN AND HEARD

Red tape is still fashionable in some of our best little municipal circles.

England still loves us. You can't get in over there without a mass of visas and character certificates.

Fashion sets says linen frocks are now trimmed with scallops. We know the dress experts would make in the ocean family for decorative purposes sometime.

A psychopathic report says the majority of highwaymen are mentally defective. Now we know what to call the lad who charged us $1.50 to park our car at the Grotton fair.

A Thought

Wonderous is the strength of cheerfulness, although past calculation its powers of endurance.—Thomas Carlyle.

A Wary Landowner

"Some day your boy Josh will own the old place," "Yes," replied Farmer Corntossel, "but I figure whether I'll make him happy. It seems to me he'd have more time for rest and comfort if he could just qualify as a farmhand and draw regular wages without no argument."—Washington Star.

Silly Customer

Samson, the country tailor, visited a large wholesale warehouse in the city and ordered a quantity of suitings. He was received cordially and was shown over the establishment. Seeing the telephone, he asked if he might speak to the shipping department. "Why, certainly," he was told. The visitor took up the speaking tube. "Are Samson's goods shipped yet?" he asked. The office clerk, supposing that the speaker was a salesman, replied that speaker was a salesman, replied that speaker was a salesman. He looks like a silly customer.

Sorry She Spoke

A woman leaned over the porch railing and addressed her neighbor. "A family has moved into the empty house across the way. Mrs. Jones?" "Yes, I know." "Did you notice their furniture?" "Not particularly." "I wouldn't give a $20 bill for the lot. Carpets I wouldn't put in my kitchen. And the children? I won't allow mine to associate with them. The mother looks as if she had never known a day's happiness in her life. The father drinks. I expect. Too bad that such people should come into the neighborhood. I wonder who they are?" "I don't know." "Do you? Well, I declare! Who are they?" "The woman is my sister."

Today's Word

Today's word is—alomb. Generally it's pronounced—al-um, with accent on the second syllable; but strictly speaking, the word being French, the two syllables should be accented alike. The second one should finish with a sound somewhere between "ah," "n," and "ng," a nasal vowel sound. Webster gives it as "a-lum," with the first syllable accented, but the second more heavily so. It comes from French "al," and "alum," both meaning "light." Literally, it means—periphrastically, but ordinarily has the sense of "assurance of man's self-possession." It's used like this—"Kemal Pasha's alomb in his dealings with the allies doubtless is due, in great measure, to his assurance of French and Italian sympathy with Turkey's claims."

Snores

I like to lie awake at night
And hear my family snore;
They produce all sorts of noises,
From a snore to a roar.
I can hear them sleep and snore
With the doors all open wide
And I know they're snoring
And no evil can betide.

Grandmother murmurs gently
As she lulls one old-school bred,
But daddy snores and grunts and roars
As though he'd lost his head.
Dear Betty giggles sweetly
Like the tinkling of bells,
But check on baby pillow
Lovely display of curls.

Little brother rambles freely
And emits a hissing sound
Keen scent of the python
That the famed Swiss family Found.

And I listen to that chorus
That is sweeter to me far
Than the warbling of Scotti
Or a Geraldine Farrar.

But hark, a distant rattle
Comes from some third-floor nook;
By Morpheus, it's another snore,
It must be our new cook.
Really, this is a snore too much.
Some snore are to be snored now;
I will not stand an alien snore.
I'll send her off tomorrow.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Regardless of whether the "57 varieties" of suggestions made by the so-called planning board are official or otherwise, Postmaster DeLisle is heartily in accord with the second in the long list which calls for the erection of a new general postoffice. The amount of mail accumulating at the postoffice has grown so great that the facilities in the present building are entirely inadequate to cope with the situation. The postmaster says that with a new building and up-to-date equipment the postal service in Lowell could be speeded up greatly and give better service to the people of the city. Another big disadvantage of the present building is that there are no suitable quarters because of lack of space, where the men may enjoy a bit of recreation in their spare moments. At certain hours during the day the men have to sit off. This period is called the "awling" hour, when they could enjoy a game of checkers or cards, or when they might eat their lunch and enjoy a smoke, but it is impossible to set aside suitable room for such a purpose because of the overcrowded condition of the postoffice. With a new building this could be attended to and the service would likewise be greatly improved because of increased floor space and better equipment.

Augustine McCarthy, gunner's mate, 1st class, U.S.N., recently appointed to the staff of the local recruiting station, in a letter to his wife, dated once, 15 of which have been spent in the service of Uncle Sam. He has traversed the seas of five continents, partaken of thrilling escapades and is today as far removed from Davy Jones' locker as the grasses of the world. McCarthy once lived in Lowell but the call of the sea and the ocean breeze proved an irresistible temptation and the gunner's mate fell into temptation. A sailor is best known by the tales he tells and the following interesting recital of a gosh crossing the equator contains, according to the author, more truth than poetry and will, no doubt, prove instructive and enlightening to prospective standard-bearers of America's proud navy. In which a sailor tells of a sailor and 12 crosses the equator. Let to the local recruiter's narrative:

"Before leaving for Penn and during our stay in Panama, a few of the 'ancient mariners' assembled together all U.S.S. Delaware men who had been in the service of the U.S. Navy. I could be mustered and with 1000 goads and we had a big task ahead and we realized it well. The men were aware that there was something in the wind and anticipated the coming of a new era. Some of the men could not see how they could withstand the horrors if all told to them were true. It was the chief topic of conversation before 'turning in' at night and upon rising in the morning and if an old man of war happened along you just had to ask him for a consolation. In fact it was his duty to increase the tension. Now the old time custom of crossing the equator is always carried out on a United States warship and one of the features of the program is the clipping of the ears of the recruits. The night before the ship crosses the line, a voice is heard in the distance just off the bow. The officer of the deck answers the voice and finds that he is talking to no less a personage than Old Man Davy Jones, secretary to His Majesty, Neptune. The ship is stopped and a searchlight turned on the prow of the ship, reveals Davy walking aft. All hands make a passage-way for Mr. Jones and an officer escorts him to the bridge where he is met by the captain. Davy tells the captain in secret to him by Neptune's irex and that he will be aboard his ship together with his royal court and summons all men before him who have not crossed the equator. No distinction is made between officers and enlisted men. In fact the chaplain came in for his share of abuse, being charged with leading six days a week and disturbing the crew on the seventh. The barbering process is then undertaken and the victims, shaved, ducked and intimidated. The latter used in shaving is recommended to all barbers, sailors and the like. It is made up of the following ingredients: heavy machine oil, grease, graphite, molasses and other tenacious luxuries. By the time this part of the fun has concluded, practically every Delaware shipman had 'crossed the equator and survived.'"

Such is life on the ocean waves, explained the gunner's mate as all work and no play doesn't appeal to the best of men. The navy is still open for enlistments and the local recruiters will be stationed in the Fairburn building for another month at least, ready and willing to ship Lowell boys "across the equator."

When the girls come to the Vocational school, on the opening day, as they did a short time ago, the majority of them do not know anything at all about sewing. For this reason the course starts with making the simplest things such as table towels, which are later used by the girls in their work in the school kitchen.

With the new quarters now open for the future conduct of the Vocational school for girls, plans are in the making for many new features that will increase the value of this educational course and benefit to an even greater extent those pupils who study there in order to enable them to prepare themselves fully for life's commonest activities.

About 50 Per Cent Finish

Not all of the pupils who enter the Vocational school complete the two years' course. The average is about 50 per cent. And yet every bit of the work they perform while there helps them in the years to come, no matter whether the full course is completed or the pupil remains only one year or one term. Naturally, it is desired to have the pupils take the full course to the end.

POSSIBILITIES

If a lap-dog were big as a pachyderm,
And an elephant small as a dog,
'Twould be unusual, I affirm,
And we would be all agog.
But after a little while, I'll bet
The matter would cease toirk us,
We'd keep the elephant as a pet,
And send the dog to the circus.

If a horse should shrink to the size of a mouse,
And a mouse grow large as a horse,
There wouldn't be room for the mice in the house
(You follow my thought of course),
So we'd h'd the mice to the sulky plow—
They'd take it to it, by degrees—
And day by day we would worry how
To keep the horse from the cheese.

If a flea should grow to the size of a man,
And a man grow small as a flea,
Why, life would be on a different plan
From what it used to be;
For the man would hop and the man would bite,
And the flea would have to chase him,
Swatting the air with all his might,
Endeavoring to efface him!

Should any such things as these occur
We certainly would deplore them,
But if they happened, I must aver
We ought to be ready for them!

various large school rooms by members of the boys' Vocational school.

Beautiful screens have been made for various instruction rooms for these girls' quarters—all manufactured in the boys' carpentry shops in expert fashion. Accuracy and strict attention to detail is the rule.

The school supervisors are to have an attractive lunchroom all their own.

The faculty of 10 will be watched upon by girl students, who will perform all the work of preparing, serving, etc. the menus outlined.

The newly modeled kitchens contain all the latest equipments such as large gas ranges, a coal stove, refrigerator, plate sinks, a fireless cooker, etc.

There is a music room being prepared with the advent of a handsome new upright piano of sterling make, already the joy of the school girls and their leaders.

Accommodations Appreciated

That the director of this girls' Vocational school and her capable assistants are delighted with the new accommodations provided by the city in the high school annex, goes without saying. Tremendously pleased, in fact, are all those who take such a deep interest in this work and exert themselves to see that the work shall not be retarded.

The evening classes for women are to open next Monday. Registration is now going rapidly on. Last year more than 200 women of Lowell and vicinity took the vocational studies in dressmaking, millinery, home nursing, embroidery and cooking, and it is believed that the 13 busy centers of this educational work will find fully that number enrolled this year. There are to be 35 teachers for this desirable work. Two sessions are to be held each week from 7 to 9 p. m. one group studying on Monday and Thursday nights, the other on Tuesday and Friday nights.

Valentino Kissed Her, But She Didn't Fall for Him!

ARTIST R. J. SCOTT'S CONCEPTION OF NITA NALDI. SKETCH FROM LIFE.

By JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Fall for Valentino? I should say not!
This is from a girl who has been held in tight embrace by him, whose lips have met his, whose arms have been flung about his neck.
"Why should I fall for him?" she asked. "Down in Little Italy" when I was a kid I knew a hundred boys who were better looking than Ruddy is. You can find plenty of them today on the corners of Bleecker street who have better features than Ruddy."
The girl is Nita Naldi. The embraces and kisses were for "Blood and Sand." But they were not ordinary acting emotions.
"Valentino is the most sincere actor I know," Nita told me. "He lives his part, even in the love scenes. More than once Fred Niblo, the director, would call 'That's far enough, Ruddy! Don't get too rough!' And she didn't fall for that sort of love-making by a man in whose arms countless thousands of fair movie fans have visioned themselves.

Nita Naldi calls a spade a spade. Her frankness is refreshing. Here are just a few of the things that she told me about herself in a casual conversation:
She's 23.
She never wears corsets.
She tells casting directors she's five

ADAMS HARDWARE CO. HOLDS ANNUAL OUTING

The second annual outing of the men and women employees of the Adams Hardware & Paint company, held at Golden Cove park yesterday afternoon was a joyous success from start to finish.

Transportation facilities were adequate for the several dozen members and invited guests. The park picnic grounds and athletic field were in excellent condition for the interesting programs of sports, contests of strength and exciting field day events.

Of course everybody who had anything to do with the Adams concern was there, bright and early, and remained until the sun went down.

President George H. Runels, with Mrs. Runels of course, led the procession to the Cove. Mr. and Mrs. John Lyson, the former in charge of the hardware department of the big store, were right behind the Runels transportation car, and Roger Stage, chairman of about everything entertaining in the way of amusements, was in the procession, eager to sponsor the sports program and look after all camera who might lose their way getting to the race track park.

The outing fans of both sexes enjoyed the track racing on the famous Cove "half-mile." There was a merry dog carted with Jockey Lewis Clark of the roll top desk and hard price schedule leading the way with 11-year-old Sembah against Arnold Ryan and his nine-year-old traveler, Mary V. Clark won the first heat in fair time, Ryan nosing in for the second. The third went to Clark again, but only after a mad scramble that made the outing fans cheer lustily.

An old-time chicken dinner, Maryland style, and all the fixings, started the main program, with Harvey up, Wives took charge of the proceedings about this time, of course, and the boys of the Middlesex sales department had to clean up everything set before them, when they did, according to custom.

The three-legged race (mixed, so-called) was won by "Gladys Sam" Cady and Miss Annie Morkie, Mrs. Runels won the croquet tournament and Mrs. Roth easily captured the newspaper contest. A stirring pillow fight, with honors nearly even for ten minutes, was finally won by Prof. Alex Hattenberg, D. C., and R. T. Alex had the punch that won.

Three prizes were awarded to the winners of each event. Clark got a bag of oats for his jogging old Sembah in front of the Ryan tidbit.

The baseball game of 15 innings, went Morkie way with the score 25 to Morkie's 21. "Tim" Rock, dandy of the imitation ball-tossers, disappeared shortly before the close of the eleventh.

In His 31st Year as Football Coach

JOHN W. H. EISMAN

College football coaches are much like major league baseball managers. They come and go, and pass out forever.

Head Coach John W. H. Eisman of the University of Pennsylvania football team is a notable exception so far as the pass out part of the program is concerned.

Eisman unquestionably holds the world's record for professional longevity. This season at Penn will mark his 31st year as a football coach.

This record is unique. For Warner, now coaching at Pittsburgh, Alonzo Stagg at Chicago and Dr. Williams, formerly at Minnesota, are Eisman's closest rivals. All of them have coached 25 years or more.

His College Career
Eisman got his first experience as a college player at Brown university, and later entered the University of Pennsylvania. He played left tackle on the Pennsylvania team of 1890 and left end on the 1891 eleven, one of the greatest teams Penn ever turned out.

Eisman's first experience as a coach was in Oberlin college in Ohio. That was in 1892. His team won eight straight games, including a victory over the University of Michigan, which boasted a great eleven that year.

Work in the South

It was in the south, however, that Eisman achieved his greatest success. He coached four years at Clemson college and put that institution on the football map in 1902. He won the southern championship for Clemson in four years his teams lost only three games.

His work at Clemson caused him to be the most sought after coach in the south.

Eisman went to Georgia Tech in 1905 and remained there 15 years as head football coach.

They Took Notice
In 1917 the Georgia Tech eleven defeated Pennsylvania, 41 to 0. That game caused Penn officials to take notice of Eisman's coaching work.

Eisman came to Penn in 1920. He has met with little success in his first two years, but with the good material on hand he hopes to put Penn ahead in football with a vengeance. Penn is waiting to be shown.

courage, make the American player the outstanding figure of the tennis world.

"Then there is another thing about the American player that makes him hard to beat," continued Alonzo, "he is constantly shifting his style of play, which naturally bewilders his opponent."

"In Europe, especially in England, the baseline game in the popular one is the old-fashioned style, not spectacular, yet highly scientific. The French players are more like the Americans."

"If the American player is not doing so well with a certain style of play he shifts. He is always on the aggressive, and in chance is too difficult for him to take. That is a hard combination to beat."

"Another thing that amazes me about Alonzo's tennis is the abundance of good players," the Spaniard went on. "I venture to say that any one of the first 20 ranking players could go to Europe and make things decidedly interesting for the crack players there."

"Then is one of the most remarkable players I have ever seen," Alonzo concluded. "I have studied his style carefully and have not been able to discern a single weakness. As you say in America, an American player has everything."

WHAT LOSS OF PLAYER MISPLAYS DECIDED LAST YEAR'S SERIES MAY MEAN IN SERIES

This is the sixth of seven articles written for The Sun by Eddie Collins—of the Chicago White Sox. Collins has played in more world series games than any other major league player.

By EDDIE COLLINS
World's Greatest Second Baseman

While trying to figure out the dope on the chances of the Giants or Yankees being the 1923 world series champion, the thought occurred to me, how much of an upset in the calculations would the loss through injury of a man like Kelly, from the Giants, or Pipp from the Yankees lineup mean? Rather odd, but a fact nevertheless, that just previous to great many world series, some member of one of the contending teams has been rendered hors de combat.

As far back as 1905, Rube Waddell was incapacitated far as baseball was concerned, in a friendly rough-and-tumble straw hat breaking affair. Gosman took a forced lead, and was sent from one of the Detroit-Cub affairs, in 1907 or '08.

Johnny Evers broke a leg just previous to the 1910 Cub-Athletics series. Stuffy McInnis, Rube Oldring, Fred Merkle, Red Smith, Jack Barry, the late Ray Chapman and Babe Ruth are other notable casualties who were forced out of whole or part of world series because of injuries. And in the majority of cases the absentees were members of the losing team.

Teamwork Counts

What of it, then, this? The success of every championship team, I believe, is due primarily to teamwork.

There are lots of good ball teams where teamwork is not so evident, but very few championships are won without it.

I know that the absolute harmonious cooperation of the Athletics was the secret of their success from 1903 to 1914.

A good ball team might be likened to a well-oiled piece of machinery. The various players represent the cogs. Failure to justify, loading, or otherwise not putting forth one's best efforts to win, is apt to throw the whole machine out of gear, and spill the works. Just so, take out one of the important cogs, and the effectiveness of your machine is impaired. It happens occasionally but not often that the substitute shines even better than the regular. One instance, George Roche, White Sox who substituted for Lee Tannehill, was the series star in 1906.

The loss of one of the regulars from the lineup of a world series contending team is not only an actual loss, but is very apt to have an important psychological effect as well.

Doubt Arises
Confidence has a big part in a team's success. Shake this confidence by the removal of one of the tried members and the thought arises: "Will so-and-so be able to fill his shoes?" There is an exciting doubt, and as this doubt continues, confidence ebbs with the one team, and grows with the opponents.

The threat that a man like Ruth must always carry for the opposition cannot be made as formidable by any substitute. No one realized that more than the Giants in those last three games last fall.

Considering the fact that he was a pitcher, George Wiltse performed most creditably at first base for Fred Merkle in a part of the 1913 Giant-Athletics series. But he was not nearly as formidable at bat, and that is where the Giants suffered and the Athletics gained.

Barry displaced Barry in the Red Sox-Brooklyn series and did very well. As far as substitutes go this year, it may be necessary the Giants appear to be the best off. Johnny Rawlings can fill any infield position most acceptably. For pinch hitters the Yankees have a lot, including Baker, Elmer Smith and Hoffman.

WHAT LOSS OF PLAYER MISPLAYS DECIDED LAST YEAR'S SERIES

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Baseball fans expect a better brand of playing in the World's Series than is displayed throughout the season and as a general rule their anticipations are realized, excepting the freak incidents that develop a few marvelous plays and a few incredible misplays.

Alright pitching is expected of the pitchers. They are supposed to give few bases on balls, to have absolute control of the ball, and to pitch a masterful, "heady" game. The hitting is supposed in advance to be sharp and devastating when a battery of exponents opens up—but above all the fielding is expected to be flawless.

Last year there was an average of only one and three-eighths errors a game—five-eighths for the New York Nationals, who won, and three-fourths for one error a game for the Yankees, who lost—which is very close to perfect baseball. Yet the series was decided by misplays on the defense; the Giants won the last two games on errors.

The Giants offended in only three games and the Yankees in five of the eight, three players on each team accounting for all the errors. Frank Frisch, the Giant second baseman, made the majority of the Nationals' misplays—three out of the five, and Earl Smith, a catcher, and Arthur Nohf, a pitcher, each made one of the other two. Frisch's errors were distributed over three days.

Mike McNally, Yankee third baseman, made as many errors as Frisch, though as the series was summed up, both were bulwarks for their teams. Like the Giant second-sacker his three misplays were spread over three days.

Aaron Ward, the Yankee second baseman, made two errors in two days and Roger Peckinpaugh, who played shortstop, accounted for the other.

The third was the only game of the series in which neither side was credited with an error.

Ward made a fatal misplay for the Yankees in the crucial seventh game after both teams had won three games each. When the score was tied and the world's championship was still resting in the palm of the gods, "The play was not credited as an official error, but the chance for an assist and putout was so palpably easy that virtually every description of the game classified the play as Ward's error."

Frisch, the first man up, was out easily at first. Young hit a hard ball toward right field. It appeared that the play would be an easy one for Ward but he juggled the ball, permitted it to roll about his arm, and Young was easily credited with a moment later. Kelly fanned but Emil "Irish" Meusel came through with the hit that meant a run.

It was a similar incident that finally decided the championship in the next game, which was won and lost in the first half of the first inning, the first 15 minutes of play. Burns, lead-off man of the Giants, was easy picking, but Bancroft and Young were walked, the latter against the protest of Hoyt who claimed the last ball he pitched was a strike—and many agreed with him.

At any rate Kelly sent an easy grounder to Roger Peckinpaugh, the Yankee shortstop, and captain, who permitted the ball to wriggle through his legs and then became so concerned by his own errors that he did not go after the ball quickly and the fleet-footed Bancroft scored. Young nearly scored from first.

Despite those two bases on balls a number of the critics credited Hoyt with pitching the best game of the series, and the best game of his career. As a matter of fact the last two games were pitching duels, the latter between Hoyt and Nohf and the previous one between Mays and Douglas. The scores were two to one in the seventh game and one to nothing in the eighth.

SOCCER GAME IN FORGE VILLAGE TOMORROW

All of the territory in and around Forge Village, Brookside and Graniteville is liberally filled with posters of circus size for the mighty soccer game scheduled for the Abbot Worsted company's athletic field in Forge Village tomorrow at 3:30 o'clock. The contestants are the Abbot team and the fast traveling Arlington mills aggregation of the Industrial Soccer Football league, and tickets have been selling rapidly all through the Graniteville-Forge Village district for this strenuous battle of the soccer clans.

Transportation arrangements were completed today, and a committee of Forge Village sportsmen are to provide for the entertainment of the Lowell warriors after the game. This is one of the real live scraps in the industrial soccer tournament and always draws the mill employees and their friends to the big corporation field.

Billy Evans says

"The speed of American tennis players amazes me."

In that one sentence, Manuel Alonzo, the brilliant Spanish player, sums up his opinion of the game he has seen in this country.

I recently had the pleasure of meeting Alonzo who, before being a great tennis player, is a real sportsman. His expression concerning American tennis was in response to my query as to what impressed him most.

"It is not so much the speed of the ball, but the speed of the players. This speed, plus aggressiveness and great to eat forty-four salmon in one day."

STATE WIDE PRIMARY

Official Returns Announced by Secretary of State—
—Few Changes

BOSTON, Sept. 29.—Official returns from the state-wide primary of Sept. 12 completed today by the secretary of state confirmed the results announced in press returns that night. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge received 209,589 votes and Joseph B. Walker, his opponent in the republican senatorial primary, 85,548, according to official figures. Press returns gave: Lodge, 209,677; Walker, 85,437.

The official returns gave Governor Channing H. Cox 212,146 votes to 77,592 for Attorney General J. Weston Allen, his opponent for the republican nomination.

In the democratic primaries John F. Fitzgerald, who won the gubernatorial nomination received a plurality of 35,740 votes over Mayor Peter F. Sullivan of Worcester. The complete official vote was:

Fitzgerald 89,351; Sullivan 53,679; Joseph B. Ely 21,523; Eugene N. Posa 12,576.

Colonel William A. Gaston, who won the democratic senatorial nomination received a plurality of 25,237 votes over Sherman L. Whipple. The complete vote was: Gaston 53,134; Whipple 62,547; John Jackson Walsh 18,571; Professor Dallas L. Sharp 1,626.

In the republican contest for nomination as state treasurer the vote for which was not collected by the press, James Jackson, incumbent, received 17,653 votes, and Fred J. Burrell, his predecessor who resigned under fire, 75,519.

IRREGULARS ROUTED

Gen. Sweeney of Free Staters

Routed Single Handed

Body of Insurgents

DUBLIN, Sept. 29.—Commandant Joseph Sweeney, commanding the Free State troops in County Donegal, routed a single-handed today a body of irregulars, who attacked him while he was motoring with his father and two brothers from Burtonport to Dungloe.

He wounded one irregular whom the attackers carried away with them, while they heard the shots from the general's revolver.

SEN. DAVID I. WALSH
FLAYS REPUBLICANS

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 29.—Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts, chairman of the democratic national senatorial committee, in an address here yesterday before state democratic organization leaders flayed acts of the present administration and declared: "No party ever lost so quietly and so completely the confidence of the American people as the republican party in the last two years."

"The reason for it," he said, "is that the administration in Washington is not in touch or in sympathy with the American people, but is controlled by predatory wealth—the ability dollar."

"The tariff law will extort $5,000,000 from customers and put it in the pockets of the tariff barons. It will make prices so high that even business will be against it."

But the administration would not permit a soldier to leave because those who will profit by the tariff would have to pay the bulk of the bonus. "I don't know how you in Ohio feel about the soldiers' bonus, but in my opinion, soldiers have the right to adjustment compensation. The government has a right to treat them as he did, but the government has no right to reward the stay-at-homes and punish those who fought. That is what it has done. It paid bonuses to contractors whose contracts were cancelled at the end of the war, paid bonuses to the railroads, paid bonuses to civilian employees during and after the war, but won't do as much for the soldiers."

CREASY SAYS GIRL
SHOT HERSELF

MINNOLA, N. Y., Sept. 29.—William Creasy of Fort Ticonderoga, Ont., charged with killing his school teacher sweetheart, Edith Lavoie, today related his story of the girl's death.

He declared that the girl shot herself with his pistol where they were on a couch in a boarding place. His relation was that Miss Lavoie always was proper, he testified.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Stock prices suffered a severe setback at the opening of today's stock market. The break in sterling resulting from disquieting dispatches from the near east and the abandonment of the Republic-Midvale-Inland Steel merger furnished professional shorts with sufficient ammunition to attack the whole list. Republic Iron and Steel fell off more than a point at the opening and soon dropped to nearly 3, while Midvale yielded 2 points. Other stocks were weak in sympathy. Vanadium and Crucible dropping 1 1/2, Bethlehem 3 1/2, and U. S. Steel common 5. Canadian Pacific and Baltimore & Ohio each yielded a point and were followed into lower ground by New York and Atchafalaya. Mexican Petroleum dropped nearly 3 points but the other oils offered more stubborn resistance to selling pressure. The reaction in copper shares was led by Glitt, which was off a point. A number of specialties also registered losses of a point or more, among them Sears Roebuck, Famous Players and Electric Storage Battery.

Sufficient buying power developed to check the decline during the first hour and many stocks rallied a point or more, the recovery being assisted by a brisk bidding up of the Standard Oil shares, California rising 2 1/2, and New Jersey 2. Business was quieter on the uptick and the unwillingness of the bulls to follow prices upward resulted in another attempt by the bears to raid the list. Liquidation of the high priced tobacco stocks and a dip to new lows on the movement by U. S. Steel common, Republic, Midvale, Mexican Petroleum and Glitt, which yielded the last again before noon. Losses of three to six points had then been sustained by Republic common and preferred, Mexican Petroleum, Glitt, Sears Roebuck, Sears R and L, and Lorillard Tobacco. Call money opened at 3 1/2 per cent.

Large buying orders in the equipment group which carried them from 1 to 2 points beyond yesterday's final prices intimidated the short faction and an active covering movement set in which eliminated the greater portion of the forenoon decline. National Biscuit was upmost, rising 3 1/2 points, while Laclede-Wiles gained 3 1/2. Pittsburgh Coal, Gulf States Steel, Coca Cola, United Retail Stores and Adams Express registered advances of between 1 and 2 points. Marking up of the call money rate to 5 per cent caused a halt in the upward movement, after which the decline was resumed in spots.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

EARLE GIVEN 3 MONTHS

Convicted of Operating His Auto so as to Endanger the Public

CAMBRIDGE, Sept. 29.—Arthur H. Earle of Lexington, who was driving his automobile close to that of William M. Wood, Jr., son of the president of the American Woolen Co., when the latter was killed in the wreck of his automobile near Reading on August 15, was sentenced to serve three months in the house of correction today.

Earle pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with operating a machine so as to endanger the public. When arraigned, Earle had pleaded not guilty, but changed his plea today. He won his sentence in the East Cambridge jail immediately.

District Attorney Saltonstall of Middlesex county asked Superior Court Judge Hammond to impose a jail sentence on Earle.

He don't accuse him of manslaughter," said the district attorney, "but he was driving with extreme negligence. No matter what fine is imposed, he might think he has had luck. Fines would make an lasting impression on him."

Judge Hammond, after remarking that he respected Earle for telling the truth against himself, said he believed a jail sentence was warranted as a protection to the public.

Four physicians and surgeons performing today, "they found that one of the bullets entered the center of the forehead near the hair line, one entered the right upper cheek and another the right temple region above the ear."

The wound in the throat was described as a "neckline incision" made with a very sharp knife. The carotid artery and the esophagus were cut, as well as the jugular and windpipe. Another wound, resembling one that might have been inflicted by a spent bullet, was found on the upper lip.

Other than a few abrasions, there were no marks on the body.

FROM 50 TO 40 HOUR WEEK
BIDDEFORD, Me., Sept. 29.—The local plant of the Saco-Lowell shops this afternoon announced that beginning Oct. 2, the working schedule would be changed from 50 to 40 hours a week. Fifteen hundred hands are affected.

of the ministers are taken as sufficient evidence of the gravity with which approaching events are viewed which the London newspapers are appearing with headlines and issuing cable factors in which the word "grave" is frequently used.

The cabinet is said to be occupied with details involving preparations for a long military campaign, irrespective of matters of general policy. One fact, however, is that the British cabinet is going ahead on the assumption that it should be ready in case an important war should come in the Near East.

A second fact is that the British public is apparently coming to take the attitude that if war is necessary the government will be backed up.

In some diplomatic circles a big war already is regarded as inevitable, particularly if the old British policy is adhered to—a policy based on the idea that a strong Turkey would continue to be a buffer between Europe and the East.

It is considered in some political quarters here that Russia will use whatever influence it may have with the Kemalists to precipitate a general war as the Moscow regime. It is argued that Russia is ready to accept them.

General Harington will point out the necessity of the continuance of the Turkish movement there, which are considered equivalent to the recognition of the British position.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 29.—The situation at Constantinople where the British and Turkish troops are elbowing each other was unchanged today.

The meeting between Gen. Harington and Mustafa Kemal is expected to occur tonight and it is believed here it will result in the withdrawal of the Kemal cavalry from the Chankayak neutral zone.

Adventures of the Twins

TWINS AT LAST SECURE FAIRY QUEEN'S WAND

"UP THERE! JUST KEEP ON LOOKING," SAID FLIPPETY-FLOP

The minute Mr. Flippety-Flop landed on the Beany Glean Star with his enormous shoes, he spied the very person he was hunting.

That person was Flap-Doodle, the mischievous fairy who had stolen the Fairy Queen's wand and who had caused everybody so much trouble.

Flap-Doodle spied his visitor at the same time.

"See, here, where'd you get such big feet?" asked Flap-Doodle.

"Where'd you get such big ears?" asked Flippety-Flop.

"I fly with 'em," answered Flap-Doodle.

"So do I," replied Flippety-Flop. "That is, my feet carry me any place I wish to go—which is just as good."

"Nice day," said Flap-Doodle.

"Pretty nice," said Flippety-Flop. And then everything was pretty quiet for a little while, as it always is when folks can't think of anything.

Suddenly Flippety-Flop pointed up in the air. "Oh, look!" he cried quickly.

Flap-Doodle never suspected a thing and rolled up his eyes.

"Where?" he cried. "I don't see anything."

"Up there! Just keep on looking," said Flippety-Flop.

While Flap-Doodle was looking, two little patches in Mr. Flippety-Flop's big shoes opened and out stole Nancy and Nick like two little pussy cats. They'd been hiding there, you know.

The twins tiptoed up to Flap-Doodle, still trying to see what Mr. Flippety-Flop was looking at, and before you could say "boo," they had grabbed the wand out of his hands and run for dear life back into Mr. Flippety-Flop's big shoes.

Down to the earth strode Flippety-Flop, straight to the Fairy Queen's palace.

Steps to Exhume Hall's Body
—$1000 for Conviction of Slaying

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Sept. 29.—The body of Mrs. Eleanor Steinhardt, who with the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall was found dead in a deserted field near New Brunswick, was to be exhumed today. Authorities hope to learn definitely just how many times she was shot and whether her ankle was broken.

Steps to exhume the body of Dr. Hall also have been taken. Investigators believe that the body was buried in the woods near the Steinhardt home. A reward of $1000 is being offered for information leading to the discovery of the body.

The stimulus of a $1000 reward for apprehension and conviction of the murderer of Mrs. Steinhardt, who was committed to Middlesex county of New Jersey yesterday by that county, may bring new facts to the attention of the investigators, detectives believe. A similar reward, probably will be offered by Somerset county, where the bodies were found.

MAYOR ISSUES FIRE WEEK PROCLAMATION

Mayor George H. Brown has set aside the period of the week of Sept. 29 to Oct. 5 as a fire prevention week in Lowell and has issued the following proclamation:

To the Citizens of the Lowell: Last year in the United States fire took a toll of 36,000 lives. It was responsible for the loss of more than $1,000,000,000, and destroyed property valued at approximately $455,000,000—a sum exceeded but once in the 166 years of this republic, and that was in the year of the San Francisco conflagration.

To this great waste of life, health and wealth, in 1921, the city of Lowell contributed its share. What makes the condition in nation, state and city more regrettable is the indisputable fact that fully 90 per cent. of all fires may be ascribed definitely to public carelessness and ignorance, and are, therefore, for the most part preventable.

Therefore, it is imperative that every thinking citizen of Lowell should be alert to the danger of fire. It is the duty of every citizen to be alert to the danger of fire. It is the duty of every citizen to be alert to the danger of fire.

Therefore, it is imperative that every thinking citizen of Lowell should be alert to the danger of fire. It is the duty of every citizen to be alert to the danger of fire. It is the duty of every citizen to be alert to the danger of fire.

Therefore, it is imperative that every thinking citizen of Lowell should be alert to the danger of fire. It is the duty of every citizen to be alert to the danger of fire. It is the duty of every citizen to be alert to the danger of fire.

GEORGE H. BROWN, Mayor.
